

Aide of Pew, GOP Oil King, Paid For Million Anti-Semitic Vote Cards

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—An agent of Joseph Newton Pew, Jr., Republican boss and Sun Oil king, paid the United States government printing office $1,400 for printing a million anti-Semitic campaign postcards attacking Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee.

The postcards were Dewey vote catchers and were mailed out at government expense over the frank of Rep. Fred Busbey, recently defeated Illinois GOP Congressman and protegee of McCormick's Chicago Tribune.

Evidence concerning Pew's anti-Semitic activities was furnished by Rep. Clinton P. Anderson, chairman of the House Campaign Expenditures Committee. He disclosed in Washington that the government printing bill was paid by Emil Hurja, Pew's agent in Washington and co-publisher of Pew's Pathfinder magazine.

Anderson said his committee believed distribution of the postcards constitutes a serious breach of the Congressional franking privilege.

One side of the postcard stated in large type: "This is Your America. Do you want to turn it over to Sidney Hillman?" The other side gave an anti-Semitic biography of Hillman mentioning that he had married a Jewish girl by the name of Bessie Abramowitz.
