studying the dossiers of GRU officers would select those that would be effected by the "clean-up." Subject said that he was quite concerned about hearing this and felt that there was a possibility that he could be involved in such a matter. He said that he intended to ask for home leave in August of this year, however, if he did not get it, he would then take his home leave in May of 1967. (S)

He said that because of the above situation, he would want some means of communication with us should an emergency arise and so he could be in touch with us in Moscow. He said he should have at the moment a cipher pad in order to continue the communication. I told him that I had a cipher system and a secret writing system for him and this could be used if there was such an emergency. Subject then went into the fact that he felt that somehow or other he might have been under suspicion at one time and related the following: (S)
