██████████, nee ██████████, ██████████, was contacted at her residence, in response to her request and advised of the identity of the interviewing Agent. She, thereafter, furnished the following information:

In July, 1967, ██████████ was living in Denver, Colorado, and at that time met an Air Force Sergeant, whom she only knew as BURT, and dated him for approximately two weeks. This individual was supposedly working on a top secret project, never wore a uniform and worked in civilian clothes. Supposedly, he was attached to the Air Police at Lowry Air Force Base and indicated that he had either connections or employment with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

██████████ advised she dated this individual for approximately two weeks and one morning he called her on the telephone and asked her if she would drive his car to the Texas/Louisiana border, where his brother, ROBERT, who was a manager at a Holiday Inn in New Orleans, would pick up the car. She stated she agreed to do this, and this individual picked her up to take her to work that morning and told her that at 2:00 a.m. the following morning he would drop off his car for her. She questioned him as to what was the problem, and he would only state that he had some problems and that if she did not know anything about it she could not get into trouble. ██████████ stated that this individual then continued to tell her that his true name was CLAY BERTRAND and that the individual by the name of CLAY BERTRAND that the FBI was looking for in New Orleans was not the right CLAY BERTRAND. He stated that this involved the Kennedy assassination and he would furnish no other information concerning it. [REDACTED] advised that BERTRAND did not show up the following morning at 2:00 a.m. to deliver his car to her and he disappeared for approximately one year.

In approximately May or June of 1968, he came to her residence and was acting like a crazy man, stating that he had been operated on by the military and they had put a plate in his head which was buzzing and causing him headaches and other problems. [REDACTED] stated that she was able to get him out of her apartment under the pretext of taking him to a bar close to Lowry Air Force Base, and when she got in that area, she took him directly to Fitzsimmons Hospital. She was met at the hospital by a Colonel, who was also a medical doctor in the psychiatric ward, and this individual thanked her for bringing Bertrand back, in that he had escaped after his operation and was in need of treatment. [REDACTED] did not recall the Colonel's name.

[REDACTED] stated that the following day she telephonically contacted Fitzsimmons Hospital to check on the condition of BERTRAND, and they denied any knowledge of his being in the hospital or of ever being there. She stated she then attempted to locate the Colonel she had turned BERTRAND over to, and the hospital denied ever having this individual employed at the hospital.

[REDACTED] advised that BERTRAND had warned her never to say anything about their association or his true identity and she has been keeping this information to herself since that time, and it has continued to bother her until she decided that it was time to tell someone. [REDACTED] stated she has never seen or heard from BERTRAND since that time and has no idea of his current location.
