Martin Luther King Investigation
F.B.I.
Memphis, Tenn.

Dear Inspector:

As a person with medical experience in psychiatric clinics, I am writing to suggest you examine the statements of the Mr. -~~Q~~- Q. Stevens who was interviewed on TV concerning the death of Martin Luther King. My impression was that this was a man who was very ill emotionally.

Specifically I would point to his description of the killer as having a receding hairline when he himself most prominently fitted this description. Also his statement describing the suit of the fleeing killer as "coal Black" possessed far too much emotion for him to be describing a suit, and seemed to indicate his own hatred of the Negroes.

I feel it is urgent to give you this humble opinion since Dr. King's killer is not identified yet, and since this man could well represent the classic pathological killer. I hope this suggestion will receive considered attention.

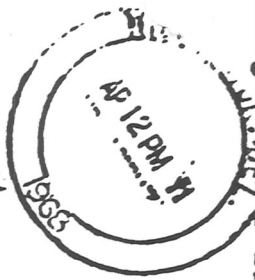

(On the other hand, if your leads are definite regarding another suspect, I regret any delay I may have caused.)

Very truly yours,
