that he applied for Soviet citizenship by letter to the Supreme Soviet on October 16 in Hoscow. He stated that he did not mention his intent to remain in the Soviet Union to the Soviet Embassy in Helsinki at the time of his visa application.

Throughout the interview Oscald's minner was aggressive, arrogent, and monoperative. He appeared to be competent. He insisted that he did not wish to waste time in discussion or answering questions concoming his "personal" affairs beyond what was directly related to divesting himself of his American effairs beyond what was directly related to divesting himself of his American effairs. He was contemptatus of any efforts by the interviewing officer in this interest, made clear that he wanted no advice from the Embassy. He stated that he knew the provisions of U. S. law on loss of citizenship and declined to have then reviewed by the interviewing officer. In short he displayed all the airs of a new sophorore party-liner.

Oscald gave as the "principal reason" for his decision that "I am a markist", but declined any further elaboration of his motiles. However, other remarks bearing on his attitude were made during the interview. At one point he alluded to hardships endured by his mother as a "worker" and stated that he did not intend to have this happen to him. He also referred to himself several times as a "worker", but admitted that he had never held a civilian job, having entered the Karine Corps directly from junior year of high school. (He claimed to have completed high school while in service.) He stated that his service in Odinawa and elsewhere "gave no a chance to observe "marrican imperialization." At another point he reacted sensitively when asked, in commection with his rank in the Karine Corps, whether he felt he should have had a higher grade.

Oscald categorically refused to discuss his family beyond stating that he was not murried and that he has a mother in Texas. He had obliterated the address written on the inside cover of his persport and steadfastly refused to give any last home address until it was elicited by the "threat" that nothing could be done about his request to renounce his citizenship without this moderation. After giving the address moted above, he then confirmed that it was his mother's address. He would not say whether he had informed his mother and rebuffed any suggestion of concern for here.

Oswald offered the information that he had been a radar operator in the Marine Corps and that he had voluntarily stated to unnamed Soviet officials that as a Soviet citizen he would make known to them such information concerning the Marine Corps and his speciality as he possessed. Be intimated that he might know something of special interest.

Oswald is presently residing in Ecn-tourist status at the Metropole Hotel in Moscow avaiting the Soviet response to his application for citizenship. As his Soviet visa and militia registration expired on October 22, 1959, and have not been removed, he is patchfly in a technically illegal residence status with the tacit consent of the Soviet authorities.

For that significance it may have, the foregoing was also the pattern in the Micheles PETEULLI case (car I impatch 111, September 11, 1959). Having evidently concluded, after allowing Petrulli to lenguish "illegally" in a local botel for a month, that he was no asset as a Soviet citizen, the Soviets suddenly invited him to depart, pointing out that he had "overstayed" his visa.

In view of the Petrulli case and other considerations, the Debassy proposes to delay action on Ourild's request to execute an eath of remunciation to the extent dictated by developments and subject to the Department's advice.
