Dear Mr. Ruby,

You have committed a murder. You have killed an assassin before he had a chance to be proven guilty, you have deprived the people of the United States of America to do justice, by doing it yourself in a moment of anger or insanity. You also deprived Oswald the chance to repent and maybe even to save his soul.

The motives why you murdered this man could be several. It could be that you were involved with communists (but I do not believe so) or you could have taken money to silence him for the communist party. The other motive could be that you wanted to show that if someone could murder someone you loved and respected you were capable of the mortal sin of murder to avenge his death. Whichever way
