On August 16, 1967, GORDON NOVEL advised that on that date, he received information from unnamed sources in New Orleans that JAMES GARRISON had subpoenaed RANCIER EHLINGER and STEVE-PLOTKIN, NOVEL's attorney in New Orleans, and had questioned them regarding NOVEL. NOVEL advised that his attorney did not furnish any information to GABRISON, citing his attorney-client relationship as being priviledged. However, GARRISON questioned EHLINGER regarding whether NOVEL had ever worked with, or for, the Central Intelligence Agency and whether or not CLAY SHAW had ever been involved in Cuban gun running activities.

RANCIER EHLINGER is believed to be identical with RANCIER B. EHLINGER who is, according to the New Orleans "States Item" red flash edition for August 23, 1967, a former business associate of GORDON NOVEL.

NOVEL also advised that he had learned that the Terrebonne Parish Grand Jury had issued subpoenas to his former wife, and other persons, for appearance on August 23, 1967. NOVEL advised that it was his opinion that apparently the case involving the burglary of an arsenal in Houma, Louisiana, which GARRISON accuses him of attempting, will be presented before the Grand Jury. NOVEL noted that this date is exactly one day after the five year Statute of Limitations runs on this matter.

NOVEL also advised that GARRISON had sent word to him that he would grant him 24 hour immunity, if he would come to New Orleans and be questioned by GARRISON regarding the Assassination. NOVEL advised that he declined the offer.
