ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION
RE: [REDACTED]
JANUARY 23, 1968
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] San Diego, California, is interviewed at her place of employment, the Livestock and Poultry Inspection Unit, Riverside, California, where she has worked for Morris Industries, Inc., as clerk since October 3, 1966. [REDACTED] will be 40 years of age on January 14, 1968.

[REDACTED] furnished information as follows:

COPIES DESTROYED

21 JAN 16 1973

"Mr. Mc Callum took me to dinner at one of the nicer cafeterias located on Colorado Boulevard.

"Mr. Mc Callum was employed in Dallas, Texas, by some chemical firm, name unknown, in a capacity unknown to me. His interest in music included development of some type of percussion instrument and although I am not certain of this, it is possible that he even obtained some patents in connection with his work in this area.

"Through Mr. Lacy, prior to the above meeting, I had learned that Mr. Mc Callum had, at one time, been shot at, in connection with a possible, or actual, return of land from the United States to Mexico. This land was returned, or was to have been returned, to Mexico during the Kennedy administration or as a result of agreement between the United States and Mexico made during the Kennedy administration. I can recall that Mr. Lacy received a letter from Mr. Mc Callum about this which possibly included a newspaper clipping.

"Mr. Mc Callum appeared to be in his mid-fifties and there was a considerable gap in our ages. As a consequence, our conversation at dinner was very polite and formal. I cannot now recall how our conversation turned to politics. It is possible that I made a statement to the effect that it was my understanding from Mr. Lacy that Mr. Mc Callum was interested in politics. Regardless of how the conversation started, at one point in the conversation Mr. Mc Callum, in a rather emphatic way, referred to the Kennedy dynasty; in this connection he did mention the brothers of the President. He referred to this dynasty with obvious distaste. Thereafter he used the expression 'one word' indicating there was only 'one way' to get rid of the Kennedy dynasty. I cannot recall if he then used the word 'assassinate' or some other word in referring to the idea of killing the President. Regardless of the word he used, he did definitely indicate that the only way to stop the Dynasty was to assure the death of the President in some manner followed by the death of his brothers.

"I cannot recall any other specifics relative to the above conversation. I can recall no more exact terminology than I have related above. The conversation in this particular area was of very short duration. No other person or persons known to me were present during the above conversation. As I recall, the conversation actually took place in the lobby of the Huntington Hotel, rather than at the cafeteria, prior to going to the cafeteria. I believe it occurred on a Sunday in either August or September, 1963, just prior to the death of the President.

"After the above meeting, I did not see Mr. Mc Callum again. I do not believe I have seen Mr. Lacy since the above meeting with Mr. Mc Callum. I know I have not discussed the above meeting with Mr. Lacy and he would know nothing about it.

"I have discussed the above generally with several persons since the death of President Kennedy. I have never indicated to anyone that I overheard a telephone conversation between Mr. Mc Callum and Mr. Lacy, or between any two individuals, that Mr. Mc Callum, or anyone was 'sick of the situation' and was going to 'call in' to 'take care of it.' Mr. Mc Callum, in his conversation with me, did not make any statement to indicate he was going to commit an act to eliminate the President or any members of the President's family.

"In his conversation with me, Mr. Mc Callum did not appear, in any manner, to attempt to conceal anything from me. It is possible that he did, in fact indicate "to me the exact nature of his job with the chemical firm by which he was employed.

"In addition, and in recollection, I gathered that when Mr. Mc Callum was shot at, it was not a personal matter; rather, he was connected with some political group, or groups, and I do not know the nature of this affiliation. I have no knowledge of the name or names of this or these groups.

"In referring to the 'Lynasty' I had the feeling, or now have the feeling, that Mr. Mc Callum believed the 'Lynasty' was not yet an effect, but that unless something was done it would become a reality.

"In connection with the elimination of the 'Lynasty'; although Mr. Mc Callum did not make it that he personally was going to make the action that would eliminate the 'Lynasty', he did definitely indicate that some type of specific group action would be necessary to accomplish this.

"Because of the age differential between us, the lack of prior contact and common interests, the feeling that the conversation between Mr. Mc Callum and myself had nothing whatsoever to do with the ultimate death of the President. It appears to me that the timing of the conversation, occurring a few weeks prior to the death of the President, possibly adds weight to the conversation which it does not deserve.

"I have talked to several people about the above conversation, and may have written to an acquaintance about it. My conversations probably have been to let me make up my own mind as to whether I should contact "Federal authorities in the remote event the conversation was, in any way, connected with the death of the President. I have considered bringing this matter to the attention of the Federal Government, particularly in view of the current, conflicting statements about the manner of death of the President appearing in the public press.

"I have read the above nine-page statement. It is true and correct.

"Witness: Donald E. Koo
Special Agent, FBI
Riverbank, Calif.
January 3, 1968"

[REDACTED] described Mr. J. C. CALLUM as a white male adult, in his mid-thirties, with gray hair and medium build. She could state only that he was between five feet six inches and six feet in height, and could make no estimate of his weight.

[REDACTED] was reinterviewed at her garage at the Riverbank Army Ammunition Plant, Riverbank, California, on January 4, 1968, and advised that the name of the individual she referred to as J. C. CALLUM is actually FRANK H. JACOBSON, and that his residence is 1000 [REDACTED] St., [REDACTED] Texas. She produced a copy of a letter dated August 27, 1966, to Mr. JACOBSON, which she stated was from her former co-worker, ELLIOTT LACY. The letter contains details relative to the meeting between [REDACTED] and Mr. JACOBSON, as follows:

"I have made arrangements to have a friend of mine from Caltech (JPL Laboratories), [REDACTED] meet you at the Union Station. [REDACTED] will wait for you at the information desk at the center of the Union Station building...

██████████ will take you to your accommodations in Pasadena. I have provided her with sufficient funds to take you to lunch and dinner, and later to the theater if you so wish.

"As soon as I return from northern California, I shall phone you at your lodgings to arrange our first visit..."
