On August 21, 1966, a report that I had written concerning the activities of Leslie Bradley - and of a conversation with him on November 24, 1963 - was given to Mr. Gunn of the Houston office of the FBI. Since that report was turned in, there have been several additional items that I have recalled.

1. Bradley said that he had been a Cuban prisoner at the time of the Bay of Pigs invasion. At that time the prisoners were informed that, if the invasion was successful, it wouldn't do them any good because the prison compound was dynamited and would be blown up.

2. I asked him how he had been making a living since being released from the Cuban prison and he replied that it was pretty rough but that Clay Shaw of the International House was "helping us". He never did clarify who "us" were, but I assumed that he meant the released prisoners. I distinctly recall that I was impressed with the philanthropic activities of this prominent citizen who took the time and trouble to assist these victims of Castro. There was no further discussion on the manner in which Mr. Shaw was helping.

3. I recall that when Bradley said that he had come from Dallas by bus, I made <sup>A</sup> some remark concerning how horrible the president's assassination had been. He made some comment which I do not exactly recall, but it was to the effect that every man comes to an end someday. With that, he went on to tell about his life as a Cuban prisoner.
