Gentlemen:

From observation of the slow motion pictures of the murder of Oswald, it looks very much like a staged crime. I now feel, God forgive them, that some others from this fair state that spawned our new President could have been involved in the murder of our President, Kennedy, and may have been afraid that Oswald would implicate these others. Then too -- is it asking too much to expect that the F. B. I. or our so-called undercover men should have been present to observe what would happen to Oswald in view of the magnitude of the crime or were they afraid to offend our new president

The F. B. I. has lost the confidence of the nation and the final blow was the murder of Oswald before he might have implicated others in the murder of our beloved president. I also intend to write this identical letter to the New York Times editor.

Disillusionedly yours,
