

December 2, 1963

Mr. Ruby,

I just read an article in the newspaper that of 300 letters you have received, only four were against you. Well, here is number five.

How could you have done such a thing? Sure, we would all like to get the man who killed our wonderful President Kennedy, but after all, we are supposed to be civilized people who believe in justice for all through the courts.

You have put a terrible blot on the people of the United States. You have given our enemies, and yes, even our friends in other countries of the world, a terrible picture of violence in the United States to use against us.

I really can't express myself too well but I did want you to know that I think you were very, very wrong in killing Oswald.
