Dear Sir:

There have been numerous ideas advanced as to a fitting memorial for the late President Kennedy. I think that naming a day in his honor would be most fitting.

How about April 17th? It is the anniversary of the great betrayal of the heroes of the Bay of Pigs invasion of Bolshevik Cuba; a fitting date on which to remember this loathsome character.

I strongly urge that you take steps to introduce legislation which would bring this idea to fruition.

Yours truly,

Harvey Cramhorn
