$52-4-7- 1.			grafia State Baran and State S
0-19 (Re	v. 1-30,74)		Assoc. Dir.
		 	Dep. AD Adm.
			Dep. AD Inv.
			Asst. Dires
			Admin.
			Comp. Syst.
			Ext. Alfoirs
		Parket Programme (1997) (1997) (1997) (1998) (1997) (1997) (1997) (1997) (1997) (1997) (1997) (1997) (1997) (1 Carlos Carlos Carlo Carlos Carlos Carl	Files & Com.
			Gen. Inv.
· /			Ident.
			Inspection
41			Laboratory
			Plan. & Evel
			Spec. Inv.
	हिंदि है जिसे कि कराये हैं है जिसके हैं है जिसके हैं है जिसके हैं जिसके के लिए कि है कि कि कर है जा है है जिसक जिसे हैं के कि		Training
			Legal Coun.
			Telephone Rm.
	ran Perent Harris de la companya de la Calabara de Esta de la companya de la companya de la Calabara	ित्र होते होत्रिया प्रश्लिक स्थान क्षेत्र कर्णा कर्णा विकास होता है। अनुस्थित क्षेत्र कर्णा कर तक क्षेत्र किता विकास कर्णा कर	Director Sec'y
Agent Comme
	Old Impact	U ID2
	Did Impost	er use ID?	\sim
	1 Hoover Ma	oma Daisas 1	MIN
	. 1 PS(REDVE-19/05
57.50	1 BEODACE LATA		I' A VAI
	·	1
	·	e on Oswald
	New Wrinkle	e on Oswald	Tahn F.
	New Wrinkle By Ben A. Franklin	e on Oswald ined the assassination of President - Konnedy and determined that Os-	Tahn F.
	New Wrink! By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service	ined the assassination of President Skennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassin.	Jahn F.
	Dew Wrink! By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J.Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Depart-	ined the assassination of President - Kennedy and determined that Os- wald, acting alone, was the assassin. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could	Jahn F.
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an	ined the assassination of President - Kennedy and determined that Os- wald, acting alone, was the assassin. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data	Talu F.
	Dew Wrink! By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J.Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Depart-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Squitt Union or allowhere came
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Squitt Union or allowhere came	5-10/116-A
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassin. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassin. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication	62-101168-A NOT RECORDED
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and	62-101068-A
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be	62-101168-A NOT RECORDED
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J.Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined.	42-101148-A NOT RECORDED 1:0 AUG 4 1975
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Depart- ment raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the creden- tials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be	NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED The Washington Post
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which exam-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined. See OSWALD. A-8	NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED AUG 4 1975 The Washington Post Washington Star-News
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which exam-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined. See OSWALD, A-8	NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED AUG 4 1975 The Washington Post Washington Star-News Daily News (New York)
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which exam-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined. See OSWALD, A-8	NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED AUG 4 1975 The Washington Post Washington Star-News Daily News (New York) The New York Times
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which exam-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined. See OSWALD, A-8	NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED AUG 4 1975 The Washington Post Washington Star-News Daily News (New York)
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J.Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which exam-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined. See OSWALD, A-8	NOT RECORDED NOT RECORDED AUG 4 1975 The Washington Post Washington Star-News Daily News (New York) The New York Times The Wall Street Journal
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J. Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which exam-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined. See OSWALD, A-8	NOT RECORDED AUG 4 1975 The Washington Post Washington Star-News Daily News (New York) The New York Times The Wall Street Journal The National Observer
	By Ben A. Franklin New York Times News Service J.Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union. This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which exam-	ined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassim. The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined. See OSWALD, A-8	NOT RECORDED AUG 4 1975 The Washington Post Washington Star-News Daily News (New York) The New York Times The Wall Street Journal The National Observer

$ & AUG € 1375

Continued From A-1 BODY of the man cluded had shot the president-and who was shot to death by Jack Ruby two days later-was identified by his mother and other relatives and also by finger-prints and other physical features as that of Lee Harvey Oswald.

But the apparent with-holding of information from commission investigators responsible for checking Oswald's activities in foreign countries supported a theory of some critics of the commission's final report that the panel had come to its conclusion regarding Oswald without having had all the facts. .

A spokesman for the FBI said, in response to ques-tions, that "we can definitely state, without hesitation, that a copy of the Hoover mamo was shown to a mendber of the Warren Commission staff in the presence of an FBI agent. However, the spokesman said that he could not identify the commission staff member to whom the memo reportedly had been shown. Neither J. Lee Rankin, the former general counsel of the commission, nor any of his former staff aides who were most involved in investigating Oswald's background. said they could remember seeing it lebate with my old s." Willens said I know that there was discussion of this among others on the staff concerned with the activities of Oswald abroad. I am concerned with continued public references to the notion that the commission overlooked obvious facts.

· However, Howard P. Willens, now a private lawyer here; identified himself in an interview yesterday as the commission lawyer who had reviewed the FBI file. Willens, who was then the commission's special liaison officer to the Justice Department, said that "while I do not think that anyone can state now with the necessary precision whether or not he saw the Hopver mem, it is my best recollection that I did, in fact, see that memo."

Shown the FBI memos and the two State Department documents- discovered in the National Archites here by a private researcher- W. David Slawson, a lawyer who checked out rumors about Osyald for the commission in 1964, said he thought the assassination inquiry should be reopened.

Slawson, who is now a law professor at the University of Southern California, said he and other investigators had never been shown the memos.

We were the rumor runner-downers, and we certainly should have seen this material, as we did a great deal of other stuff that we showed to be unfound-ed," he said.
"It may be more significant that we did not see it, in terms of a possible cover-up and the reasons for it, than if we had seen it. I mean, I don's know where the impostor notion would have led us - perhaps nowhere, like a lot of other leads. But the point is we didn't know about it. And why not?"

SLAWSON SAID in an interview that the investigation should be reopened also "because the interposition of an impostor, if that happened, is a political

"And after all, this (the assassination) was not just another murder," he said. It was, by definition, a political murder."

Two other commission staff members shared with Slawson the responsibility for checking out rumors. Neither recalled specifically having seen the memos. but they tended to discount any thought of a renewed investigation.

One of them, Dr. Alfred Goldberg, who wrote the gossip-puncturing "specu-lations and rumors" section of the commission's report, said in an interview:

"I don't have any recollection of having seen that Gloover) memorandum. As a matter of fact, I am fairly certain I didn't.

"WHILE I THINK we might have done more had we seen it - we might have engaged in more research. we might have looked for more, we might have asked for more from the State Department and the FBI - in terms of the outcome, I don't believe it would have made any difference."

William T. Coleman Jr., who was Slawson's immediate superior at the commission, and who was nominated last month by President Ford to be secretary of transportation, was asked during an interview whether he had seen the memos.

"It's been 10 years," he said, "and I don't remember one way or the other."

He recalled, however, that his duties "required me to see everything that Oswald had done as a defector to the Soviet Union.

Hoover's memo was dated June 3, 1960. Its contents suggest that the FBI director raised the possibil-ity of an imposter because of certain facts the memo recounts.

IT CITED A Foreign Service dispatch concerning Oswald's declaration in Moscow on Oct. 31, 1959, that he would renounce his citizenship and noted that he had surrendered his passport. .

It also cited a report of an FBI agent in Dallas of May 12, 1960, which said that Oswald's mother, Marguerite K. Oswald, "stated subject had taken his birth certificate with him when he left. home."

The agent's report indicated that Mrs. Oswald was apprehensive about her son's safety because she had written him three letters and they had all been returned to her undelivered. Hoover concluded: "Since there is a possibility that an imposter is using Oswald's birth certificate, any current information the Department of State may have concerning subject will be appreciated."

Two internal State Department memos transmitted Hoover's warning. One. dated June 10, 1960, went to the department's Soviet desk. The other, dated March 31, 1961, was sent from one section of the passport office to another.

THE LATTER MEMO indicated concern that a revalidated passport to be is-sued to Oswald in preparation for his retuin to the United States in June, 1962, not be mailed to him through the Soviet postal system but be delivered to him "only on a personal basis" at the embassy in Moscow. Officials there could then be satisfied that they were dealing with the real Oswald.

The Warren Commission subsequently developed that in July, 1961, Oswald's passport was handed back to the man who Moscow embassy officals were satisfied was the same Oswald they had 3 first met in 1959, when he angrily announced his intention to renounce his citizenship. The State Department had ruled by then that he had not actually given up his citizenship.

Did Impostor Use ID?

Hoover Memo Raises New Wrinkle on Oswald

By Ben A. Franklin
New York Times News Service

J.Edgar Hoover in 1960 sent a memorandum to the State Department raising the possibility that an impostor might be using the credentials of an American defector named Lee Harvey Oswald, who was then in the Soviet Union.

This memo from the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and two subsequent State Department memos related to it were apparently not shown to key investigators of the Warren Commission, which examined the assassination of President Kennedy and determined that Oswald, acting alone, was the assassin.

The late Hoover's warning of the "possibility" that an impostor could be using Oswald's identification data in the Soviet Union or elsewhere came more than two years before the murder of the American president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The impostor theory was rejected, by implication but not directly, in the published report of the Warren Commission, and it's significance could not be determined.

THE BODY of the man. who the commission concluded had shot the president-and who was shot to death by Jack Ruby two days later-was identified by his mother and other relatives and also by fingerprints and other physical features as that of Lee Harvey Oswald.

But the apparent with-holding of information from commission investigators responsible for checking Oswald's activities in foreign countries supported a theory of some critics of the commission's final report that the panel had come to its conclusion regarding Oswald without having had all the facts.

A spokesman for the FBI salu, in response to questions, that "we can definitely state, without hesitation, that a copy of the Hoover memo was shown to a member of the Warren Commission staff in the presence of an FBI agent." However, However. the spokesman said that he could not identify the commission staff member to whom the memo reportedly had been shown. Neither J. Lee Rankin, the former general counsel of the commission, nor any of his former staff aides who were most involved in investigating Oswald's background, said they could remember seeing it.

However, Howard P. Willens, now a private lawyer here, identified himself in an interview yesterday as the commission lawyer who had reviewed the FBI file. Willens, who was then the commission's special liaison officer to the Justice Department, said that "while I do not think that anyone can state now with the necessary precision whether or not he saw the Hoover memo, it is my best recollection that I did, in fact, see that memo."

"I DO NOT WANT to be in a public debate with my old colleagues," Willens said, but I know that there was discussion of this among others on the staff concerned with the activities of Oswald abroad. I am concerned with continued public references to the notion that the commission overlooked obvious facts.

Snown the FBI memos

and the two State Department documents- discovered in the National Archives here by a private researcher— W. David Slawson, a lawyer who checked out rumors about Oswald for the commission in 1964, said he thought the assassination inquiry should be reopened.

Slawson, who is now a law: professor at the University of Southern California, said he and other investigators had never been shown the memos.

"We were the rumor runner-downers, and we certainly should have seen this material, as we did a great deal of other stuff that we showed to be unfounded," he said.

Telephone Rm.

Director Sec'y

		《解》 这
1.1.	SSACSIA	UTION) A C
ORe.	e da of	JOHN	E KONNEL
4-2-711	Washington F	ost	- NEW YORK

Washington Star-News. Daily News (New York) The New York Times The Wall Street Journal The National Observer _ The Los Angeles Times

"It may be more signifi-cant that we did not see it, in terms of a possible cover-up and the reasons for it, than if we had seen it. I mean, I don't know where the impostor notion would have ied us - perhaps nowhere. like a lot of other leads. But the point is we didn't know about it. And why not?"

LAWSON SAID in an interview that the investigation should be reopened also "because the interposi-tion of an impostor, if that happened, is a political act."

"And after all, this (the assassination) was not just another murder," he said. "It was, by definition, a political murder."

Two other commission staff members shared with Slawson the responsibility for checking out rumors. Neither recalled specifically having seen the memos, but they tended to discount any thought of a renewed investigation.

One of them, Dr. Alfred Goldberg, who wrote the gossip-puncturing "speculations and rumors" section of the commission's report, said in an interview:

"I don't have any recol-lection of having seen that (Hoover) memorandum. As a matter of fact, I am fairly certain I didn't.

"WHILE I THINK we might have done more had we seen it - we might have engaged in more research, we might have looked for more, we might have asked for more from the State Department and the FBI - in terms of the outcome, I don't believe it would have made any difference."

William T. Coleman Jr., who was Slawson's immediate superior at the commis--sion, and who was nominated last month by President Ford to be secretary of transportation, was asked during an interview whether he had seen the memos.

"It's been 10 years," he said, "and I don't remember one way or the other."

He recalled, however, that his duties "required me to see everything that Oswald had done as a defector to the Soviet Union.

Hoover's memo was dated June 3, 1960. Its contents suggest that the FBI director raised the possibil-ity of an imposter because of certain facts the memorecounts.

IT CITED A Foreign Service dispatch concerning Oswald's declaration in Moscow on Oct. 31, 1959, that he would renounce his citizenship and noted that he had surrendered his passport.

It also cited a report of an FBI agent in Dallas of May 12, 1960, which said that Oswald's mother, Marguerite K. Oswald, "stated subject had taken his birth certificate with him when he left home."

The agent's report indicated that Mrs. Oswald was apprehensive about her son's safety because she had written him three letters and they had all been returned to her undelivered.

Hoover concluded "Since there is a possibility that an imposter is using Oswald's birth certificate, any current information the Department of State may have concerning subject will be appreciated."

Two internal State Department memos transmitted Hoover's warning. One,dated June 10, 1960, went to the department's Soviet desk. The other, dated March 31, 1961, was sent from one section of the pateport office to another. y President Passport office to another uon research, round the

Indicated concern that a revalidated passport to be istion for his return to the United States in June, 1962, not be mailed to him through the Soviet postal system but be delivered to him "only on a personal basis" at the embassy in Moscow Officials there could then be satisfied that they were dealing with the real Oswald.

The Warren Commission subsequently developed that subsequently developed that in July, 1961, Oswald's passport was handed back to the man who Moscow embassy officals were satisfied was the same Oswald they had first met in 1959, when he officals were satisfied was the same Oswald they had first met in 1959, when he angrily announced his intention to renounce his citizenship. The State Department had ruled by then that he had not actually given up his citizenship.

None of these documents — not the Hoover memò or either of the State Department memos — was in the department's Oswald file as it was given to the Warren Commission in 1964, according to Slawson.

He said commission lawyers, interested in any marginal notes scribbled on duplicate cepies of the documents retained by department officials, had asked for a second set. This, duplicate copies of the docu-ments retained by department officials, had asked for a second set. This, too, did not have the memos, he said.

AFTER THE COMMIS-AFTER THE CUMMIS-SION published its report, thousands of pages of unpublished commission records were declassified by the State Department and placed on public file in the National Archives.

Among them J. G. Harris, a 45-year-old New Yorker who has spent nearly a decade in Kennedy assassina-tion research, found the be missing from the State Department's Oswald file given to the commission but included in the same file placed in the Archives re-mains unclear.

At the State Department, a spokesman said there would be no comment because all former officials who might have knowledge. of the Oswald file had died of the Oswald Ille nan dien :