THE CRIME AGAINST CUBA

by CONRAD LAMONT

Walter Lippmann, dean of American columnists, has referred to the Kennedy Administration's support of the anti-Castro military venture in Cuba as an appalling and colossal mistake. But the abortive April invasion was worse than that: it was an outright crime against the Cuban people; and it was also a crime against the American people, against the United Nations and against world peace.

President Eisenhower must share the responsibility with President Kennedy for this enterprise in international immorality. As columnist W.A. Rorer said in the New York Post of April 9, 1961: "Back in late 1959, the Eisenhower Administration decided to apply to Cuba the Guatemalan treatment. That is, the National Security Council gave C.I.A. Director Dulles the go-ahead to organize the Cuban exile, train a military force and plan an invasion of Cuba."

In 1964 Eisenhower's team of the leaders Allen Dulles and John Edgar Hoover, Secretary of State, organized the invasion of the progressive Communist Government headed by President Castro. This was accomplished through secret U. S. military aid and other aid to the anti-government forces.

Against The Invasion

Conrad Lamont has long been known as a vigorous advocate of international cooperation and world peace. Ever since college days—he was graduated from Harvard in 1924 and took his Ph.D. at Columbia in 1933—he has worked strenuously for such causes as civil liberties, the rights of racial minorities, international justice and the abolition of war.

Humanist philosopher, writer and teacher, Dr. Lamont was a staunch supporter of the League of Nations while it was in existence, and is presently a member of the American Association for the United Nations and the Foreign Policy Association. He is also Vice-Chairman of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee and Chairman of the Bill of Rights Fund. He has testified widely and has published books on philosophy, civil liberties and Soviet affairs. He has taught at Columbia University, Cornell, Harvard and the New School for Social Research, and is now lecturing and writing extensively about the crises in which he believes.

Print Out Now - Benjamin J. Davis
 Commission is responsible for the legal defense of all persons arrested under the Communist action provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950. The McCarran Act distributes information on these cases as a public service and as a means of urging legislation which must be proven unconstitutional clause by clause in the higher courts. In addition to this brochure which reaches one year cases under the passport provision of the Act, more others are available for distribution.

• Don Davis on the McCarran Act of the National Law Forum, the report of an address made by Mr. Davis in April 1952.

• Free Americans from the McCarran Act Danger by Don Davis.
 • The Bill of Rights Endangered: The Story of Ten Americans Fighting to Preserve Freedom.

The first two brochures may be ordered for $2 each 25 for $1 at the express below. The third is available without charge in detail on the basis of the many terrifying, earth-shaking stories of the many thousands of Americans who have been arrested under the Communist action clause of the McCarran Act. Your contribution of $1.00 will help to further the Commission's efforts on behalf of all American citizens who are presently arrested.
