

Glapp affidavit: Statute limitations

my 10/29/73 letter apparently refers to a phone conversation earlier that day relating to what had happened in chambers. It appears there was a relevance in whether or not the original forms were filled in completely by me or not and in connection with the statute of limitations.

If it is this that Glapp refers to in the affidavit this letter shows it had nothing to do with what the affidavit states or that he did not tell me, otherwise this letter would have reflected it.

This repeats my earlier citation of the government records stating that I had tolled the statute.

If this addresses any central issue on the running of the statute Williams is in the position of asking to be the beneficiary of his own negligence by never obtaining any discovery.

The transcript was edited to eliminate what appears to be relevant. I did write a long and detailed letter setting forth what had been changed. Reluctantly, with some prodding from me he wrote a letter and dropped it. Later I obtained the proof that the very colonel who participated in that meeting did alter these transcript parts.
