Marina's Mate Asks Beer Retailer Permit

A court hearing has been set for Sept. 27 on an application for a wine and beer retailer's permit by Kenneth Jess Porter, husband of the former Marina Oswald.

The application, filed Tuesday in County Judge Lew Sterrett's office, says Porter plans to operate Ken's Grill and Bar, 3230 Knox

Porter, 28, who married the widow of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, lists his wife's name as Marina N. Porter, 25, in the application.

THE HEARING will be held at 9 a.m. Sept. 27 in Commissioners Court. Representatives from the district attorney's office, the Texas Liquor Control Board, the police department vice squad and the city attorney's office will question Porter about his application.

Porter, who listed his address on the application as 1249 Donna in Richardson, says on the application that he has been unemployed since leaving his job at Texas Instruments in June.

He lists as character references a liquor store operator, a neighbor in Richardson and a Texas Instruments employee.

THE APPLICATION says Porter's only arrest was when "my wife and I had an argument in September, 1965." The charge was dismissed, he said.

A few months ago Porter and his Russian-born wife moved to Greenville.

Porter and the former Mrs. Oswald were married in June of 1965. Mrs. Porter gave birth to their first child last July. She has two children by her marriage to Oswald.

Porter Gets Go-Ahead on Bar License

Kenneth Jess Porter was given permission this week to pick up a wine and beer license for his proposed bar and grill.

County Judge W. L. Sterrett said Dallas police withdrew their protest of the license after Porter assured them that his wife, the former Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald, has no interest in the venture.

"If there is no protest, he can pay any time he wants to," said Judge Sterrett.

A license hearing was postponed Tuesday when the vice squad of the Special Service Bureau pointed out that an alien cannot hold a beer license. Mrs. Porter was born in Russia.

Porter signed an affidavit stating that he will be the sole operator of Ken's Grill and Bar, 3230 Knox. A police department spokesman said he also agreed that the license will be canceled in the event of Porter's death.

10 Years Later

Marina Guards Quiet New Life

PRESTON MCGRAW RICHARDSON, Texas (UPI)—The remarried widow of the man who shot President John F. Kennedy is still as shy and uncommunicative as she was nearly a decade ago when the assassination thrust her into the world spotlight.

"I'm sick but that's not for publication," Marina Oswald Porter said during a telephone call to her modest home in this Dallas suburb. "I don't want to give you any information. Goodbye."

Mrs. Porter, 32, did sound as though she had a bad cold. Despite that, there was a noticeable change in her speech—now almost without an accent.

When Lee Harvey Oswald gunned down Kennedy from a sixth floor window of the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, Marina spoke only Russian. She had been a pharmacist in Russia when she married Oswald two years before the assassination.

Mrs. Porter and her second husband, Kenneth Jess Porter, 35, live in a red brick home with a shingle roof in Richardson. There are trees in the yard and the lawn is greening under the spring sunshine.

She has three children—daughters June, 11, and Rachel, 9, by Oswald, and a son, Mark, 7, by Porter.

Apparently she does not mix well. People in Richardson know little or nothing about her.

A woman who exchanges greetings frequently with her at a supermarket said she is a domestic type "who makes a lot of her own clothes and likes for her children to chew sugarless gum."

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled recently in New Orleans that the American government must pay her $17,729 for some 500 small personal articles that belonged to Oswald. The items have been placed permanently in the U.S. Archives.

MOST highly valued of the articles was Oswald's diary, valued at $5,000.

In the diary, Oswald tells how he married Marina Pruskova "to hurt Ella." Ella (family name unknown) was a Russian girl who spurned Oswald. Oswald lived in Russia from January, 1950, until May, 1952, after his discharge from the Marine Corps.

Marina married Porter, a twice divorced electronics technician, in 1955. Shortly after the marriage Porter went into business as the operator of a bar. That did not work out, and at last report, he was repairing sewing machines.

Except for one incident about six months after the marriage, the Porters have not had any marital problems that attracted public attention.

In November, 1965, the bride went to Justice of the Peace Bill Richburg and complained.

"We got into an argument today. He slapped me in the face and tried to get me to put the children outside so he could be alone with the gun he carried. I am afraid he might try to do me bodily harm."

Richburg put Porter under $1,500 peace bond. Porter returned to Marina and no further incidents have been reported.

Mrs. Porter has been able to supplement her second husband's income with some other windfalls that resulted from Oswald's infamy. Before she married Porter, sympathetic Americans had sent her about $60,000.

WITH a collaborator, she subsequently wrote a book that apparently did not sell well. She sold her rights to the rifle her husband used to kill Kennedy and the pistol with which he killed a policeman, to a collector for $11,350.

The government has the rifle and pistol and is expected to keep them.

Erich F. Klein Jr., her lawyer, said she has not gotten the $17,729 the U.S. Circuit Court awarded her. He said of her:

"She is a shy thing. I don't get to talk to her but once in every three years maybe."

The only real interview Mrs. Porter has ever given was for money. It was with Redbook magazine, which published the interview in August, 1970.

"I am doing this for money," the interview quoted her. "I don't need publicity. I'm not a movie star. I don't like publicity. It has done me nothing but harm."

In the interview, Mrs. Porter said that when her daughter June was in the second grade, the class studied the life of President Kennedy. During a discussion, June volunteered, "My first daddy killed him."

"She (June) said it just as a fact, you know," Mrs. Porter was quoted. "Something she knew and should perhaps tell."

SHE SAID she was afraid that if she did not tell June before she started school that her father had killed the President, somebody else would.

"The first week Junie went to school, I talked to her about it," Mrs. Porter said. "I have to open my mouth because I am afraid if somebody tells her before me, she will be hurt more."

"Oh, it was the hardest thing. We cried a little. Then she asked some questions, and I answered, so that she won't have the wrong feelings."

She said she loved Oswald when she married him.

"His mind became sick. I do not know if it was politics," she said.

She said she gets homesick for Russia but believes the United States to be the best country in the world.

"There is too much democracy here," she said. "The people want too much. They want too much to be given. We have this freedom of speech, so we ask for everything. People do not appreciate what they have. The people who protest that America is no good, they should be sent for one year to Russia to work.

"Then they would be glad to come back; they would love it. Everything in it. No country in the world is perfect, the way they expect America to be. Every country has its faults and problems. Look at the best ones there are. You know the best country in the world? Here, the United States."
