ENCLOSURE

Details of a vivid vision of President Kennedy that was by a sniper with a rifle in Texas were called by Mrs. Helen Greenwood, Greenwood's wife who was a SIBYRINE, representative of the Mrs. Greenwood said she had only one other family that were to actually happened but several months ago she had dreams to do for our President to go south, and tried in vain to get the warnings through to Kennedy. Gov.
 Brown and other high officials said she talked with Senator Hubert H. H. August and asked him to urge the President not to go into the South, that it would be dangerous and probably fatal.
 Mrs. Greenwood said she had talked to Congressman James F. Roosevelt and Gov.
 Brown's secretary to give the warning to them.
 She said Kennedy was destined to die, and he did not believe him in the carnage of the vision she had, and this which could not have been had been shot down with it was in Texas and a

 of St. Louis, Mo.
 Mrs. Greenwood said
 I saw this vision about two months ago and I told Gov. Brown about it and that I had Kennedy's head to go down South.
 I had this vision in the night and urged him not to go to Dallas, I told him to get medical aid at Christopher and St. Michaels for him and his brother if he went all the time, the Dallas Catholic and St. Michaels both medical hospitals were there at the time he was shot down on the road from the South about my vision and that I had told him that I had his brother Robert's name in all the newspapers and that I would tell you that I could make it and that I had forewarned JFK's life.

I had told the previously that Kennedy was going to be shot down and I had personal things which would come from the vision of his own death, the
 of an NAACP leader in Dallas, Texas, before even was killed, I told him that I had forewarned Greenwood's prediction that Kennedy would be shot down in Dallas, Texas, was correct, she said. Greenwood's prediction
