— An Editorial

(Pages 8-9)

1 Who Started the War?

Churchill's boast to the English becomes a confession to the world. (Page 3)

2 The Cliveden Set

Is President Roosevelt being used by the Red smear artists? (Page 6)

3 Union Now With Britain

International conspirators seek to destroy America's sovereignty in the name of wartime emergency and peacetime chaos. (Page 13)

4 Blame Stalin

His consent gave Axis greatest military opportunity. (Page 5)

5 Fan Dancers and National Defense

A sensational exposure of boondoggling. Dare we play politics with American blood? (Page 14)

6 Sir Stafford Cripps

Whose man is he? Churchill's or Stalin's. (Page 5)

7 Who Are President Roosevelt's Closest Advisers?

When decisions involving the whole world are made, to whom does the President turn for approval? Who writes or helps to write his speeches? (Page 4)

8 Free Browder? Of Course Not

Will Russia demand his release? (Page 7)

FOUNDED BY GERALD L. K. SMITH

The above is a reproduction of the front cover of a fascist publication which has just been founded in the vital war production center of Detroit by the notorious would-be fuhrer Gerald L. K. Smith. The items which are numbered above are discussed accordingly in the article by Milton Howard, Daily Worker editorial board member, below. Howard's article will be followed by others in the Daily Worker giving a more extended discussion of the contents of the magazine.
