

From "Total Espionage," by Curt Riess

p. 130 - Re Colin Ross

There was Colin Ross, whose career had begun in the Jewish Ullstein Publishing Company. Shortly before the outbreak of the war he traveled through the United States, took pictures of factories and fortifications, to vanish when Washington agents got on his trail.