Mr. Jess Curry, Chief of Police
City Police Headquarters
Dallas, Texas

Dear Mr. Curry:

Having been born in the south and worked in the City of Fort Worth and Dallas for several years, it is still home to me and I have a very warm feeling for the people there. I have a very deep feeling of sympathy for you, District Attorney, Mr. Wade, and all of the officials of Dallas who now are labouring under the burden's that have been cast upon you by those who have no respect for the laws of our land which you and your forces have strived so hard to uphold. Certainly, your efforts will not have been in vain.

Our sympathy also is with the wife and children of Officer Tippitt. There is a campaign for funds for his family here of which I will gladly be a contributor. We are proud of Officer Tippitt's effort's in his attempt to apprehend the assassin of our beloved President. Certainly, he will go down in history as one of the heroes of our nation.

Much has been said about the grief of Officer Tippitt's family and rightly so. As stated above, I for one feel the obligation of helping to support the family of a man that gave his life, trying to uphold the laws of our land. However, I am sure that Mrs Tippitt and family had no part in planning the actions of Officer Tippitt on that day. Likewise, with the knowledge that we now have, it would seem that Harvey Oswald's wife and little children had no part in planning the actions of her husband on that day. If the information that we now have is a true picture of Oswald's wife's actions since she has been in the United States, then she also has been a victim of the twisted mind of her husband and certainly his children will to some extent, have to suffer as a result of the actions of their daddy. All of these which apparently had no part in the tragic events which they will have to suffer for, are to be considered with sympathy. Since Mrs Oswald is now in a land that is strange to her, with two little children to support and so far as I know, is as innocent as can be, I for one am concerned about the welfare of her and her little children. I would like to start a campaign in this area for a fund for them. If she is not worthy herself, maby a trust fund could be set up for her children. We as American's should now be willing to show and prove to the innocent and to the world, the thing that makes us the great nation that we are by helping those who are in need and not wrongfully hold the innocent responsible for the actions of lawless ones.

Any advice that you might give me regarding my proposal, will be appreciated. Also any newspaper accounts, Mrs Oswald's address or Oswald's brother's address would be appreciated, that I might know more of the history of her actions since she has been in the United States in order that I might inform those who might want to contribute toward their welfare.

As for Ruby, I wonder if he has any thoughts about the little children of Oswald's wife and the American people and the world of whom he deprived the privilege of knowing the facts and seeing this case handled in a Democratic way that the rest of the nations expect of us. To me, he is now guilty of the same lawless act that Oswald was and should suffer the same penalty that our laws provide for these kind of men.
