

Possible added use 5/21/75

There are other and reliably-reported points at which a bullet or bullets struck.

One of these, discussed briefly with the Tague wounding WW 158, shown in a picture published by the Commission and by Curry (p.46) shows Buddy Walther and an FBI agent at one such spot. There is another picture of the opposite end of this sewer inlet showing a possible impact.

Redlich took this up with Liebeler when Liebeler was in Dallas. Memo 7/22/64 attached, place marked. A bullet "splattered on the edge of the curb on Main Street." The pictures we have of the curbstones show no place where a bullet could have "splattered" and the prior pictures, which Liebeler also had, do.

This also addresses whether the FBI even got the right curbstones and why they have not given us the tests their papers show they made.
