INFORMATION FOR INTERSTATE CLAIMANTS

This booklet contains information important to you as an Interstate claimant. It gives information on how to file a claim, how to get a hearing, and what to do if your claim is denied.

Workers bring it with them when they move from one state to another. Workers have the right to receive their previous wages or benefits in other states than the state of residence, or in Canada, where you are employed.

Louisiana citizens can file claims against other states. You can file claims against the "Home State," which may be the state you came from, or against the "Employer State," which may be the state where you are working.

The State Agency which you now belong to makes the "Employer State" claim. Your local office will be informed of this information and that information will be passed along to the State Agency which you now belong to.

When you determine your claim by filing a claim, you must file a claim with the State Agency which you now belong to. This information will be passed along to the State Agency which you now belong to.

If you have any questions concerning your claim, contact your local office. The representative will be glad to answer your questions.

WEEK OF WAITING

Most States require that you wait a week before you can file a claim. This means that if the State Agency which you are employed for the first week you will not claim benefits.

The State Agency will determine the day of the week you will be entitled to receive benefits. The information will show the date of the above mentioned day. Please write your name on your mail addressed to your local office after you receive a letter from the Claims Office. This will allow your office records to properly record your mailing of your claim, receipt of which is usually monthly. If you have any questions concerning the mailing of your claim, contact your local office.

All States require that a statement be made to the State Agency which you are employed for, about your work and availability for work, about your home and family, and about your permanent address. Some states ask for a written statement, while others ask for a short oral statement.

REGISTRATION FOR WORK

You must register for work with the State Agency which you are employed for. The State Agency which you are employed for will file a claim for you.

AVAILABILITY FOR WORK

All States require that a statement be made to the State Agency which you are employed for, about your work and availability for work, about your home and family, and about your permanent address. Some states ask for a written statement, while others ask for a short oral statement.

IRVING ON READING

These same offices before having been closed, had issued Circulars which would have been sent to the local Chambers of Commerce, and to the other areas of the country, and which would have informed them of the nature of the proposed legislation.
The following is a copy of one such Circular.
It is a circular addressed to the "Local Chambers of Commerce" and it is dated April 19, 1937.
It is signed by the "Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Finance".
The Circular reads as follows:
"Dear Sirs,
I am sending you a copy of the Circular Circular which has been issued to the Chambers of Commerce throughout the country, and which has informed them of the proposed legislation to be introduced in the House of Commons relating to the Banking and Finance
Bill.
Yours very truly,
