

Re: 62-117290

FBI lying

To make comprehensible to readers who know about the FBI mostly what it wants to be known about it and have no inkling of its arrant lying, even when its lying serves no apparent constructive or useful purpose as well as when it has something to hide, use this internal Records Management Division record, pp. 1 and 4 where highlighted on the existence of tickler files, which is steadfastly denied keeping more than six months, to show that those responsible for the lying, I believe the perjury, had personal knowledge of the existence of these ticklers. Use also CAs 78-0320, 0420 in which SA John N. Phillips repeatedly we swore to their non-existence and steadfastly repeated his perjury, the existence of ticklers being most material, despite the repetitious proof I provided, under oath, to their existence. Appeals court also ignored this. Cite also extent of appeals, also ignored. (administrative)