[redacted], Arlington, Texas [redacted], appeared at the Ft. Worth Resident Agency of the FBI and furnished a note found inside a bolt of cloth at the Reese B. Davis Company, Forest Park Boulevard at the West Freeway, Ft. Worth, Texas, on March 29, 1972, while he was employed there. [redacted] advised that because of recent publicity concerning the Kennedy Assassination he felt that the note may have some significance, and that was his reason for contacting the FBI at this time. [redacted] went on to explain that the note was between layers of fabric and approximately halfway through the bolt when he found it. He further advised the fabric was being sold by the yard, and the note fell out as the fabric was being unrolled. [redacted] stated that at the time he found the note, he took it home and discussed it with his wife, [redacted] but that neither took it seriously at that time, and he did not consider reporting it to the FBI.

[redacted] stated the note was misplaced, and he did not locate it until a few days ago when he was moving from his residence and found it in some personal papers. [redacted] states he is a missionary with the [redacted] in Ft. Worth, and he is in the process of moving to Monterrey, Mexico. He stated he and his wife were in the process of cleaning their former residence and moving when they found the note.

[redacted] advised that as best he can remember, the bolt of cloth contained the number B-5800 which he made a note of on the reverse side of the note, and he also noted the date as March 29, 1972. [redacted] advised the bolt of cloth was from Seneca Textile Mills which is possibly located in South Carolina. He described the material as sheer dacron in an off white and stated the note was folded double when it was found. The note is typewritten on a portion of a sheet of unlined bond paper and is dated November 1, 1963.
