Stennis Asks How Reds Avoided Trial as Spies

By the Associated Press

Senator Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, demanded a full explanation today for the release without trial or punishment of two Soviet United Nations employees accused of illegal intelligence activities.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced last Saturday that this country had reported to the United Nations on the activities of Yuri A. Mishukov, 31, a translator in the United Nations Office of Conference Services, and Yuri A. Zaitsev, 38, a political affairs officer in the Political and Security Council Affairs Department.

Both men have left the United States.

Mr. Kennedy said the two had paid $3,000 as a campaign contribution to Richard H. Flink, a Howard Beach (N. Y.) attorney, for information on "internal operations of the United States Government agencies and personal information about influential members of Mr. Flink's political party." Mr. Flink, a Republican, is a candidate for the New York State Assembly.

Mr. Flink pretended to go along with the Russians' plan but worked closely with the FBI and turned the money over to that agency, which impounded it. Mr. Flink said he met every two or three weeks with one or the other of the Russians, giving them information which the FBI had provided to him for the purpose.

Senator Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee, told the Senate he is calling on United States Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, and the State and Justice Departments for "the full facts in this case."

"These two agents should be prosecuted and punished," Senator Stennis declared. "This is the only method of dealing with them and any others guilty of espionage activity."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—Two Russian United Nations employees charged by the United States Government with spying resigned and returned to the Soviet Union, the U. N. said, in a carefully worded announcement yesterday.

It said one left because of his mother's illness and the other to attend graduate school. There was no indication that the two had been fired.

The charges of espionage by Soviet citizens in the U. N. Secretariat were the first to come to light since U Thant of Burma became acting secretary general last November.

SOVIET RIDICULES U.S. SPY CHARGES

J.N. Aide Says Case Is Only Cloak for U-2 Incidents

By J. ANTHONY LUKAS

Special to The New York Times

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.,

Sept. 17 — A Soviet source said today that the accusations of spying by the United States against two Russian employees of the United Nations secretariat was an attempt to shift attention from the latest incidents involving U-2 reconnaissance planes.

"The Americans are always finding Russian spies," he said.

The source recalled that similar spy charges were brought in 1960 against a Russian employe of the secretariat. He said that those charges had been an attempt to provide an issue for the Presidential campaign of Richard M. Nixon.

A United States source promptly denied the Soviet allegation. He said that the Justice Department's statement about the Russians had followed a three-year investigation and that its timing had had no relation to the U-2 incidents.

Move in Assembly Hinted

The Soviet official's reference to the recent U-2 incidents may signal a new effort to exploit these incidents at the General Assembly session, which opens tomorrow.

The Soviet Union protested Sept. 4 against what it described as a "provocative flight" Aug. 31 by a U-2 reconnaissance plane over Sakhalin Island north of Japan. The United States replied that the plane might have strayed "unintentionally" but said the United States policy still prohibited reconnaissance flights over Soviet territory.

Last Monday, Communist China said it had shot down a U-2 over East China. The plane belonged to Nationalist China.

Meanwhile, the United Nations Secretariat issued its first statement on the United States report of "illegitimate intelligence activities" by the two Russians, Yuri V. Zaitsev and Yuri A. Mishukov.

The statement said the United States mission gave U Thant, Acting Secretary General, "information containing certain allegations" about the two men on July 26.

But it pointed out that Mr. Mishukov had already left the United States by that time. It said Mr. Zaitsev requested permission early in August to "return to Moscow because of the serious illness of his mother." It said he left New York on Aug. 7 and "has since submitted his resignation."

Secretariat officials were reluctant to elaborate on the statement, but they said the Russians had not been dismissed by the secretariat. Secretariat asked for the Russians' resignations.

The Justice Department, in its announcement last Saturday, said both men had been dismissed by the United Nations Secretariat on the basis of information gathered by the department and relayed through the United States Mission.

Observers were skeptical about the Secretariat's denial. It was believed that Mr. Zaitsev's departure only two weeks after the Secretariat had been informed of his activities could hardly have been coincidental.

F. B. I. Told of Approach

The Justice Department said Saturday that the Russians had sought information from Richard A. Flink of Howard Beach, Queens, a lawyer and a Republican candidate for the New York State Assembly.

It said Mr. Flink was first approached by the Russians three years ago. He immediately notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation and subsequently worked with federal agents in their investigation.

The department said the Russians had asked Mr. Flink to provide information on internal operations of federal agencies and on influential members of the Republican party. They were alleged to have contributed $3,000 to his campaign in return for his promise to advocate certain policies if he was elected.

Mr. Mishukov, who is 31 years old, was a translator in the United Nations Office of Conference Services. Mr. Zaitsev, 33, was a political affairs officer in the organization's Department of Political and Security Council Affairs.

The United Nations statement today said Mr. Mishukov joined the organization as a translator Nov. 11, 1957. It said he returned to the Soviet Union on July 5 and "his separation from the secretariat was completed" July 15.

The statement said Mr. Zaitsev had been with the United Nations since Aug. 9, 1961. After he requested permission to return to the Soviet Union early in August to visit his ill mother, his family also returned, the statement said.

Soviet-Wed American Alone, Broke

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 23 (UPI)—An American who defied Soviet officialdom to stay in Moscow until he married his Russian sweetheart arrived here today by plane alone and broke.

Larry Brayton, 36, of Fairbanks, Alaska, was heading home to set up a place for his bride, the former Rosita Schiffman. Brayton had refused to leave the Soviet Union when his visa expired. His tourist visa extension came through one hour before the wedding Dec. 17.

Customs officials at Amsterdam's Schipol Airport questioned Brayton for nearly an hour when he arrived and admitted he was penniless. Foreigners without means of support normally are not allowed to enter the country.

The officials finally permitted him to leave the airport to look for a job. Brayton, who holds seaman's papers, said he hoped to work his passage home aboard a ship.

CUPID VS. BUREAUCRACY

Yank Weds Russian

MOSCOW, Dec. 17 (UPI)—Cupid triumphed over communist bureaucracy today to enable an American to marry his Russian sweetheart.

Larry Brayton, 36, of Fairbanks, Alaska, was wed to Miss Rosita Schifman, 25, less than an hour after Soviet authorities granted him a last-minute visa extension.

Without it, the marriage was unlikely because of regulations requiring valid passport or document for foreign weddings.

Mr. Brayton, who came to Russia as a tourist, has been in the country illegally since Nov. 29. But he had announced he was determined to "sweat it out" until the ceremony.

He made three appeals to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to be allowed to stay. Whether Khrushchev actually intervened was not known.

Mr. Brayton said he received a phone call this morning and was told his visa had been extended.

"That's wonderful," he said, and went to pick up his bride. They were married beside a statue of Lenin in the same room where cosmonauts Valentina Tercshkova and Andrian Nikolayev were married Nov. 3.

Reference: Your Memo of April 10, same Subject.

We have determined that the newspaper in question is Komsonolskaya Pravda, not Pravda (these are two separate and distinct Soviet publications), but without the issue date or number a search for it here (through the Lenin Library) would be hopeless. It is suggested that the U.S. Library of Congress be consulted; they may have the issue on hand and in any case should be able to assist in finding it if they do not have it.
