Dear Jeff,

This is FYI and for any suggestions you may be able to make.

I don't expect the LATimes to overcome its prejudices, much as I'd like it, or that those in BA will believe other than they have believed.

Once upon a long time ago I was telling a friend in insurance that I'm a good risk because I've never been responsible for a moving driving violation. He told me that this made me a bad risk because of the odds. Well, I'm 70, and I've still never caused an accident and I have no driving points against me.

Nonetheless, although I go into what faces me unafraid, because I have been so successful against the FBI, I'm not unaware of the odds.

And the changed climate.

I'm not able to get to Washington because I can't drive that far or use Greyhound and have nobody to drive me and on $335 Social Security I can't afford long distance changes. However, after writing the enclosed letter to a reporter friend who has been interested in my efforts and the Act, it occurred to me ~~XXXX~~ that it might not be a bad idea to let a few others know.

Hope you are well and happy,

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
