The Warren Commission admits there were "witnesses" at the 5th floor windows of the Texas Book Building at the time of the shooting of the president.

Yet, in the first two weeks after the assassination not one of these witnesses was sure in his own mind that he had heard shots fired over his head!

Ray S. Truly, Texas Book Building superintendent, told me personally the shots had not come from his building in his opinion. At the time of the tragedy, Mr. Truly was standing on the sidewalk in front of his building.

The Warren Commission now indicates it will consider anyone who disagrees with its final judgment "an incurable romantic."

This is all right.

History has recorded other "incurable romantics"---Galileo, Voltaire, Pasteur, Sola.

and while, among those of us who believe in Lee Oswald's innocence, there may not be one to equal the illustrious names above, we believe as an impassioned people we can move mountains---or shame commissions.
