Sirs:

I was talking to a person today and heard something that you may already know or have checked out. But in the plans that were made for the Dallas visit of John F. Kennedy they were planning to give Yellow Roses, but an hour before the roses were to be sent out for the welcome at Love Field somebody called and said the order had been changed and "Flower Fashions" had to quickly get the red roses from another florist as they did not have in stock the kind ordered for Mrs. Kennedy. Nobody knows who called, and I don't really know if there any truth to this report or not, but I thought it might be of interest to your office. My report is that nobody checked out this "change" in the order.

Sincerely,

Frank A. Muth
