

The Face Is Familiar

By PEARL GONZALEZ

I left the cab waiting piled with my luggage and ran up the marble staircase to the second floor. There was the ornate heavy door I was seeking. Marked clearly over it were the formidable words, "District Attorney." And under it, simply, Jim Garrison.

As I entered his office, the six-foot-six New Orleans Kennedy-assassination investigator stood up and said: "I'm sorry I couldn't see you sooner. But look at my desk. It's always piled up like this and I just can't get out from under."

However, there is a worn gilt-edged set of complete works of Shakespeare on his desk that you felt would never be a part of the cleared-up matter.

"What do you think about 'MacBird'?" I asked the bright, straight-forward, intellectual, controversial figure who is determined to prove the Warren Report is a lie — and in so doing, prove the truth of what happened Dec. 22, 1963 in Dallas.

"I think it is the bravest and most pointed piece of literature to come out on the matter to date, and some day, we might know just how really great it is."

"I've heard and read reports that certain wire services and broadcasting systems are deliberately turning out reports to make you appear ridiculous. Do you find this to be true?"

He laughed sardonically. "Not only that but our local paper, 'States Item' is definitely slanted against me, I run into all kinds of opposition. I intend to subpoena a naval intelligence man from Texas soon, and I expect that to be blocked."

"What can be done to debunk your debunkers?"
"Don't worry about the debunkers. Let's think only."
