hit any part of the body, but the head. The President could have been saved. God bless you. I shall always pray for your release somehow, God used you to avenge us. I am sure. How many of us would like to shake your hand. We envy you having put an end to it. We would have done the same thing, if we could have gotten our hands on him. Torn him in to little pieces! How helpless, and frustrated we all feel in our grief! Poor man. You deserve a middle of honor, for going up all you hold dear. They say two wrongs, don't make a right. In this case it does. Hold your head up high, for the trying period
