

Dear Jim,

12/17/84

I'm sorely troubled and disturbed at not having had a word from either Mark Lynch or you in the 10 days since the appeals court decision in the field offices case. Because I received a copy from him the next day Mark had it the day it was made available, the day it is dated. You ought to have had it a week ago and I told you it had been handed down more than a week ago.

You both know that I want to file a petition for an en banc review and you both know I know nothing at all about what is required and what is prohibited. I've let both of you know.

I've completed a draft of questions raised and of background, both unread.

I've also not been as able since Friday, with the periods of transitory dizziness on getting up for a chair worse Saturday and with weariness every day. The morning I was suddenly weary in the podiatrist's office and it did not wear off while I took a walk around for shopping. I was not able to work when I got home so I spent the rest of the afternoon on the couch, and the weariness passed off, although I don't feel very energetic.

Bill is handicapped by the preparations she must make for the tax season, still not having her own typewriter back and having a lousy loaner and by her still massive hematoma on her right forearm. She sees star if anything touches it.

So, it is going to be more than usually difficult for me to get this done, or get any notice in, and it would not have been an easy thing under any circumstances.

Will you please provide the information I need in time for me to use it rather than when it is useless?

Best,

9K
