

AZI GERMANY is preparing now to fight the Second World War within the borders of the United States.

With his Italian and Japanese allies of the fascist axis, Hitler has woven over the Americas from Arctic to Antarctic a sinister web of espionage unparalleled in modern times.

The ring's agents are not alone the secret service men and women of 1914 or of romanticized spy fiction. For the espionage of the triple alliance is today totalitarian espionage, as war against Spain or China is totalitarian war.

True, thousands of agents in the pay of Hitler, Il Duce and the Mikado steal army plane blueprints, fix the range and location of anti-aircraft batteries protecting the main cities of the nation, sound and chart the coast line and harbors of the continent for the submarines and bombing plane carriers of the combined fleets of the alliance, obtain copies of each new automatic rifle, drawings of each new destroyer, the secrets of a new anti-tank field piece.

But to the traditional machinations of military espionage, the Nazis add a flood of anti-democratic propaganda aimed at the creation of civil disorder; a dummy corporation to buy Anticosti Island in the mouth of the St. Lawrence as an air base for attack on Toronto, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, New York (the island lies about 800 miles north of New York).

Posters proclaiming Anschluss for Patagonia; armed revolt in Brazil, in Chile, in Mexico; another air base built by their Japanese allies in Bolivia, within striking distance of the Panama Canal.

The drilling of armed Bund storm troopers in Camp Seigfreid (old Camp Yaphank, Long Island training ground for American troops in 1917); an intercontinental network of German and Italian air lines from the Rio Grande south (for peaceful transport work, now).

The Nazi propaganda bombs of anti-Semitism mouthed over the radio by Father Coughlin are of a plece with the incendiary bombs carried by agents in

illustrated by Fred Ellis

military and industrial plants who are ready for unprecedented destruction when the signal is flashed from Berlin, in the net of totalitarian espionage.

ROOF of these charges lies in the news of the day, for all to read. Though not in their official speeches, the representatives of the American Republics faced and discussed these things at Lima.

The exposure of the hooded Cagoulard conspiracy in France, the trials of Nazi and Trotzkyite agents in Moscow and Barcelona, did yeoman service in illustrating the workings of the type of propaganda-sabotage-espionage cabal we face in the Americas.

Uncle Sam's cracking of one of the Nazi spy rings in New York woke millions to the nearness of the fascist menace. The indictment of 18 members of that ring, including four officers high in the Berlin Ministry of War; the trial, conviction and sentencing of Jahanna Hofmann, Otto Voss, Eric Glaser and Guenther Rumrich, constitute an invaluable source book for those who would study what Hitler is doing to and plans for the United States.

And, as United States Attorney Lamar Hardy, who prosecuted the ring in the seven-week-long sensational that, says:

"This case has just scratched the surface of the espionage carried on by other German rings in this country."

There is much more to come.

NCLE SAM has just taken up the cudgels of defense... Mexico, Chile, Brazil, Colombia, are swinging along in the same direction.

The United States District Court in the Canal Zone will soon see the trial of four more Nazi agents. Ingebord Guttman, Hans Schakow, Gisbert Gross and Edward R. Kuhrig were caught within Canal Zone fortifications—the fortifications that protect the lifeline of America's naval defense.

In Los Angeles, Karl Drummond, young Americanborn employe of the Douglas Aircraft Corporation, is under indictment for stealing 150 photographs and 15 blueprints of secret United States Navy experimental planes "with the intent that they should be used to the advantage of a foreign nation, to wit, Japan."

Through Drummond's arrest, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has cracked the center of a ring of more than 40 Japanese and Nazi agents who have been operating on a big scale in California since the signing of the so-called "anti-Comintern pact" between the two nations.

Much of this will come out in open court when Drummond goes to trial.

Other public moves will further increase the store of information available to the public on the question of Nazi espionage. New York and other cities are considering the curbing of docking facilities afforded the Nazi steamship lines. The Nazi ships are convenient floating offices for the spy rings.

There is a possibility that Uncle Sam will cancel the lucrative mail contracts now held by German lines.

When Congress convenes there will be legislation to strengthen the inadequate spy-fighting apparatus of the FBI, Army G-2 and Naval Intelligence.

The very nature of a spy apparatus such as that of Nazi Germany is such that its full ramifications may never be known. And there are far too many American Tories in high places whose kinship to German fascism causes them to obstruct the uncovering of the Nazi conspiracy.

But enough is known to flatly state that the danger of Nazi totalitarian espionage should arouse the nation to action.

Because not enough is yet known, each new bit of evidence has real importance.

THE recent trial of the New York Nazi spy ring named as three of the directors of that particular ring, Captain Lieutenant Udo von Bonin, Captain Lieutenant Erich Pfeiffer and Karl Schluter.

A new fact, printed here for the first time, is that von Bonin and Pfeiffer directed, from Germany, the espionage activities against England and the United States in 1914.

More important still, Karl Schluter may be one of the little inner circle close to Hitler who guide the world activities of Nazl esplonage.

For a comparison of the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation with police records of pre-Hitler Germany, now hidden in Paris, reveal that Schluter, who traveled between Germany and New York as a humble steward on the liner Europa, directing the activities of the spy ring, is identical with Theodore

As secretary to Franz vo Embassy in Washington during organize the sabotage ring w at Kingsland and engineered explosion.

He bungled a secret service was sent to Helgoland, where of Fritz Weidemann, now I Weidemann got him back in Reichswehr and Schluter believeles of the Nazi Party.

In 1928 a series of my were traced to Schluter (the Robert King, reporter for Par largest newspapers, describe HEN Lieutenant The appearance on the si the courtroom.

Here he is. Suddenly is the soul of the Holy Vehme organization adopted by the Me is good-looking, cat-like, it mouth, but thin, tight lips, eyes of a fatal woman. The ican finger-man type: the he for pleasure, the beautiful, for prey.

"He did not even deight to "The public prosecutor m crimes of which Lieut. Schul tion were accused.

"On Aug. 12, 1927, the ca was discovered. The body ha and flung into a bag. The r had been killed with the blow After the execution, Kovald Vehme, went to Berlin by ca that his orders had been exec

"Brauer was a traitor, S

Lieut Laud, aged 25, was Daltetz, two bullets through

"Laud, Schultz deigned to lead an expensive life. "I the secrets of our organization him executed."

"A certain Leguer was for bleeding like a stuck pig, in woodland.

"He looked suspicious; is got him drunk at a cafe. W found in his pocket a memb organization. So he was a t

"A butcher's assistant wa his head. His grave was du been buried standing up so more difficult to find.

"A suspect, Schultz expl for suspicion, but a member of Reichswehr which prepared Germany, should be above sus

"Anyway our men are v our ranks, I tell them:

"Anyone who dares to anyone will be killed. We anyone who allows himself about our organization, even his mistress. The Vehme does Schultz (or Schluter) wa. dent Hindenburg, already wo muted the sentence. In two of the Nazi movement.

It was expected that Si come a Minister when Hitler But he was never heard of posed to have helped organi of June 30, 1934, when Hitler his storm troop leaders slaug

OW this man of blood murder is one of the spirators who have v factories, the offices, the arr States.

Twice he narrowly escape he ever sets foot on Americ goes to jail for a long, long

America is not afraid of the Western Hemisphere, the Home of the Brave in the sault of Nazi, fascist and Ja

But it will take action, public detern gation,

Hitler weaves a sinister web of espionage from arctic to antarctic unparalleled in modern history

by LOWELL WAKEFIELD

illustrated by Fred Ellis

military and industrial plants who are ready for unprecedented destruction when the signal is flashed from Berlin, in the net of totalitarian espionage.

PROOF of these charges lies in the news of the day, for all to read. Though not in their official speeches, the representatives of the American Republics faced and discussed these things at Lima.

The exposure of the hooded Cagoulard conspiracy in France, the trials of Nazi and Trotzkyite agents in Moscow and Barcelona, did yeoman service in illustrating the workings of the type of propaganda-sabotage-espionage cabal we face in the Americas.

Uncle Sam's cracking of one of the Nazi spy rings in New York woke millions to the nearness of the fascist menace. The indictment of 18 members of that ring, including four officers high in the Berlin Ministry of War; the trial, conviction and sentencing of Jahanna Hofmann, Otto Voss, Eric Glaser and Guenther Rumrich, constitute an invaluable source book for those who would study what Hitler is doing to and plans for the United States.

And, as United States Attorney Lamar Hardy, who prosecuted the ring in the seven-week-long sensational thal, says:

"This case has just scratched the surface of the espionage carried on by other German rings in this country."

There is much more to come,

NCLE SAM has just taken up the cudgels of defense. Mexico, Chile, Brazil, Colombia, are swinging along in the same direction.

The United States District Court in the Canal Zone will soon see the trial of four more Nazi agents. Ingebord Guttman, Hans Schakow, Gisbert Gross and Edward R. Kuhrig were caught within Canal Zone fortifications—the fortifications that protect the lifeline of America's naval defense.

In Los Angeles, Karl Drummond, young Americanborn employe of the Douglas Aircraft Corporation, is under indictment for stealing 150 photographs and 15 blueprints of secret United States Navy experimental planes "with the intent that they should be used to the advantage of a foreign nation, to wit, Japan."

Through Drummond's arrest, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has cracked the center of a ring of more than 40 Japanese and Nazi agents who have been operating on a big scale in California since the signing of the so-called "anti-Comintern pact" between the two nations

Much of this will come out in open court when Drummond goes to trial.

Other public moves will further increase the store of information available to the public on the question of Nazi espionage. New York and other cities are considering the curbing of docking facilities afforded the Nazi steamship lines. The Nazi ships are convenient floating offices for the spy rings.

There is a possibility that Uncle Sam will cancel the lucrative mail contracts now held by German lines.

When Congress convenes there will be legislation to strengthen the inadequate spy-fighting apparatus of the FBI, Army G-2 and Naval Intelligence.

The very nature of a spy apparatus such as that of Nazi Germany is such that its full ramifications may never be known. And there are far too many American Tories in high places whose kinship to German fascism causes them to obstruct the uncovering of the Nazi conspiracy.

But enough is known to flatly state that the danger of Nazi totalitarian espionage should arouse the nation to action.

Because not enough is yet known, each new bit of evidence has real importance.

HE recent trial of the New York Nazi spy ring named as three of the directors of that particular ring, Captain Lieutenant Udo von Bonin, Captain Lieutenant Erich Pfeiffer and Karl Schluter.

A new fact, printed here for the first time, is that von Bonin and Pfeister directed, from Germany, the espionage activities against England and the United Schlutz, dread chief of the Holy Vehme in the days before the ascendancy of Der Fuehrer.

BPALTUR

The Vehme is now the Gestapo, the special secret service, all-powerful in Germany. The Gestapo supervises everything—the army, the police, the storm troopers. It spies upon the spies. It is the ultimate authority.

The record of Schluter, alias Schlutz, alias Schluterer, alias Schlutermann, never before revealed, can be pieced together something as follows:

As secretary to Franz von Papen in the German Embassy in Washington during the world war, he helped organize the sabotage ring which blew up the arsenal at Kingsland and engineered the disastrous Black Tom explosion.

He bungled a secret service job in Paris in 1927 and was sent to Helgoland, where he made the acquaintance of Fritz Weidemann, now Hitler's personal adjutant. Weidemann got him back in the good graces of the Reichswehr and Schluter began to rise in the inner circles of the Nazi Party.

In 1928 a series of mysterious, horrible murders were traced to Schluter (then called Schlutz). Let Robert King, reporter for Paris Soir, one of the world's largest newspapers, describe the trial:

HEN Lieutenant Theodore Schultz made his appearance on the stand, a shiver ran through the courtroom.

Here he is. Suddenly you understand that he is the soul of the Holy Vehme (the secret inner-terrorist organization adopted by the Nazis to maintain secrecy). He is good-looking, cat-like, just a bit feminine. A wide mouth, but thin, tight lips. A ruthless chin and the eyes of a fatal woman. The killer, but not the American finger-man type: the high-class killer, the killer for pleasure, the beautiful, frightful, threatening beast of prey.

"He did not even deign to defend himself.

"The public prosecutor made a long recital of the crimes of which Lieut. Schultz and his secret association were accused.

"On Aug. 12, 1927, the cadaver of a certain Brauer was discovered. The body had been tied up with cord and flung into a bag. The medical office said that he had been killed with the blows of a contuding weapon. After the execution, Kovalowski, a member of the Vehme, went to Berlin by car to inform Lieut. Schultz that his orders had been executed.

"Brauer was a traitor, Schultz merely said at the trial.

Lieut Laud, aged 25, was found near the village of Daltetz, two bullets through the back of his head.

"Laud, Schultz deigned to explain, suddenly began to lead an expensive life. I thought that he had sold the secrets of our organization to the French. I had him executed.

"A certain Leguer was found with his veins opened, bleeding like a stuck pig, in the depths of a clump of woodland.

"He looked suspicious, said Schultz calmly. We got him drunk at a cafe, When we searched him, we found in his pocket a membership card in a Socialist organization. So he was a traitor. We executed him,

"A butcher's assistant was found with a hatchet in his head. His grave was dug beforehand and he had been buried standing up so that the body would be more difficult to find.

"A suspect, Schultz explained. No special reason for suspicion, but a member of the Vehme, of the Black Reichswehr which prepared in secret the revenge of Germany, should be above suspicion.

"Anyway our men are warned. When they enter our ranks, I tell them:

"Anyone who dares to mention our activity to anyone will be killed. We will execute without pity anyone who allows himself to say the slightest word about our organization, even to his mother, his wife or his mistress. The Vehme does not pardon!"

Schultz (or Schluter) was condemned to die. President Hindenburg, already working with the Nazis, commuted the sentence. In two years he was out, a hero of the Nazi movement.

It was expected that Schluter would at least become a Minister when Hitler became Reich Chancellor. But he was never heard of—except once He is supposed to have helped organize the terrible blood purge of June 30, 1934, when Hitler had Roehme and other of his storm troop leaders slaughtered.

OW this man of blood, terror, intrigue and secret murder is one of those directing the Hitler conspirators who have wormed their way into the factories, the offices, the armed services of the United reparing now to fight the within the borders of the d Japanese allies of the over the Americas from r web of espionage un-alone the secret service romanticized spy fiction. e alliance is today totalitinst Spain or China is in the pay of Hitler, Il my plane blueprints, fix ti-aircraft batteries pronation, sound and chart he continent for the subarriers of the combined opies of each new autoiew destroyer, the secrets nachinations of military l a flood of anti-demoat the creation of civil to buy Anticosti Island ence as an air base for troit, Boston, New York s north of New York).

iss for Patagonia; armed lexico; another air base

AZI GERMANY is preparing now to fight the Second World War within the borders of the United States.

With his Italian and Japanese allies of the Tascist axis, Hitler has woven over the Americas from Arctic to Antarctic a sinister web of espionage unparalleled in modern times.

The ring's agents are not alone the secret service men and women of 1914 or of romanticized spy fiction. For the espionage of the triple alliance is today totalitarian espionage, as war against Spain or China is totalitarian war.

True, thousands of agents in the pay of Hitler, Il Duce and the Mikado steal army plane blueprints, fix the range and location of anti-aircraft batteries protecting the main cities of the nation, sound and chart the coast line and harbors of the continent for the submarines and bombing plane carriers of the combined fleets of the alliance, obtain copies of each new automatic rifle, drawings of each new destroyer, the secrets of a new anti-tank field piece.

But to the traditional machinations of military espionage, the Nazis add a flood of anti-democratic propaganda aimed at the creation of civil disorder; a dummy corporation to buy Anticosti Island in the mouth of the St. Lawrence as an air base for attack on Toronto, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, New York (the island lies about 800 miles north of New York).

Posters proclaiming Anschluss for Patagonia; armed revolt in Brazil, in Chile, in Mexico; another air base built by their Japanese allies in Bolivia, within striking distance of the Panama Canal.

The drilling of armed Bund storm troopers in Camp Seigfreid (old Camp Yaphank, Long Island training ground for American troops in 1917); an intercontinental network of German and Italian air lines from the Bio Grande south (for peaceful transport work, now).

The Nazi propaganda bombs of anti-Semitism mouthed over the radio by Father Coughlin are of a piece with the incendiary bombs carried by agents in Guttman, Hans Schakow, Gisbert Gross and Edward R. Kuhrig were caught within Canal Zone fortifications—the fortifications that protect the lifeline of America's naval defense.

In Los Angeles, Karl Drummond, young Americanborn employe of the Douglas Aircraft Corporation, is under indictment for stealing 150 photographs and 15 blueprints of secret United States Navy experimental planes "with the intent that they should be used to the advantage of a foreign nation, to wit, Japan."

Through Drummond's arrest, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has cracked the center of a ring of more than 40 Japanese and Nazi agents who have been operating on a big scale in California since the signing of the so-called "anti-Comintern pact" between the two nations

Much of this will come out in open court when Drummond goes to trial.

Other public moves will further increase the store of information available to the public on the question of Nazi espionage. New York and other cities are considering the curbing of docking facilities afforded the Nazi steamship lines. The Nazi ships are convenient floating offices for the spy rings.

There is a possibility that Uncle Sam will cancel the lucrative mail contracts now held by German lines.

When Congress convenes there will be legislation to strengthen the inadequate spy-fighting apparatus of the FBI, Army G-2 and Naval Intelligence.

The very nature of a spy apparatus such as that of Nazi Germany is such that its full ramifications may never be known. And there are far too many American Tories in high places whose kinship to German fascism causes them to obstruct the uncovering of the Nazi conspiracy.

But enough is known to fiatly state that the danger of Nazi totalitarian espionage should arouse the nation to action.

Because not enough is yet known, each new bit of evidence has real importance.

HE recent trial of the New York Nazi spy ring named as three of the directors of that particular ring, Captain Lieutenant Udo von Bonin, Captain Lieutenant Erich Pfeiffer and Karl Schluter.

A new fact, printed here for the first time, is that von Bonin and Pfeiffer directed, from Germany, the espionage activities against England and the United States in 1914.

More important still, Karl Schluter may be one of the little inner circle close to Hitler who guide the world activities of Nazl espionage.

For a comparison of the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation with police records of pre-Hitler Germany, now hidden in Paris, reveal that Schluter, who traveled between Germany and New York as a humble steward on the liner Europa, directing the activities of the spy ring, is identical with Theodore Vehme, went to Berlin by car to inform Lieut. Schultz that his orders had been executed. "Brauer was a traitor, Schultz merely said at the

Lieut Laud, aged 25, was found near the village of

Lieut Laud, aged 25, was found near the village of Daltetz, two bullets through the back of his head.

"Laud, Schultz deigned to explain, suddenly began to lead an expensive life. I thought that he had sold the secrets of our organization to the French. I had him executed.

"A certain Leguer was found with his veins opened, bleeding like a stuck pig, in the depths of a clump of woodland.

"He looked suspicious, said Schultz calmly. We got him drunk at a cafe. When we searched him, we found in his pocket a membership card in a Socialist organization. So he was a traiter. We executed him.

"A butcher's assistant was found with a hatchet in his head. His grave was dug beforehand and he had been buried standing up so that the body would be more difficult to find.

"A suspect, Schultz explained. No special reason for suspicion, but a member of the Vehme, of the Black Reichswehr which prepared in secret the revenge of Germany, should be above suspicion.

"Anyway our men are warned. When they enter our ranks, I tell them."

"Anyone who dares to mention our activity to anyone will be killed. We will execute without pity anyone who allows himself to say the slightest word about our organization, even to his mother, his wife or his mistress. The Vehme does not pardon!"

Schultz (or Schluter) was condemned to die. President Hindenburg, already working with the Nazis commuted the sentence. In two years he was out, a hero of the Nazi movement.

It was expected that Schluter would at least become a Minister when Hitler became Reich Chancellor. But he was never heard of except once He is supposed to have helped organize the terrible blood purge of June 30, 1934, when Hitler had Roehme and other of his storm troop leaders slaughtered.

OW this man of blood, terror, intrigue and secret murder is one of those directing the Hitler conspirators who have wormed their way into the factories, the offices, the armed services of the United States.

Twice he narrowly escaped arrest by our G-men. If he ever sets foot on American soil, and is caught, he goes to jail for a long, long time.

America is not afraid of his kind. The republics of the Western Hemisphere, the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave in the lead, will defeat the assault of Nazi, fascist and Japanese agents.

But it will take action, education and an aroused public detern station.