Dear Mr. Nix:

Your camera which you so kindly made available to this Bureau in connection with its investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy has been made available to the President's Commission, which is also investigating the assassination. That Commission has indicated that it is most anxious to retain your camera until its study is completed.

The Commission has expressed sincere appreciation for the cooperation you have thus far extended and, if you have no objection, your camera will be retained until the President's Commission has finished with it, at which time this Bureau will return it to you.

In the event it is absolutely necessary that you have your camera returned prior to the completion of its use by the President's Commission, please advise this office.

Very truly yours,
