

To a person knowing both systems and their factional accessories, there can be no mediation between the systems and so as they exist to-day no third person.

He must be opposed to their basic foundations and representatives and yet it is essential to still the sort of attitude which says "a card on both your horses."

There are two great representatives of power in the world, simply expressed the left and right, and their ^{positions} ~~oppositions~~ and concerns.

any practical attempt at an alternative must have as its nucleus the traditional ^{ideal} blend of both systems, and yet be utterly opposed to both systems.

For not system can be entirely new, that is where most ~~revolutionaries~~ go wrong. And yet the new systems must be opposed unequivocally to the old that also is where revolutions go wrong.

240