

That is the English War Secretary HORE BELISHA!

(From an English photograph)

Everyone will say: "No real Englishman looks like that!" — and everyone who says it will be right. This fellow with his hooked nose, brutal, sensual lips, curly hair, thick ears, flabby hands and bandy legs is not a European at all, but a Jew!

Hore Belisha hails from the Jewish quarter of Tangier! He came to England as a boy, studied at Oxford and managed to push himself forward in politics and in the business world with the help of his Zionist protectors. As time went on he floated a number of concerns which, by resort to fraud and bankruptcy, netted him enormous sums of money. An example of this was a Savings Bank in 1918, the "City and Provincial", which failed at the end of thirteen months. The small investors lost their entire investments — a matter of some £ 100,000 —.

Two years later Hore Belisha's "Automatic Machines" Company crashed. The shareholders lost £ 185,000.

In May 1936 the same thing happened with his "Electro-Chemical Trust". This time the shareholders lost £ 115,000.

Likewise his mammoth tailoring business "Mortimers Limited" failed and the creditors lost £ 125,000.

Hore Belisha tried his hand, for the sake of variety, in Belgium, with a ship building company. The result was stock swindling, over-indebtedness, liquidation, with losses to suppliers and shareholders amounting to £ 55,000.

Savings Bank investors, suppliers, shareholders have all lost, while Hore Belisha has made his pile.

His government posts as Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade (1931—1932), Financial Secretary to the Treasury (1932—1934), Minister of Transport (1934—1937) were extraordinarily helpful to him in his machinations. Today he is hoping to crown his efforts with the cash and laurels he is expecting from the Anglo-Jewish war.

The objectives of his hopes are:

- (1) A war of Jewish revenge on Germany, waged with the soldiers of England and France.
- (2) Still more money for himself from this war.

The First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill, the Banker Rothschild (Jewish), the purveyor to the Army Monty Burton (Jewish), Lyons (Jewish), Lord Reading (Jewish) and many other City magnates are his ready assistants, with the same eye to the profits they can make out of this war.

What do people of this kind care whether brave men, women and children, whole nations, suffer misery, distress and death? Neither Hore Belisha, nor the members of his race, nor the City magnates will shed their blood. The only shooting they will do will be on the parade grounds of England, in their immaculate attire, bespatted and with hat in hand.

The English and French soldiers will shed their blood, as the Polish soldiers have already done. But the rest will do business — and that is what matters most!
