Second Person Aided Oswald, Long Asserts

Who killed President John F. Kennedy three years ago today? Lee Harvey Oswald and Oswald alone, insists the Warren Commission, appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson to investigate the slaying.

BUT A persistent suspicion the killing was not the work of one man has led to a recent spate of books and magazine articles disputing the commission's conclusion.

And yesterday in New Orleans, Louisiana Sen. Russell B. Long, assistant Senate majority leader, joined the list of those calling for a reopening of the investigation.

Long said he has always thought a second person was involved in the assassination. He was responding to reporters' questions after addressing the convention of the Savings Bank Association of New York at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Much criticism of the Warren Report has held that Oswald could not have fired the two shots which hit the President in the short length of time the report said he did.

LONG AGREED with this premise and said the second person would have been a much better marksman than Oswald, who was himself murdered two days later, sealing his lips forever and leaving behind what is becoming one of history's most intriguing mysteries.

Also calling for a new probe yesterday was Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., Kennedy biographer and former aide. He and Long joined Life Magazine, which in the current issue urges a renewed investigation.

The magazine quoted Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who was wounded in the assassination, as being in positive disagreement with commission findings about the shots. The commission holds that there were three shots, one of which hit both Kennedy and Gov. Connally. Life quoted Connally as saying:

"There is absolute knowledge that one bullet caused the President's first wound, and that an entirely separate shot struck me. It's a certainty. I'll never change my mind."

In the commission's view, one shot hit Kennedy and Connally, another inflicted the major damage on the President and one shot missed. The report didn't say in what order they were fired.

MANY CRITICS dispute that one shot hit both Kennedy and Connally. Some go further and question whether a second person fired at the Kennedy motorcade on that Dallas afternoon.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., a member of the Warren Commission said yesterday he agrees with Connally in rejecting the one-bullet theory, but takes no issue with the finding that Oswald, alone, did the killing.

Malcolm Kilduff, a former

White House press aide who rode in the motorcade, took a similar view on both the bullets and Oswald.

Proponents of the theory that someone in addition to Oswald fired shots contend the films and timing data show that Connally reacted too long after Kennedy to have been struck by the same bullet, but too soon thereafter for a second bullet to have been fired from the same rifle.

IN EUROPE, it is widely believed the Kennedy slaying was plotted by a conspiracy.

The Warren Report found no evidence that Oswald "was part of any conspiracy, domestic or foreign."

The bizarre circumstances of the assassination and subsequent events, may mean the answer is forever lost to history.
