ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
DALLAS, TEXAS, NOVEMBER 22, 1963

On January 2, 1968, Mr. Floyd A. Chambers advised that he resides and maintains an office on Floyd Road, Richardson, Texas. He stated that he is the owner and manager of the Allied Restoration Company at Richardson, Texas. He also advised that his brother-in-law is Dr. Kermit H. Hunter, who is the Dean of the School of Arts, Southern Methodist University (SMU), Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Chambers stated that on either November 23 or 24, 1963, he was visiting a friend, Mr. Everett R. Jamieson, at his residence which is located just north of Texas Instruments Incorporated near Richardson, Texas. He stated that he and Mr. Jamieson, along with some other friends, were playing poker on that date and at approximately midnight he recalled there was a very loud pounding on Mr. Jamieson's front door. He stated that upon opening the door, he and Mr. Jamieson noticed a very large red-haired individual, possibly a truck driver, who was inquiring as to the location of the home of the superintendent of the "Dallas Book Depository Building". Mr. Chambers went on to state that this individual became rather belligerent inasmuch as Jamieson was unable to help him. Chambers stated that a few days later, he related this unusual incident to Dr. Hunter inasmuch as at that time there was great discussion concerning the assassination of President Kennedy and the Texas School Book Depository Building. He stated, however, that at no time during the evening was any mention made of Lee Harvey Oswald or Jack Ruby, and he merely thought it was strange that the above large individual would be inquiring concerning the superintendent of the Texas School Book Depository.

On January 3, 1968, Mr. Everett R. Jamieson was interviewed at his office, the Jamieson Company, 4447 North Central Expressway, Dallas, Texas. He stated that he resides at 9515 Crestedge Street, Dallas, Texas. Mr. Jamieson stated that on either November 23 or 24, 1963, during the late evening, he was entertaining some friends in a poker game and present at this game was a close friend, Mr. Floyd A. Chambers. Mr. Jamieson went on to state at approximately midnight of that evening, an extremely loud pounding occurred at his front door. He stated upon answering the front door he observed an extremely large individual with red hair, whom he described as a white male, age approximately 27, height six feet, weight 200 pounds. He stated that this individual appeared to have been drinking and in a very loud voice inquired as to the location of the residence of the superintendent of the "Dallas Book Depository Building". Mr. Jamieson stated that this individual, who did not reveal his name, had some kind of a book in his hand which resembled an invoice booklet. He recalls telling this individual that he did not know the identity or the residence of the superintendent of the above building, at which time the individual became rather belligerent and acted as if he did not believe Jamieson. He stated this individual requested in a very belligerent manner to use his telephone but in view of his inebriated condition and his belligerent manner, he did not permit him to do so and shut the door in his face. Mr. Jamieson stated that since that time he has had no further contact from this individual and he and Mr. Chambers thought it was a coincidence that shortly after the assassination of President Kennedy, someone would be inquiring as to the location of the above superintendent so late at night. He stated that this incident had nothing whatsoever to do with the assassination of President Kennedy or with Lee Harvey Oswald or Jack Ruby as far as he knows.
