

NAZI PROPAGANDA HELD DANGER HERE

Book Sponsored by Leaders of 3 Faiths Sees Risk of Bloodshed if Activity Is Not Banned

REPORTS DRIVE INCREASED

Says Campaign Seeks to Instill in Those of German Descent Allegiance to Reich

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—A book
"intended to expose the purposes of National Socialist propaganda outside the Reich," published under the sponsorship of a group of prominent citizens, including Nicholas Murray Butler, Felix Frankfurter, Monsignor Ryan and Henry L.
Stimson, will be released tomorrow by the Oxford University Press of New York, it was learned today.

A short, documented book of only forty-three pages, the volume presents a picture of the active, almost missionary-like zeal with which the present German State is pushing its program for making

Germans everywhere cognizant of their kinship with the German State.

It tells of the use of phonograph records as an important means of Nazi foreign propaganda, quotes a German textbook on the fact that the German population is not the 75,000,000 living within the present German national borders but the 100,000,000 Germans in the world at large, and presents several excerpts from publications of the German-American Volksbund on the objectives of that organization.

Warns of Friction

The book's preface states that while the present influence of Nazi propaganda on German-Americans is "slight," it cannot fail to "create a cyst on the body politic of the American people" if the agitation is permitted to continue unchecked.

"It will result," the preface said,
"in setting apart a large group of inhabitants of the United States whose duty it would be to render primary allegiance to the ruler of a foreign power. Friction between this group and the rest of the American people might result in unrest and possible bloodshed."

The prefatory statement pointed out that while the Pan-Germanic activities of the Nazi State have been directed especially to nationals in adjacent countries, "there has been a marked intensification of this campaign on the American Continent."

German newspapers in the United States are supplied with free news services, German schools with free educational materials, German radio listeners with special short-wave broadcasts.

"This propaganda is all directed toward one goal: To instill in the American citizen of German descent a consciousness of the German
'race' and a feeling of allegiance toward the German Reich."

The preface said that Nazi groups outside Germany are now consolidated under the official direction of the foreign division of the National Socialist party and that the official purpose of this organization "is to bring all those of German citizenship living outside Germany into the ranks of the National Socialist party."

"The government also has taken over such organizations as the League of German Societies Abroad, established in 1892, the purpose of which had been to promote cultural relations between Germany and other countries, and has fashioned them into an agency of propaganda," the preface stated.

The sponsors of the book, other than the four mentioned heretofore, are Charles C. Burlingham, James Byrne, Bernard Flexner, Monte M.
Lemann, Howard Chandler Robbins, Samuel Seabury, Alfred E.
Cohn, George Wharton Pepper, Murray Seasongood and Nathan Straus.

NYT
12/18/38

NAZI PROPAGANDA HELD DANGER HERE

Book Sponsored by Leaders of 3 Faiths Sees Risk of Bloodshed if Activity Is Not Banned

REPORTS DRIVE INCREASED

12/19/38
Says Campaign Seeks to Instill in Those of German Descent Allegiance to Reich

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—A book "intended to expose the purposes of National Socialist propaganda outside the Reich," published under the sponsorship of a group of prominent citizens, including Nicholas Murray Butler, Felix Frankfurter, Monsignor Ryan and Henry L. Stimson, will be released tomorrow by the Oxford University Press of New York, it was learned today.
A short, documented book of only forty-three pages, the volume presents a picture of the active, almost missionary-like zeal with which the present German State is pushing its program for making

Germans everywhere cognizant of their kinship with the German State.

It tells of the use of phonograph records as an important means of Nazi foreign propaganda, quotes a German textbook on the fact that the German population is not the 75,000,000 living within the present German national borders but the 100,000,000 Germans in the world at large, and presents several excerpts from publications of the German-American Volksbund on the objectives of that organization.

Warns of Friction

The book's preface states that while the present influence of Nazi propaganda on German-Americans is "slight," it cannot fail to "create a cyst on the body politic of the American people" if the agitation is permitted to continue unchecked.

"It will result," the preface said, "in setting apart a large group of inhabitants of the United States whose duty it would be to render primary allegiance to the ruler of a foreign power. Friction between this group and the rest of the American people might result in unrest and possible bloodshed."

The prefatory statement pointed out that while the Pan-Germanic activities of the Nazi State have been directed especially to nationals in adjacent countries, "there has been a marked intensification of this campaign on the American Continent."

"German newspapers in the United States are supplied with free news services, German schools with free educational materials, German radio listeners with special short-wave broadcasts.

"This propaganda is all directed toward one goal: To instill in the American citizen of German descent a consciousness of the German 'race' and a feeling of allegiance toward the German Reich."

The preface said that Nazi groups outside Germany are now consolidated under the official direction of the foreign division of the National Socialist party and that the official purpose of this organization "is to bring all those of German citizenship living outside Germany into the ranks of the National Socialist party."

"The government also has taken over such organizations as the League of German Societies Abroad, established in 1892, the purpose of which had been to promote cultural relations between Germany and other countries, and has fashioned them into an agency of propaganda," the preface stated.

The sponsors of the book, other than the four mentioned heretofore, are Charles C. Burlingham, James Byrne, Bernard Flexner, Monte M. Lemann, Howard Chandler Robbins, Samuel Seabury, Alfred E. Cohn, George Wharton Pepper, Murray Seasongood and Nathan Straus.

NYT
12/19/38