following information:

He was a member of the Sovereign Club and he also visited the Silver Spur club when that was in operation. He has known RUBY since 1948, at which time he was employed selling time for radio station KLIF in Dallas and was also operating a small dance band. He was hired one night by RUBY to play in the Silver Spur when RUBY had first arrived in Dallas from Chicago. He recalls that RUBY did not have the money to pay him and his band, and as a result, he sold all of the beer and fixtures in the Silver Spur to pay him. Since that time, he has seen RUBY at the radio station where RUBY would sometimes hang around and would even go on some radio calls with the reporters. He would also see RUBY from time to time at the Merchants State Bank where they both did their banking. RUBY asked him to join the Sovereign Club, and he did join as a favor to RUBY.  contacted relative to locating the hypnotist by the name of SHELLEY MYERS. After Dr. MIROWITZ furnished the address of MYERS, he advised that he had been acquainted with RUBY.

Dr. MIROWITZ advised that he is a psychologist and uses the art of hypnotism in partial cures of many of his patients.

He stated he knew JACK RUBY socially, as both were of the same faith, which apparently caused them to gravitate together. He was of the opinion JACK RUBY was a very fine man and was quite surprised to hear through the various news media about RUBY being involved in the shooting of LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

He stated that to his knowledge, RUBY did not know OSWALD and he has no information of any conspiracy that may have existed between RUBY and OSWALD; RUBY and the Dallas Police; nor has he any information as to how RUBY may have entered the Dallas Police Department Building. He personally had never heard of OSWALD until reading of him in the news media.

Dr. MIROWITZ added that he has volunteered his services to the United States Attorney in Dallas in that he felt that hypnosis could certainly answer a lot of questions concerning any conspiracy upon the part of RUBY and others in this matter; however, he has received no reply from the United States Attorney.

DAN MURDOCH

December 20, 1963

DON M. MURDOCH, 7325 Syracuse, Dallas, Texas, was advised the following was found in a book which was the property of JACK RUBY:

*MURDO, Inc. (DON M. MURDOCH) or (DAN)
DALLAS, TEX.

MURDOCH advised the above is undoubtedly his name and the firm he was formerly associated with in Dallas. He said he first met JACK RUBY in approximately 1960 when RUBY was soliciting membership to his Sovereign Club (later named Carousel Club) in Dallas. He joined the club at that time. MURDOCH stated he was president and principal stockholder of MURDO, INC., a land development firm in Dallas, now defunct, in 1960 and he does not recall whether his membership card to the Sovereign Club was in the name of Murdo, Inc., or in his name or in both names. Subsequently, he visited the Sovereign, Carousel and Vegas Clubs in Dallas a number of times and on most occasions talked with RUBY. He had no other contact with RUBY and no social relationship with him whatsoever. He added that he never had any business contacts with RUBY for Murdo, Inc., or any other firm. He last saw RUBY in the summer of 1963.

MURDOCH related that RUBY impressed him as being a very friendly person who would help anyone in need. He was a nervous person who never seemed to relax for a moment. His conversations pertained primarily to his night club business and he never discussed politics. He occasionally saw RUBY lose his temper when a customer in his club misbehaved in some way, after which RUBY would ask the customer to leave. He never saw RUBY in a violent state, however, MURDOCH added that RUBY operated a "clean," legitimate business.

MURDOCH knew none of RUBY's close friends or acquaintances, and he did not know if RUBY had any "contacts" on the Dallas Police Department.

He had no idea how RUBY gained entrance to Dallas City Hall on November 24, 1963. He believed RUBY was very disturbed over the assassination of former President KENNEDY and saw an opportunity to eliminate LEE HARVEY OSWALD after gaining entrance to the basement of City Hall. MURDOCH had no idea how RUBY gained entrance to City Hall on the morning RUBY shot OSWALD. He also believed RUBY actually felt he was doing a "right" by eliminating a "wrong."

JACK RUBY, according to Doctor M. L. GLICKFIELD, Fort Worth, advised as follows:

He is owner of the Chez Femme Wig Salon, 4328 Lovers Lane, Dallas. He first met JACK RUBY in approximately 1961 when he came to Dallas from his residence in Miami, Florida, while looking for a business to establish in Dallas. He met RUBY at the Vegas Club. On a few subsequent trips prior to about October, 1962, when he permanently moved to Dallas, he occasionally saw RUBY at intermittent periods, usually at the Carousel Club or Vegas Club. During that period, he frequented both clubs when he came to Dallas.

He has had practically no close associations with RUBY except at RUBY's night clubs. At one time, RUBY offered him a job helping run the Carousel Club since he, NELSON, seemed to get along so well with the girl entertainers. He declined to accept RUBY's offer.

He has only seen RUBY about twice since he, NELSON, was married in August, 1963.

He sells hair pieces to some of the girl entertainers that work at RUBY's clubs.

He advised that he first met JACK RUBY sometime around 1957, when he was the owner and publisher of a local magazine named "Preview of Dallas." He went on to say that individuals who had published this magazine prior to himself had contacted JACK RUBY and RUBY had rented a section of the magazine for purposes of advertisement. He could not recall the exact circumstances of this contact and did not know whether RUBY had actually paid him or not.

He could remember that JACK RUBY had approached him concerning a membership with the Sovereign Club and stated that he joined the club back a few years ago. Mr. OLESKY stated that he had never visited the club and could not recall ever having any conversations with RUBY at any time. His association with RUBY back in 1957 was strictly that of business, and for this reason could offer no information as to RUBY's background, friends, or associates.

Mr. SAMUEL SCHWARTZ, 133 North Yarmouth Avenue, advised he is the Vice President and Sales Manager of the Embassy Manufacturing Company, 1919 West Oxford Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He advised his company makes metal stampings for the lighting fixture industry and in his capacity he travels all over the United States. He stated he contacts the General Lighting Company, Kirschner Company and the Columbia Lighting Company in Dallas, Texas. TEX.

Mr. SCHWARTZ related that on one of his trips to Dallas, about ten or twelve years ago, he was staying at the Baker Hotel and was watching a television boxing match at the hotel and at that time JACK RUBY was also at the hotel watching the fight. During the fight they began talking together and later that night they went out to dinner together.

Mr. SCHWARTZ advised that RUBY seemed to be a high-caliber type of individual so he called RUBY the next time he was in Dallas and spent some time with him. SCHWARTZ stated from that time on, he would call RUBY whenever he was in Dallas and they would visit together or go out to supper together. SCHWARTZ stated he has not seen RUBY for over a year since he has not been in Dallas for over a year. He advised he was in Dallas about every six months.

He related that RUBY had mentioned he was from Chicago and had talked about going to Chicago for a visit and at one time, he, SCHWARTZ, had given RUBY his home address in Philadelphia so RUBY could contact him in the event RUBY came to Philadelphia. Mr. SCHWARTZ stated he could not recall when this incident had taken place but did know that it had been several years ago. He added that RUBY had never visited at the SCHWARTZ home and had never contacted him in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

SCHWARTZ related as a rule he would arrive in Dallas, Texas, on a Friday night, spend the weekend in Dallas and call on his business contacts on Monday or Tuesday. During this period of time, he stated he might see RUBY once or twice, and they would meet at the hotel and go out for dinner. SCHWARTZ also stated that he had been at RUBY's clubs, the Vegas and the Carousel, to visit RUBY but added that these clubs were not to his liking and therefore did not frequent these clubs other than to call on RUBY.

SCHWARTZ related it was his opinion that RUBY did not like the night club business, and he, SCHWARTZ, always felt that RUBY wanted to be a business man and was looking for status in the community. SCHWARTZ stated it was his impression that RUBY thought he could learn something about the business field from SCHWARTZ and that was one reason he, RUBY, liked to associate with him. He added that RUBY very seldom discussed business with him; however, at one time he did mention that he was contemplating going into the hot dog machine business. He stated apparently this business did not come into being.

Mr. SCHWARTZ advised that he makes it a practice not to enter into discussions revolving around politics or religion; however, he stated it has been his experience that anyone who had strong feelings in these matters will make his feelings known and will discuss these fields voluntarily.

Mr. SCHWARTZ added that he could not recall RUBY ever entering into any discussion concerning politics.

He stated RUBY had never discussed President KENNEDY or any political systems, and it was his, SCHWARTZ's, opinion that RUBY had no strong political views.

SCHWARTZ related that RUBY seemed to be well known in Dallas and the acquaintances of RUBY whom he met all seemed to be very highly respected people. He recalled one night RUBY invited him to dinner at the 3225 Club in Dallas, which he described as a very elite club, and while there, RUBY introduced him to GREER GARSON and her husband.
