MEXICO CITY, Apr. 25.—That Lt. Jose Antonio de la Lama Rojas, would-be slayer of Mexican President Avila Camacho, had been a member of Union Nacional Sinarquista, Mexico's fascist mass movement, and a close friend of Salvador Abascal, Sinarquist ex-chief, was revealed by the Mexican magazine Tiempo in its issue of Apr. 19.

According to Tiempo, the Sinarquistas held a meeting on Apr. 14, four days after the attempted murder and two days after de la Lama's death, to discuss the frustrated attempt against Avila Camacho and their future course of action. One speaker is quoted saying, "we are impatient to act, we only await orders from our leaders to avenge the death of our brother Jose Antonio."

After the meeting, according to Tiempo, the following document was signed, definitely establishing the Sinarquists' part in the plot:

"All persons sign this as Catholics, as Mexicans and as Sinarquists. We wholeheartedly support the proposal of our national leadership that names our brother and comrade Jose Antonio de la Lama to be inscribed on the list of Sinarquist martyrs. He was killed treacherously for having tried to exert his rights as a Mexican and Catholic, when he tried to kill the treasonable President whom we do not recognize as our constitutional chief because he serves those totalitarian powers [i.e. the United Nations], now at war with Mexico's best friend as a nation [i.e. Germany]."
