Dear Virginia,

Again in the haste that is probably too apparent, but we have little choice.

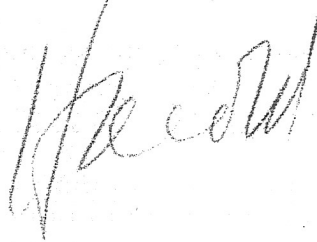

I don't expect any of those characters to prosecute themselves, of course, but that is not enough reason not to request it.

To the best of my knowledge, Weld is United States Attorney in Boston, not D.C., but I'm going by their Opposition, as you'll see if you check their p. 5.

That they do not bother even to deny fraud, perjury and misrepresentation is, I think, fair commentary on the time in which we live.

Hope you are getting along well.

Best wishes,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "W. Weld", is written in dark ink on the right side of the page.
