GENERAL FIRST AID DIRECTIONS

WOUNDS are easily infected, but hazards may be reduced if the following suggestions are observed: (1) Do not touch with hands or non-sterile material. (2) Do not wash with soap and water. (3) If greasy - cleanse with rubbing alcohol. (4) If greasy - use naphtha, benzine, turpentine, kerosene or ether. CAUTION: Do not use motor fuel or Ethyl gasoline. (5) Apply 2% Iodine, or similar sterilizing agent, let dry, then cover with sterile gauze dressing.

FRACTURES can generally be distinguished from sprains by the following: (1) Pain and tenderness. (2) Partial or complete loss of use. (3) Deformity may be pronounced or very slight. (4) Swelling and discoloration - frequently not present for several hours. (5) Sense of grating with motion. (6) In compound fractures, bone may or may not protrude through skin wound. CAUTION: If fracture is suspected, handle with extreme care, as large nerves and blood vessels run close to bones and may be cut by sharp edges. Always splint before moving.

BLEEDING should be checked as rapidly as possible. Loosen clothing and keep person warm with external heat. Give no stimulant until bleeding can be checked. CAUTION: Tourniquets, when applied, should be loosened for short intervals every 15 minutes.

SNAKE BITES: Cut X about 1/4 inch deep where fangs entered flesh so that poison may be washed away by bleeding. Apply tourniquet between wound and heart, 4 to 6 inches from wound. CAUTION: Do not give any stimulants.

DOG AND ANIMAL BITES: Wash with soap and water, and rush to doctor. Do not bandage or bind.

BURNS AND SCALDS: Cut clothing away without tearing or pulling. Do not try to remove clothing or dirt stuck to burned area. Apply warm baking soda solution (2 to 3 heaping tablespoons to 1 quart warm water) or Epsom salts. Never use iodine on burns. Cover burn with gauze compress, bandage lightly and wrap victim in blankets.

ACID BURNS: Wash liberally with water until chemical is removed, then treat as other burns.
