Dear Mr. Lesar:

While processing the Freedom of Information Act request of your client, Mark Allen, for records pertaining to correspondence between the U.S. House Select Committee on Assassinations and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the FBI located seven documents which originated with the Office of the Deputy Attorney General. These documents were referred to this Office for direct response to you.

Enclosed are copies of these documents. The name of one individual has been withheld pursuant to 5 U.S.C. §552(b)(6). This provision pertains to material the release of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of a third party. This information cannot be the subject of a discretionary release.

If your client is dissatisfied with my action on this request, he may appeal from this limited denial by writing, within 30 days of your receipt of this letter, to the Office of Information and Privacy, United States Department of Justice, 10th and Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20530. Both the letter and envelope should be clearly marked "FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT APPEAL." In the event your client is dissatisfied with the results of any such appeal, judicial review will thereafter be available to him in the United States District Court for the judicial district in which he resides or has his principal place of business, or in the District of Columbia, which is also where the records he seeks are located.

Sincerely,

Miriam M. Nisbet, Deputy Director
Office of Information and Privacy
