

everyone had known
you before this occurred.
I still find it
impossible to believe,
but the past can't be changed. We must always try to make the most of the future.
I won't abandon the
one person in the world I trusted and confided in.

Remember how we stood by the post and talked it. I think of you a great deal, yet,
and will always remember
how I believed in you,
and how you always had the right answer for my problems.

As to the Curtis question,
I will explain when