LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Fredericksburg, Texas, on January 25, 1967, furnished the following information.

He and his wife on January 20, 1967, were having dinner at the Heidelberg Restaurant in San Antonio, Texas, and struck up a conversation with a person identifying himself as Carl Hjlge (phonetic) who was sitting at the next table. Hjlge subsequently joined Mr. Dietel and his wife and during the conversation Hjlge on six or eight occasions asked the question, "Who paid for the bullet that killed President Kennedy?", indicating that President Lyndon B. Johnson had been responsible for the assassination.
Mr. Dietel specifically asked Hjlge if what he was trying to say was that President Johnson had been responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy, and Hjlge said yes.

<sup>Expt. 1044</sup> Hjlge said he was a text book salesman, but in response to several direct questions, refused to state the name of his employer. Hjlge indicated that two or three months ago he had been in Fredericksburg, Texas, attempting to sell text books to the Fredericksburg High School and said he stayed at the Shady Lane tourist courts on U.S. 290.
Hjlge indicated that he knew Mr. Dietel from this trip, although Mr. Dietel states Hjlge is completely unknown to him.

Hjlge indicated that at the time of the conversation, he was staying at either the Rio Lado or Tropicano Motel at San Antonio and was driving a 1967 Chevrolet, which had been repaired at the Newt Godfrey Chevrolet agency in San Antonio January 19 or 20, 1967.
