

Protests Stop Showing of Bund Movie

DW 2/25/39
The bellowing figure of Fritz Kuhn as he addressed the German-American Bund rally in Madison Square Garden last Monday received such vociferous disapproval of New York City newsreel audiences that Pathe News, only company to release a film, withdrew its showing, it was learned yesterday.

With a denial that there was any "particular audience reaction," spokesman for the Pathe company declared that they will not make a general release of the shots to the country.

"The shots we took presented only a partial picture of the Bund meeting," their statement said. "We didn't want to present anything that would in any way assist the Bund or give it any favorable publicity."
