Mr. Richard G. Eleindienet, Deputy Att'y. Con. U.S. Department of Justice Washington, B.S. 20000

Boar Mr. Elekadiemet,

In writing you June 19, I suggested I could emploin some thing in THI Behibit 60 that might be troublesome in the future and might be susceptible of innecest employation. Thanks to the two paints enclosed with your letter of July 6, I believe I can now do this with fair cortainty.

Any exemination of FMI Inhibit 66, with even the limited magnification permitted by the photoengraving seroon, discloses that the upper left-hand insert of the enlarged hole in the back of the shirt does not estable uith the uncertainty hele in the shirt itself. One of the next obtions discrepancies is the in the enlargement the desegr not pass the left-hand edge of the urbical stripe of the shirt pettern, thereas in the unsularged view of the saling box is does. That this was undertested and unsuperted by the Countrains of the technical experts, the FME, which made the establish, should give you are hist of view of the investigation and the cure with which evidence was propagated and exemined.

by comparing the enlargment you were kind enough to send me with the unuminaried shirt picture, I am remonship confident that the import we printed upside down, that if it is notered the heles soon to be identical. Furthermore, the phote you sent me shows more than the import in FMI prhibit 60. If you have a deplicate print of what you sent me, you will see it is still inhelied upside down. The legand added partly obliterates the mekband, and that is the being of the picture.

The questions I still have about this evidence use for from answered. However, I am acticated that this is a manufactured, if inexcusorbie, discrepancy. I now ask you a shotosical question, one to thick it would be unfair to ask or expect any answer, for you were not in your present position at the time of this affair, but what might have been the impact of this discrepancy if flounted by the defence, in open court, before a jury, without the explanation I offer your Again, I expect no enswer of you, but what does this flittle thing tell you of the character and dependability of them evidence and the investigation?

Let me again preface response to the remainder of your letter with the explanation I know you have no personal knowledge of that of with you write, that you have to get your information from others. Without any such assurance from you, I believe you accurately reflect that you have been teld. As I tried to inform the Attorney General as seen as he took office, on this subject his sources of information (misinformation) are identically the same as his predecessors had. In preparing you to respond to my questions about the spectrographic analysis they referred you to the least definitive of the only undefinitive statements that are available in the Warren Commission evidence. When Mr. Frazier testified that the seismes of spectrography showed no more than that "the various items 'were found to be similar in metallic composition's he was saying exactly what I told you, only that they were all of lead, not a bit more. Spectrography is a very precise science. It gives the finest reedings of compositions, including of the added elements. If it shows only similarity it shows the samples are not of common origin. His testimeny would cowr most of the bullets ever made, various plumbing materials, type-lead and a wide assortment of other objects.

If you doubt my word on this, may not get comeche to supply you with a definition or description of the science, from almost my standard source, and not through your usual channels, for by new you should bein a position to wonder how well you are being informed.

Your paragraph dealing with the documents relating to the late David Ferrie is a rather tricky formulation. Because I intend to carry this forward, as you should know, I connot respond with the fortherightness and completeness my carlier correspondence effered. Herever, I will tell you is is not consistent with the reality, of which I have repeatedly written, and you should look forward to facing in court what you do not describe, what your Department does have - and what I will produce, for I do have it. These things do not meet the proffered or any other standards for withholding, Nor is the matter simply one of the Commission doing that your last content a says. and that, too, was not done. You might want to consider what was obtained for the Commission and them withheld from it, by your Department. Belisto me, I do have the proof. Nor am I referring to a single case only. However, I am trying to help you to help yourself, for as I have repeatedly tried to let the government knows, my purpose is the pursuit of fact and truth, not avandal. If you doubt me on this, I will prove it to you with two cases invalving me possibility of my withholding under either the law or the guidelines, if on my proving both the mithhelding and the character I st tribute to it you will provide me with copies, Again, I am trying to be open with you, so I tell you that when I can I will be filing DF-118 forms in both cases, These two instances are not of immediate priority with me, but they surely will illustrate my point, without joeprady to the actions I plan-

I do accept your assurances in your final paragraph and, so far as your Department is concerned, will let this natter rest there. However, I tell you candidly that if your penultimate paragraph, dealing with the "missle", is correct, that is even weree than if it is not. I do believe you are telling me here exactly what you were told. I suggest you have been inadequately informed and that you will not be adequately informed because these in your Department who should know the truth dare not tell you. I hestfate to carry this further at this point. However, because I do not desire that you personally be hurt by the fact that you occupy the position you do, I will assure you that Exhibit 343 does not account for the lead in the President's head, My proof is beyond question or refutation, as, I regret, you will learn in the farm to which

You can read me as you will. Mr. Helapp was alient when I offered to try and be nelpful in speaking to him. If this letter does not persuade you I am a fool, should it not suggest my motives might be what I represent them to be?

Sincerely.
