Christian Crusade, speaking as a voice of Conservative America, this day issues the following COUNTER-MANIFESTO.

WHEREAS, the National Black Economic Development Conference, in solemn assembly April 25 - 27, 1969, on the campus of Wayne State University, Detroit, did issue a so-called "Black Manifesto," and

WHEREAS, the "Black Manifesto" vowed disruption and seizure of churches and synagogues and demanded 500 million dollars in reparations from churches and synagogues of America, and

WHEREAS, the language of the "Black Manifesto" clearly showed its Marxist and revolutionary intent, to wit:

"... The United States is the most barbaric country in the world. ... We have a chance to bring this government down.

"Our fight is against racism, capitalism and imperialism and we are dedicated to building a socialist society inside the United States where the total means of production and distribution are in the hands of the state. ...

"Our objective in issuing this manifesto is to force the racist white Christian church to begin the payment of reparations which are due to all black people, not only by the church but also by private business and the U.S. government. We see this focus on the Christian church as an effort around which all black people can unite. Our demands are negotiable, but they cannot be minimized."

THEREFORE, let this Counter-Manifesto be endorsed by Americans who oppose socialism, communism, black racism and racist blackmail and be published throughout the land.

(1) Inasmuch as a number of major American cities were set to the torch and were otherwise the target of riots, lootings and wanton destruction, and

ON THE COVER: Second Annual Convention of Conservative-Orthodox Preachers, held May 6 - 9, at the Cathedral of the Christian Crusade, Tulsa, attracted more than 275 ministers. Not all were present for the official Convention photograph, made following an afternoon session.

(2) Inasmuch as the riots, lootings and burnings resulted in the loss of many lives and in millions of dollars of property damage, and

(3) Inasmuch as the cost of this physical damage can properly be estimated in terms of U.S. dollars, and

(4) Inasmuch as the participants in the riots, lootings and burnings were Negro people who were misled, misguided and unduly agitated by such organizations as the CONGRESS OF RACIAL EQUALITY, STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF COLORED PEOPLE, SOUTHERN CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE, BLACK MUSLIMS, BLACK PANTHERS, MISSISSIPPI FREEDOM DEMOCRAT PARTY AND THE COMMUNIST PARTY, U.S.A.,

(5) Therefore, as fair-minded and justice-oriented Americans, we demand that the cost of physical damage to the property of American citizens, both white and black, and the expense by federal and state governments for troops to put down the disturbances be properly estimated and then reparations be made to individuals who were victimized by the actions of the aforementioned organizations.

(6) Our demands are negotiable, but they cannot be minimized. Yes, we issue this Counter-Manifesto with tongue-in-cheek, but it makes as much sense as the ridiculous "Black Manifesto" released by the National Black Economic Development Conference from Detroit and supinely acquiesced to by the Liberal churches of America.

In his Tulsa World column of May 24, 1969, Columnist Paul Scott revealed shocking information concerning the foreign policy activities of one Alfred Puhan, a State Department career diplomat who was recently appointed U.S. Ambassador to Communist Hungary. Scott's disclosures raised the question lingering in the minds of many about the possibilities of other Wares, Hisses, Remingtons and Coplons in government.

Sworn statements in the Puhan file, compiled by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, contained damaging information from those who had worked with Puhan during his many years in the State Department where he has held positions of high responsibility. It was alleged that he was definitely pro-Soviet and that, when he was with the U.S. Information Service, he had actually eliminated criticism of Communist countries from the agency's news report.

It was found that Puhan consistently used his official position during the past four years "to erode, weaken, and adversely modify the institutions, policies, mechanism and legal structures erected to shore up the U.S. position in Central Europe and Berlin."

During his tenure as Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs, Puhan did everything in his power to help Rudi Dutschke, the militant pro-Communist student leader in Berlin, obtain a visa to the U.S. Only pressure by Congress prevented Puhan and Dutschke from obtaining the visa.

Dutschke has been in the forefront of violent opposition to U.S. policies and has made inflammatory speeches in Europe, advocating U.S. defeat in Vietnam and withdrawal of American forces from Europe.

Columnist Scott also revealed that on several occasions within the past year, Puhan provided inaccurate information to senior State Department officers, including then Secretary Dean Rusk.

That an Alfred Puhan resides in the American Embassy in Budapest, considered by many as one of the key U.S. listening posts, does not lend itself to a solid sense of security.

Pages of Sirhan's notebook have been released and what he scrawled in his diary proves, as William Buckley points out, "instructive for those who desire to understand the crime of Sirhan Sirhan." His words show clearly that his crime was more than the act of a deranged mind.

However, what nettles Buckley about it all (and understandably so) is that "the opinion-makers have been as reluctant to draw conclusions based on Sirhan's ideological inclinations as they would have been anxious to draw such conclusions if it had been proved that Sirhan was, say, a member of the John Birch Society."

It was the same with Oswald, he observes. "For every line reflecting on the possible nexus between Oswald's pro-communism and Oswald's deed, twenty have been written probing illustory by-ways leading to the CIA, or the oil interests, or the Fascist subculture of Dallas, or just about anything at all, rather than the reality: an amply documented history of relentless pro-Sovietism."

Study carefully the following quotations from the Sirhan diary and you will perhaps understand clearly why a jury of Sirhan's peers rejected the claim that his writings were the rantings of a madman:

"I advocate the overthrow of the current President of the [obscenity] United States of America. The U.S. says life in Russia is bad. Why? [underlined three times] Supposedly no average American has lived in a slavish society so how can he tell if it is good or bad - isn't his government putting words in his mouth?"

"I firmly support the Communist cause and its people - whether [sic] Russian, Chinese, Albanian, Hungarian or whoever - Workers of the world unite, You have nothing to lose [sic] but your chains, and a world to win."

Buckley's conclusion on the matter was well put: "Even though George Kennan no longer knows that communism is, some people do who also know how to aim firearms."

Nick Kozmeniuk in Family Weekly tells of the sideshow strong man who had for years awed crowds by squeezing a lemon dry, then offering $1,000 to anybody who could get another drop out of it. Nobody paid much attention when a wisp little man in one audience dared challenge him.

The strong man first squeezed the lemon until it was little more than a pulp, then handed it to the little man - who not only squeezed out another drop but got almost a saucerful of juice.

"Amazing!" the strong man conceded. "What kind of work do you do?"

"I'm with the Internal Revenue Service," the little man replied.

EXCUSES! EXCUSES! EXCUSES!

EXCUSES THAT UNDERMINE AMERICA

BY DR. BILLY JAMES HARGIS
Founder-Director, Christian Crusade

This message is the second in a two-part series and is continued from last month.

In the first part, Dr. Hargis dealt with four excuses that undermine America: the excuse good people give for not supporting law enforcement officials; the excuse that relates to the godless, immoral happenings on college and university campuses; the excuse civic leaders give for allowing sex orgies to be staged on Broadway; and the excuse parents give for allowing sex education in the schools.

He continues now with other excuses.

WHY CONTINUE TO PERSECUTE RHODESIA

V. Another suicidal excuse prevalent in the country today is the one offered by government leaders for their failure to cooperate with one of our greatest Christian allies in the world, Rhodesia, and its Prime Minister, Ian Douglas Smith. Under Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, Rhodesia was ostracized by the United States, although it is in a true sense a trusted ally.

Unlike many countries in Africa, Rhodesia has tackled its race problem in a most admirable way. The Rhodesian government has integrated its hotels and restaurants; it has encouraged private ownership of property, and has started compulsory education of all races. Rhodesia does not allow race agitation, but is making every effort to educate the races.

Because of the vast mineral wealth of Rhodesia, the Soviet bloc would like to conquer the land and make it a Communist satellite. However, the Soviet Union has been unable to make any inroads into Rhodesia because the government will not allow Communist agitators and Communist fronts to operate. To say the least, Communist activities in both Rhodesia and South Africa are discouraged by the governments.

Under Johnson, because of our close alliance with the Socialist government of Great Britain, we entered into economic boycotts against Rhodesia. Many American people felt that these economic boycotts and unfair actions against a Christian, anti-Communist ally would end with the election of President Nixon. But, to be honest, things have not changed. If Mr. Nixon would only listen to the voice of the people, he would soon change the official government attitude towards Rhodesia.

The W.H. Long Marketing Organization of Greensboro, North Carolina, which is engaged in public opinion polls, asked American citizens in 250 communities in 50 states their attitudes towards Rhodesia. The result showed 83.7 per cent Americans opposed the American government sanctions against Rhodesia, 86.2 per cent were in disagreement with Britain's claim to the right to specify voting requirements in Rhodesia and 81.7 per cent of America's population favored a "hands-off" policy in regard to Rhodesia.

For one thing, it is not economically feasible for the United States to continue its boycott against Rhodesia. The United States space program must have chrome. There are two suppliers of chrome in the world — Rhodesia and Russia. Since the beginning of the economic boycotts against Rhodesia, the United States has been buying all of its chrome from the Soviet Union at double the price it would cost from Rhodesia. We are thus helping to build the Soviet system, which is pledged to destroy us. An article in The Rhodesian Viewpoint (April 2, 1969), entitled "Rhodesians Difficulty in Getting a Fair Hearing in Washington," shows the extent of prejudice existing among government leaders:

"Williard Edwards in the Chicago Tribune column 'Capitol View' wrote this article on March 24.

"Foreign agents are everywhere in the capital and it was not unusual to encounter one of them in the Senate office building.

"Kenneth H. Towsey, registered representative of Rhodesia, confessed he was a bewildered and frustrated man.

"Why, he asked, are so many doors on Capitol Hill closed to him? Why, in a nation approaching the two hundredth anniversary of its freedom from British rule, do most members of Congress shun reappraisal of an American policy devoted to crushing his small country's struggle for independence from Great Britain.

"He was particularly baffled because a national opinion poll had revealed more than 80 per cent of the American people in sympathy with that struggle.

"As a former diplomat who resigned his consular post in the British Embassy when Rhodesia proclaimed its independence in 1965, Towsey has been around Washington long enough to understand the realities of American politics.

"He set up the Rhodesian Information Office here and registered as a foreign agent, as required by law. His mission is to present his country's viewpoint. He has found that difficult because emotions and prejudices obscure any discussion of issues involving racial minorities.

"NO PROBLEM FOR OTHER AGENTS

"The doors of most members of Congress are open to scores of other foreign agents, many of them prosperous, who collect big fees for promoting the interests of nations dependent on Uncle Sam's beneficence.

"No more than a dozen of 100 senators and 25 or 30 of 435 representatives will listen to the Rhodesian emissary, he said. The remainder shrink from questioning this government's support of United Nations sanctions against the small, land-locked, African country on the absurd claim that it constitutes a threat to world peace.

"In the present political climate in the United States, it is enough for this majority to know that there are about 4,200,000 blacks and 225,000 whites in Rhodesia and that the sanctions are designed to produce black majority rule by enforcing a one-man, one-vote system. They fear being called advocates of 'white supremacy' if they question the wisdom of immediate imposition of this system in Rhodesia.

"The constitution proposed by Rhodesia last year provides for a white minority in control of its parliament for an unspecified period. It left no doubt that racial parity would eventually be attained, but few will listen, Towsey said, to Rhodesia's reasons for going slow before thrusting unconditional voting rights on four million tribal Africans.

"Is the American press equally reluctant to present Rhodesia's side of the argument? Towsey said a recent incident inclined him to a dismal affirmative."

In his syndicated column "Capitol News" appearing in the Indianapolis Star of April 15, Williard Edwards made a sensational exposure:

"U.S. TRAPPED BETWEEN UN, CHROMIUM NEED

"WASHINGTON, April 14 - On March 26, according to intelligence reports received here, a Russian ship docked at the East African port of Mozambique and began taking on chromium ore. This event had a critical significance.

"The ore had been transported from Rhodesia, bordering Mozambique on the west, in cars marked with the Rhodesian railroad emblem. An examination indicated the ore was of Rhodesian origin.

"This transaction was, of course, a brazen violation of the sanctions imposed on Rhodesia by the United Nations, with the enthusiastic cooperation of the United States, the Soviet Union, and Great Britain. The UN had discovered a threat to world peace in the refusal of a small white minority in the land-locked country to agree to immediate racial parity for four million tribal Africans.

"The Nixon Administration now is beginning to wonder if another threat - a threat to the national security of the United States - has developed from rigid African adherence to the UN edict while other nations flout it with impunity.

"Here is an authoritative analysis of why the Mozambique incident aroused deep concern and has strengthened demands in government circles for reappraisal of the Rhodesian policy inherited from the Johnson Administration.

"Chromium is so indispensable to stainless and other alloy steel essentials to defense that chromium ore and the American based industry to convert it to a ferrochrome have been declared by the Office of Emergency Preparedness as essential to national security.

"RUSSIA, RHODESIA ARE LARGEST SOURCES

"Russia and Rhodesia have the largest sources of supply. The chromium ore mines in Rhodesia are owned by two American corporations. Before sanctions were imposed, these companies imported the vast majority of the ore required for the American ferroalloy industry and were the major free world competitors to Russia.

"The Rhodesian embargo cut off these supplies. The two companies have ore stockpiled above ground in Rhodesia valued at more than eight million dollars. They own it but are denied access to it. Great Britain, under similar circumstances, gave its industries a period of six months to obtain sanctioned material, including ferrochrome, but the United States imposed an embargo immediately.

"American industry has been forced to turn to Russia, now enjoying a virtual monopoly. To nobody's surprise, the price of Russian ore promptly rose from $32 per ton to $46, a 44 per cent increase. The profits are so rich, the Mozambique incident indicated, that Russia now is buying ore from Rhodesia illegally. It came from American-owned mines.

"The comic opera aspects of the situation fade when points are considered.

"MINE WOULD FLOOD IF NOT WORKED

"One of the American-owned mines in Rhodesia, accounting for one-third of the chromium deposits in the country, must be worked continually or it will be flooded. The company kept it going at a cost of $900,000 annually until January, 1968, when it could no longer afford the expense. The Rhodesian government has operated it since then but could be forced to suspend, causing in the words of a government report, 'the irretrievable loss of a significant and vital portion of the free world's chromium ore deposits.'

"The Treasury and Commerce Departments supported by the Office of Emergency Preparedness, have urged strongly that the two companies be allowed to import, as quickly as possible, the ore stored above ground in Rhodesia.

"The State Department has objected. Rhodesia must be strangled economically, it insists, disregarding objections that Rhodesia would reap no profit from removal of the ore.

"This departmental dispute must be settled by President Nixon. The State Department is protesting that the United States would be 'embarrassed' in the UN by any action favoring of relaxation of the sanctions against Rhodesia.

"The President must weigh this objection against the massed opinion of the other government departments that an inflexible stand may menace the nation's security."

I realize that Mr. Nixon has hesitated to do business with Rhodesia, as I am sure he would like to do, because of the pressure exerted on him by the Liberal Establishment. But, Mr. Nixon can no longer make excuses on this important matter. He must make a decision and stick by it. It is apparent this is what the majority of the American people wish.

THE SOON COMING WORLD CHURCH

VI. There is no possible reason for the Roman Catholic Church and the National Council of Churches to unite in a super, world church. If they do, it will mean compromise and appeasement on both their parts. According to a Religious News Service item dated Thursday, April 10, the Roman Catholic Church in the United States is seriously considering becoming a part of the National Council of Churches.

"CATHOLIC, NCC COMMITTEE OPENS STUDY OF CATHOLIC MEMBERSHIP

"NEW YORK (RNS) - Catholic and Protestant leaders here indicated they were pleased with the first session of a committee which is studying the possibility of Roman Catholic membership in the National Council of Churches.

"The fourteen-member study group was appointed by the National Council's Executive Committee and the U.S. Catholic Bishops' Committee for Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs last year. NCC spokesmen stressed that the committee would limit itself to studying the question, not to presenting a plan for membership.

"According to Dr. Robert C. Dodds, assigned by the National Council to the committee, the study group explored the structures of the two organizations, their program interests, and certain 'churchly assumptions.'

"Cardinal-designate John C. Carberry, Archbishop of St. Louis, Chairman of the Bishops' Committee, and co-chairman of the study committee, said the first meeting was 'a fine exchange of ideas in good spirit concerning the NCC and the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. We began to see many problems that have to be carefully studied and weighed.'

Dr. Dodds said that although 'bishops and denominational officers tend to be cautious about any changes in their institutions until they see that the changes are beneficial . . . I anticipate continued progress.

"The creation of this study committee means that we have reached a new and important stage . . . The option which lies before us and the implications of each option must be studied with great care.'

"The NCC executive estimated that the committee would take from two to three years to complete its work."

There you have it. The National Council of Churches could include the Roman Catholic Church within three years. Traditional Catholics should oppose this union! So should traditional Protestants. Both groups will have to deny much of what they believe in order to effect such a unity. Further denial of the faith can only hurt America's moral fiber at a time that we need spiritual strength.

VII. One of the suicidal excuses we hear in America today is from allegedly well-educated ministers who claim the Bible is not inspired and Christ is not what He claimed to be. I contend that if a minister does not believe that the Bible is Holy Spirit inspired and inerrant and that Jesus is the Only Begotten Son of God, then he is a liar and a thief who poses as a minister of the gospel. Most of our Protestant denominations were built by men who believed in the Bible and who believed in Christ. For a minister to pastor one of these churches and deny these cardinal doctrines is an act akin to thievery. He has stolen a church, built by Bible-believing ministers, in order to subvert the gospel.

According to Christianity Today, October 13, 1967, Western Reserve sociologist, Jeffrey Hadden, contacted 10,000 Protestant clergymen in the United States, asking them what they believed. Of the 10,000 inquiries, there were 7,441 replies. Tabulated results of this poll of 7,441 Protestant ministers is the most alarming survey I have read in many years.

These ministers were asked the question: "Do you believe in Jesus' physical resurrection from the grave in the same sense that you believe that Abraham Lincoln was assassinated?" In other words, do you believe that Jesus' resurrection is a historical fact. Fifty-one per cent of the Methodist ministers in the United States said they could not accept Jesus' resurrection from the grave as historical fact. Thirty per cent of the Episcopal priests of America could not accept it, nor could 35 per cent of the United Presbyterian preachers, 33 per cent of the American Baptist preachers, 13 per cent of the American Lutheran preachers, and 7 per cent of the Missouri Synod Lutheran ministers.

CHRIST AND HIS GOSPEL

As Preached By Billy James Hargis

THESE MESSAGES POINT THE WAY

TO LIFE ON THE HIGHEST PLANE

YOU CAN KNOW the way of salvation; how to conquer the worry habit; how to overcome fear and meet disappointment . . . how to pray a prayer that really prays; the secret of victory over suffering; the significance of the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit.

YOU CAN KNOW that Christ fully expresses the mind, heart and will of God. In relationship with Him, you can know the will of God for your life. . . . You can know that Christ proclaimed a Living God, new birth, new strength, new vitality, new hope and life on the highest plane.

Dear Dr. Hargis: I have just now read, carefully and methodically, your really fine book, "Christ and His Gospel as Preached by Billy James Hargis." I really did enjoy it completely. I quote from it frequently. - Father Joseph C. O'Connor Hunt, Sacred Heart Church, Abingdon, Illinois

When asked if they believed in the virgin birth of Jesus Christ as a biological miracle, 60 per cent of America's Methodist preachers said emphatically, "No," as did 44 per cent of the Episcopal priests, 49 per cent of the Presbyterian ministers, 44 per cent of the Baptist clergymen, 19 per cent of the American Lutheran ministers and 5 per cent of the Lutheran ministers in the Missouri Synod.

I repeat: This was an authentic poll of 7,441 Protestant clergymen representing these six denominations in the United States.

When asked if they believed in Satan and in the existence of demonic evil powers, 62 per cent of the Methodist preachers said they did not believe in Satan or evil, as did 37 per cent of the Episcopal priests, 47 per cent of the Presbyterian clergy, 33 per cent of the American Baptists, 14 per cent of the American Lutherans and 9 per cent of the Missouri Synod Lutheran.

But, the most alarming result of this poll was the following: When asked if they believed that the Bible is inspired, that is, if they personally accepted a nearly literal interpretation of the Bible, 82 per cent of the Methodist preachers rejected the inspiration of the Bible, as did 89 per cent of the Episcopal priests, 81 per cent of the Presbyterian clergy, 57 per cent of the American Baptist clergy, 57 per cent of the American Lutheran Church clergy.

Now, these Liberal clergymen excuse their unbelief on grounds that they are too sophisticated. They insist that the

July, 1969

Dear Christian Crusader,

On May 1, the National Council of Churches admitted that, during 1968, it collected $24,819,000 from Christian people around the United States.

These receipts for 1968 were the highest in the history of the Council. All I can say is, "What a magnificent waste of money!"

With the National Council of Churches opposing our Anti-Ballistic Missile System, our military defenses, our military preparedness program and the cardinal doctrines of the New Testament, such as the virgin birth and bodily resurrection of Christ, it is a shame that Christian people in America were deceived into giving it nearly $25,000,000 last year.

Protestant laymen who put their tithes and offerings into denominations affiliated with the NCC will stand before the judgment seat of God without excuse for their support of this antichrist, ecumenical outfit.

What could an organization like Christian Crusade have done with such tremendous receipts? We could have built a National Christian Conservative College where you could send your young people from across America for pro-American and pro-Christian education. We could have built a National Christian Conservative High School for young people across America.

We could have opened additional training centers to reach young people "for Christ and against communism," on both the East and West Coasts and in the Southern part of the United States. We could have bought printing facilities to publish anti-Communist books and literature in the billions to flood America.

We could have gone on national television networks each week with the truth that could possibly awaken and save this country before it is too late.

Even though we don't have this fantastic income to carry on our God and country activities, we are thankful to God every day for your support of our Christian Crusade ministry.

The forthcoming Christian Crusade Annual Christian Conservative Teachers Convention, which will be held at The Summit Hotel, Manitou Springs, Colorado, August 19-22, desperately needs your support. As we brought hundreds of ministers to Tulsa for one week of training "for Christ and against communism," during May, we hope to bring hundreds of teachers to The Summit for a week of training.

Can you imagine how much eternal good an investment in this Teachers' Convention will accomplish? Hundreds of teachers will return to their communities from all over America on fire for God and country and better informed about the Christ vs. Antichrist struggle of our time. We will provide them with free room, board, tuition and a Research Library.

We call upon: (1) public and private school teachers and those in jobs related to education to make reservations now for the August 19-22 Convention; and (2) you to send a contribution to the Teachers' Scholarship Fund (for $100 we can sponsor one teacher at The Summit for that week).

Won't you help today for the sake of your children or some child who is dear to you? Remember ... today's educators hold the key to tomorrow's America! Contributions of $100 or $50, $5, $10 -- any amount -- will be appreciated.

In appreciation for your help, I will send you a copy of my new book, "Should Protestants Support the Viet Cong?" This book exposes treason in religious circles. The NCC and WCC have been sending money to the North Vietnamese and the Communist Viet Cong.

May God bless you. Pray for the Teachers' Convention, August 19-22.

EXCUSES THAT UNDERMINE

Bible is a good book, but that it contains a lot of myths and untruths, a lot of old wives' tales and fables. Never forget, however, that throughout American history, men greater than those who lead our denominations today have believed the infallibility of the Scriptures.

Patrick Henry once said, "The Bible is worth all other books which have ever been printed."

Daniel Webster said: "If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will go on prospering and to prosper; but if we and our posterity neglect its instruction and authority, no man can tell how sudden a catastrophe may overwhelm us and bury all our glory in profound obscurity."

George Washington said: "We ought to be no less persuaded that the propitious smiles of heaven can never be expected on a nation that disregards the eternal rules of order and right which heaven itself has ordained." (First Inaugural address, April 30, 1789)

John Quincy Adams said: "The first and almost the only book deserving of universal attention is the Bible."

Zachary Taylor said: "It was for the love of the truths of this great and good Book that our forefathers abandoned their native shore for the wilderness."

Theodore Roosevelt said: "Almost every man who has by his lifework added to the sum of human achievement of which the race is proud, of which our people are proud, almost every such man has based his lifework largely upon the teachings of the Bible."

Calvin Coolidge said: "The foundations of our society and of our government rest so much on the teachings of the Bible, that it would be difficult to support them, if faith in these teachings should cease to be practically universal in our country."

Herbert Hoover said: "The Bible is a post-graduate course in the richest library of human experiences. As a nation we are indebted to the Book of books for our national ideals and representative institutions. Our preservation rests in adhering to its principles."

Now, these quotations for the most part are from the fathers of our country — the men who made the sacrifices to give us the United States. You can readily see why our country is going downhill. When ministers reject the foundation of Christianity, the inspiration of the Word of God, then only crises and havoc can lie ahead.

I began this message on the premise that far too many preachers are apostate, far too many educators are apostate and far too many just plain Mr. and Mrs. America have fallen away from our traditions and our moral precepts. Unless America returns to the faith of our fathers, Bible morality, constitutional concepts, and free enterprise dream, we are doomed as a nation and as a people. Anarchy lies ahead.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

(1) If you have not done so already, accept the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour. We need divine guidance to save this country and to preserve morality and integrity in our homes. We cannot live the Christian life without accepting Jesus as our personal Saviour. Acknowledge Christ as your Saviour.

(2) Unite with a Bible church not affiliated with the National Council of Churches or the World Council of Churches. Obey the commandments of our Lord such as baptism, the Lord's Supper, tithing, daily prayer and Bible reading. You must protect not only the minds of your children but also your own mind from this welfare-state poison that is being fed to the rank and file American Protestants by the Liberal-oriented clergy. There is no possible reason for supporting a denomination which is affiliated with these Liberal councils of churches. Stand up and be counted for Christ and against communism even in your church life.

(3) Start local efforts to preserve morality. Work for education with a strong American and moral emphasis. Support political action groups designed to defeat Socialist-inclined political candidates and elect Christian statesmen in places of leadership.

Get involved in your local community. Some of the most effective committees in America are locally instigated, locally administered and locally supported. Remember what the Bible teaches! "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask God." God will give you leadership in forming the right kind of local committee to restore morality and Americanism in public schools and to elect Christian statesmen to public offices.

Local groups should concentrate on getting good men elected to school boards, getting the right kind of teachers in public schools, the right kind of preachers in our churches, and the right kind of city officials. We may feel that we are an insignificant minority as far as influencing Washington, but we can certainly influence the local community. A few outspoken voices in a local community become a majority influence in a very short time. Liberals have proved this time and again.

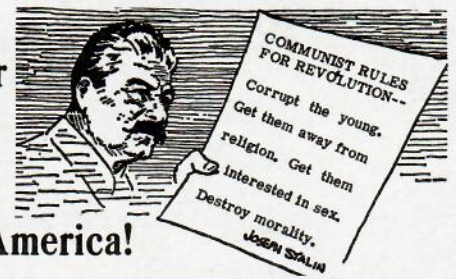

(4) Pray for America. Don't ever forget the promise of God in II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." Do you believe God's Word? Then you believe God will work for His people as a nation, as a local community, and as individuals. With God's leadership, we can stop communistic and anarchistic forces at work in our community.

(5) Choose the schools of higher learning for your sons and daughters. Do not let them go to just any school, especially those where there are outspoken left-wing professors and Communist groups such as SDS and the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs. If you are going to pay for their education, you have a right to help select the school. Don't let Dr. Spock's permissive philosophy permeate your thinking. Use your influence to help guide their future lives as well as setting high standards for their principles and moral code.

(6) Support such movements as Christian Crusade which is struggling to get this message out by radio and printed page. Over the years, I have urged people to leave these Liberal churches and join, or form, Bible-believing independent churches. To my regret, I have often found that many of these people, upon taking my advice, would discontinue their support of Christian Crusade and throw all of their contributions into that local work. In some instances, these newly involved people would discontinue all support of Christian Crusade, and we would suffer as a result.

There is no substitute for a local New Testament Church and local anti-Communist activity. But, remember this, neither is there a substitute for a Christian Americanism movement like Christian Crusade. God has used this movement for twenty-two years to alert you and many others to the critical issues of this hour. Do not neglect this national cause because you are involved in a local cause. Both are essential; both are necessary; both depend upon you.

As Go Our Children -
So Goes America!

Throughout America today radical "liberals" are trying to push a dangerous sex program into our schools - starting in kindergarten! Their materials and tests not only encourage sexual activity without any moral restraint but condone premarital sex, promiscuity, homosexuality and even LSD!

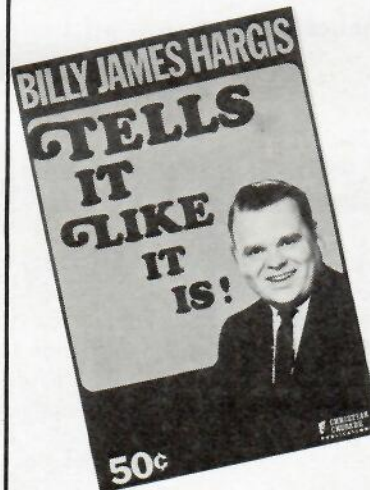

Let us send you proof of this and also documentary evidence that many of the national leaders and compilers of the Sex Education material have Communist-front records.

Hundreds of parents and concerned citizens in your community are disturbed by this lewd sex material for our schools and will be shocked when they see your proof that this program is of radical origin.

We have this material in our NEIGHBOR-TO-NEIGHBOR NEWS - easy to distribute - at just 25 copies for $1 or $3 per hundred. Order a supply today or send 20 cents for four sample copies.

THE

High time to put down in words what we are FOR. After all, the majority of the American people oppose the same things we Christian Conservatives oppose, but in order to enlist these noncommitted Americans, we must define our FOR program.

What are we for? Why are we in this fight? What do we hope to accomplish? What are the principles we are defending? What is the creed of Christian conservatism?

In these pages, Dr. Hargis accepts the challenge of listing the things that Christian Americans are FOR. He emphasizes the positive!

SNEAK ATTACK ON AMERICAN MORALS

BY DR. GORDON V. DRAKE
Director of Education, Christian Crusade

An article in Newsweek of December 9, 1968, speaks of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference "on the couch" — so heads the article. Thus we encounter sensitivity training on the civil rights front.

SCLC leaders booked room 301 at Haskell's Motor Hotel in the heart of Atlanta's busy, black west side, according to Newsweek. They ordered the beds hauled out and made a circle of cushions on the red wall-to-wall carpeting. For two 12-hour days, they took no calls, picked at room-service meals and lived locked up with no one but a psychiatrist, a woman psychologist and themselves. And, there, raging, wrangling, name-calling, finger-pointing, 15 top hands in Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference tried to work out their own tensions and the organizations future by exorcising the ghost among them. "We've never buried Dr. King," said one of them, "and we won't be able to do anything until we do."

So, they called in a psychologist and psychiatrist, both blacks from San Francisco. Then they sprawled on the circle of cushions at Haskell's and spilled out all of their pent-up contentions. One, two or three at a time, staffers were thrust to the center of the ring to be analyzed, debated, thrown jaw-to-jaw with antagonists. No anxiety over race or sex or personal inadequacy! No dark corner of ego was too private for Abernathy. The sessions were a critical test.

However, he came out of it a man, said one of his comrades. "When the sessions were over, there was no question that Abernathy was our leader." He had passed through the fires of sensitivity training.

Let's turn again to the Esalen Institute, located in Big Sur, California, which we mentioned in a previous article. We discussed the childish, undisciplined behavior of this group. According to theoreticians, of course, this gap between what people say among themselves and what they really feel becomes less during these sessions.

We have here another gimmick literally loaded with dynamite. Participants close their eyes and think of three secrets they have never told their partners. After a few minutes, the trainer, a Dr. William Schutz, asked for a volunteer to reveal one of his secrets. In one particular session, a woman who disliked her husband for years verbally whiplashed him with all her pent-up rage.

In another instance, a man blurted out that he had had two extramarital affairs. His wife was shocked and then sprang for his throat. She attacked him and the couple rolled on the floor. Others in the group glanced at Sensitivity Trainer Schutz, wondering if he would stop the fight. Dr. Schutz, however, appeared disinterested for he felt professionally that such outrage accumulated during years of marriage could best be expressed by some form of physical violence.

Dr. Schutz continued undisturbed as the woman tore off her husband's shirt, and as he hurled her to the carpet. Then, they paused for a moment, looked at each other and suddenly, they were in each others arms sobbing. At the end of the full-week session, Dr. Schutz noted that they apparently had gained a certain maturity and wisdom. Well, let's say that's Dr. Schutz' opinion.

Now for a summary of sensitivity training. What is it? How do we feel about it?

(1) Sensitivity training is medically irresponsible, involving intense experiences which could have serious and disastrous results.

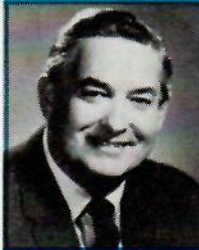

(2) The movement is anti-intellectual. In one sensitivity session, a schoolteacher said, "I think this is a lot of weird" He was immediately reprimanded and warned "to feel and not think." This indicates exactly the priority of what the sensitivity trainers call "gut over mind." Critics correctly brand this as decadent and dehumanizing.

(3) Sensitivity training encourages an abnormal love for one's own body and the glorification of emotionalized decisions, often times in a orgiastic environment.

(4) It encourages sexual play in bedding down with new-found friends.

(5) Through confession in sensitivity groups, participants are encouraged to reveal the most private matters of their bodies, emotions and thoughts — a shocking invasion of personal privacy.

(6) And, perhaps most important of all, sensitivity procedures can readily be used for brainwashing of the most vicious kind. This we saw at the beginning of the series when we discussed what is happening in Communist Russia and in Korea. The most immediate threat of sensitivity training is to your children and mine.

For example, the Western Behavioral Science Institute has recently received an $80,000-a-year grant to apply sensitivity training techniques to an entire school system which involves teachers, pupils and administrators in eight high schools, 50 elementary schools and one college run by the Immaculate Heart of Mary Order in Los Angeles.

Esalen Institute has received a $21,000 grant for a project in the Santa Barbara, California, school district to experiment with sensitivity training techniques at all levels of the elementary and high schools.

By now you should realize that sensitivity training is not some obscure academic procedure; it is, rather, an insidious teaching method which aims to destroy the morality of America's children and of young and old adults alike and then to destroy America if given the chance.
