White Says Only 13 In All Disrespectful

By CARLOS CONDE

Only thirteen students in the whole Dallas school system were lacking in respect when they were told of President Kennedy's assassination, School Supt. W. T. White said Wednesday.

White said his report was a prelude to a two-page statement which he is preparing and will issue later this week explaining the attitude of Dallas school children concerning Kennedy's death.

The school community had been the target of criticism across the nation after a Dallas minister, the Rev. William A. Holmes, told a nationwide audience last week that the children had cheered and applauded the news of Kennedy's death.

"I feel this needs to be cleared up," Dr. White said. "I have had an opportunity to talk with all the principals and this is the first day that I feel fully informed and that I can speak with confidence."

Earlier in the day, White spoke to the Dallas City Council of Parent-Teacher Association meeting in the School Administration Building to "pay tribute to the parents and teachers for the proper attitude and high decorum they displayed in keeping with the tragedy."

He discussed at length the reaction of pupils and teachers when they heard the news and said that any reports contrary to expressions of remorse were "inaccurate and in fact, completely without foundation."

White reasserted that there were no loud flippant outbursts of joy by any of the students, even those showing disrespect or an improper attitude.

The Rev. Mr. Holmes charged the clapping scenes happened in North Dallas elementary school. He was supported in his claim by a Richardson School District schoolteacher who publicly stated that such emotions were shown in her school.

Dr. White refused to disclose the identity of the schools except to say that 12 of the children were in elementary school and one was a high school student.

"They were the only ones out of more than 142,000 students in our system who showed any taste out of line and who didn't appreciate the tragedy of the moment or understand its significance," he said.

"All of them were counseled by their teachers to give them the proper attitude and understanding," he said.

Dr. White said that all of them responded well to the counseling except the high school student.

Soon after the tragedy, White ordered all principals to prepare memorial programs for the slain President, to be held by Friday. He also asked each principal for a detailed report on the program.

Ring Returned to Jacqueline at Navy Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House source confirmed Wednesday that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy had got back the wedding ring she had slipped on the finger of her dead husband in Dallas after his assassination. The magazine reported that Mrs. Kennedy had wondered afterward whether it was right to leave the ring to be buried with her husband. The magazine said that later, at Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital, Kenneth O'Donnell, the late President's appointments secretary, slipped into the chamber where Kennedy lay and brought the ring back to Mrs. Kennedy. The White House source, confirming the report, said Mrs. Kennedy herself had read over the account before it was made public.

Praise of Oswald Brings Sentence

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A 29-year-old man accused of shouting "Viva Oswald" was sentenced to 30 days in jail Wednesday.

The sentence of James Hamilton Connelly was suspended after he pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge and said, "That was a terrible thing to do."

Police said Connelly admitted entering a high school auditorium during a play rehearsal last Wednesday and shouting, "Viva Cuba, Viva Oswald." Students said he also shouted, "Down with Kennedy."

"If I was not in America," Connelly said in court, "I know I would not be able to stand here. I pledge I won't be here again."

Dixie Rabble Rousers To Blame, Collins Says

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Former Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida said Tuesday the assassination of President Kennedy was fostered by "Dixie battle cries which incite sick souls to violence."

He said a climate of violence has been created by "the rabble-rousers' call to 'stand up and fight' for segregation and states' rights."

Referring to unnamed Southern politicians, Collins asked:

"How long are the majority of Southerners going to allow themselves to be caricatured before the nation by these Claghorns? How many Sunday school children have to be dynamited to death? How many Negro leaders have to be shot in the chest? How many Presidents have to be assassinated?"

Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters spoke to 500 persons at the annual meeting of the Greater Columbia Chamber of Commerce. He was introduced by Gov. Donald S. Russell.

The NBA executive said the assassination of President Kennedy and the other "evil happenings" he cited are "the products of environments where hatred has been preached and lawlessness extolled . . ."

Such actions are repugnant to most Southerners, Collins said, adding, "and it is time the decent people of the South . . . told the bloody-shirt wavers to climb down off the buckboards of bigotry."

"It is time we started speaking and acting more like loyal Americans and self-respecting Southerners. For too long we have permitted the South's own worst enemies to speak for the South—the very ones against whom we in the South had to struggle in our towns and state capitals for much of the progress we have made."

Walker Sniping Attack Reported Tied to Oswald

'Sources' Say Wife Told FBI

Lee Harvey Oswald is reported to have boasted to his wife that he was the sniper who took a shot at former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker last April 10.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington said Mrs. Marina Oswald, widow of the accused assassin of President Kennedy, had told investigators that on the night of the attack on Walker and told her he had tried to kill Walker.

Oswald's Russian-born wife reportedly told investigators Oswald was very excited as he told her of his escapade.

OFFICIALS MUM

Both the Justice Department and the FBI declined to comment on the report. The wire service quoted "government sources" in its story.

The Times Herald learned Friday that the Dallas Police Department's investigation report on the sniper attack on Walker is in the hands of the FBI—apparently as a part of the probe into President Kennedy's assassination.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, asked about the report, said, "I don't ed any light on it. I have not heard from any source that such statement was made."

He said the incident could have happened without his knowing it, since he did not talk to Oswald or his wife.

'NO COMMENT'

M. W. Stevenson, chief of detectives for Dallas police, was asked whether Mrs. Oswald had made such a statement.

"Not to my knowledge," he said.

Then he added, "No comment."

A reporter asked to see the Dallas police report on the investigation of the Walker incident and was told the FBI had picked it up "three or four days ago."

It was the first solid indication that the FBI, and Dallas police, were checking out the similarity between the sniper death of the President and the attack on the former Army general.

Mr. Walker, an outspoken conservative, was working on his income tax return at his Turtle Creek home the night of April 10 when a sniper rested a high-powered rifle on a fence and triggered a shot that barely missed him.

The bullet slammed through a window casement and narrowly missed Walker as he leaned forward to study papers before him. The slug drilled through the wall behind Walker's head and was found by police in the adjacent room.

At the time, police said the bullet apparently came from a .30-30 rifle. That slug, as part of the evidence in the Walker attack, was also presumably turned over to the FBI.

The former general was showered with splintered glass from the smashed window, but otherwise unharmed.

Contacted Friday, Mr. Walker said he had no information to offer on the attack. He said police did take the bullet found in the adjacent room.

Meanwhile, one local investigator disclosed that Lee Harvey Oswald may have sharpened his shooting eye in the deserted Trinity River bottoms several weeks before three high-powered rifle slugs slammed into the automobile carrying President John F. Kennedy and Gov. John Connally.

The investigator — referring to questions as to the details of Oswald's grim target practice to federal officials — said his office had heard the Secret Service had discovered the site of the target practice.

But the Secret Service and Federal Bureau of Investigation remained silent regarding evidence surrounding the assassination of the President.

The investigator said he understood the target practice took place near Grand Prairie.

It had been assumed that Oswald, the accused assassin, had practiced thoroughly with his 6.5 Italian carbine before the President was killed and the governor wounded.

No mention was made of finding unfired ammunition in Oswald's Oak Cliff room or his Irving home after his arrest.

Yet the mail order house which sold Oswald the rifle also sold boxes of 108 rounds of 6.5 ammunition for about $7. It also sold four-power telescopic sights that could be fitted to the rifle. However, in disclosing Oswald bought the rifle from the firm, investigators omitted reference to the scope and ammunition.

While closely guarding their facts, federal investigators have adopted a get-tough policy on persons who give them false information during their investigation into the President's death.

In New York, a man accused of giving the FBI a phony lead in the investigation was in Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric examination.

United Press International said the man, Stephen Harris Landesberg, 23, was committed to the hospital and held on a charge of making false statements to the FBI.

The FBI said Landesberg had told them of a "Stephen Yves L'Andres" who allegedly knew Oswald. A check, however, revealed that Landesberg and "L'Andres" were the same person, the FBI said.

Landesberg could receive a possible fine of $10,000 if convicted on the charge.

In Dallas, the American Civil Liberties Union — an organization in which Oswald claimed membership — charged that had Oswald lived his civil liberties would have been violated.

"It is our opinion that Lee Harvey Oswald, had he lived, would have been deprived of all opportunity to receive a fair trial by the conduct of police and prosecuting officials in Dallas, under pressure from the public and the news media," the ACLU statement said.

A Dallas Police Department spokesman said Oswald's rights were a matter of concern to police from the moment of his arrest.

"We were definitely aware of Oswald's civil liberties and we protected them," said Capt. Glen King, administrative assistant to Chief Jesse Curry. "The president of the Dallas County Bar Association, Louis Nichols, talked to him and his offer of help was turned down. He was advised of his rights not only by Capt. Will Fritz, who interrogated him, but also by a magistrate."

Bar Warns Attorneys On Conduct

Grievance Panel Says No Charge Levelled at Wade

By JERRY RICHMOND
Staff Writer

The lid of secrecy was sealed tighter on the murder case against Jack Ruby Friday after attorneys were pointedly reminded by a bar grievance committee against trying the case in the press.

Significantly, the committee said Dist. Atty. Henry Wade had been called only as a witness at a Thursday night hearing on the matter, and no charges had been leveled against his conduct.

Tom Howard, chief defense counsel for Ruby, and Jim Martin, another Ruby attorney, left the hearing and declined to comment to newsmen. Both men were grim.

Ruby is charged with murder in the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of the President.

Wayne O. Woodruff, chairman of a grievance committee of the State Bar of Texas, read a brief statement to newsmen after three hours behind closed doors with attorneys.

The statement read: "The committee states that Dist. Atty. Henry Wade was before the committee only as an invited witness in connection with certain press, television and radio witnesses and interviews concerning the pending trial of Jack Ruby.

"The committee has no charges against Mr. Wade, and in no manner criticizes any conduct or action on his part."

The grievance committee report said the 10-man panel had discussed with Mr. Howard and other attorneys the matter of publicity in the light of canon 17 of the state bar.

The bar's canon forbids a member to publicize pending litigation by newspaper interviews or otherwise. However, it says "if the extreme circumstances of a particular case justify a statement to the public, it should not be made anonymously, and should not go beyond 'from the records on file in the court.'"

Connally Security Guard Beefed Up

By MARGARET MAYER

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—Gov. John Connally rested Friday as an impressive array of state security officers guarded the official state residence one block from the Capitol.

Gates to the rear driveway entrance to the governor's mansion were closed and visitors were cleared by two uniformed highway patrolmen before gaining admittance.

Public Safety Director Homer Garrison would say only that "adequate security precautions will be taken." He would not specify what increase in security has been detailed to guard the governor. Extra precautions are, however, plain.

Gov. Connally will attend to a limited work load from the mansion. Mrs. Connally said she will be a guard on the amount of work he tries to do. The governor does not expect to resume work at the Capitol for the next month.

His release from Parkland Hospital in Dallas 13 days after an assassin's bullet pierced his chest, wrist and leg came as a surprise Thursday. A press conference on leaving the hospital, the flight from Dallas to Austin and a second press conference on arrival in Austin left him weak. He walked without assistance but went to bed immediately on arriving at the mansion.

Gov. Connally said he had "an amazing recovery" but is still "not a completely well person." His right arm will be in a cast for 90 days and he will not know for six months what use he will have of his right hand.

Decision Looms On Oswald Grave

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, mother of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, said she will announce today whether she will move her son's body from a Fort Worth cemetery.

Police urged that the body be moved to protect it from ghoulies who might break open the grave and take the corpse. Guards, costing $3,000 a month, now watch the burial spot.

Mrs. Oswald also indicated that she will bring to light "discrepancies" in the FBI's case against her son today during an afternoon news conference, which was announced Thursday.

Mrs. Oswald, in an interview Thursday, contended that her son had been made the "scapegoat" for police and FBI negligence.

Mrs. Oswald, 56, also indicated that she had received a "number" of offers for her book on her son's life. The unemployed woman confirmed that she would write the book. She said she originally had intended to do the book before her son had returned from Russia using his letters to her as a commentary on the Russian social system.

She said she dropped the idea when Oswald came home and indicated he wanted to do the book himself.

"I believe Lee did not get a fair deal," Mrs. Oswald said. "He never had a chance to disprove the charges against him."

At the same time, she reiterated her claim that the FBI could have kept Oswald from committing the crime.

"They knew he was a defector," she said. "They should have kept a watch on him."

Mrs. Oswald said she had hoped Oswald would have been buried in Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac from the nation's Capitol.

"He received an honorable discharge from the service," she said, "I intend to see to it that false publicity surrounding his discharge will be corrected."

(Oswald was released from active duty in September, 1959, on hardship grounds, shortly after his mother was hurt in a candy store accident. He received an undesirable discharge from the inactive reserve in November, 1960, a year after he "defected" to Russia.)

FBI Report on JFK Killing Stays Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI's completed report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy will not be made public for at least a week, and quite possibly not until still later, government sources said today.

Justice Department officials now have the report. It will be delivered to President Johnson, even though dozens of FBI agents still are pursuing the investigation, and then will be forwarded to the high-level investigating commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The President has promised that the FBI findings will be made public, but officials said orderly procedure requires that the Warren commission have opportunity to study the bulky report before it is released.

BELIEVED LONER

The FBI is understood to have concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, ex-Marine and Marxist, planned and executed alone the Nov. 22 slaying in Dallas.

Warren has assured that the bipartisan body will reach beyond the official findings if necessary to clear up any questions that the FBI and six cooperating agencies have not answered to the commission's satisfaction.

Warren announced Thursday after a 2½-hour commission meeting that Congress will be asked to arm the group with subpoena power. Congress is sure to respond quickly; legislation already is being drafted.

Machinery was in motion also to equip the commission with staff aides, offices and operating procedures.

The Warren group has full authority, under Johnson's executive order of last Friday which created it, to go beyond a mere evaluation of the FBI and other findings. The order empowers it to "conduct any further investigation it deems desirable."

Whether hearings will be held was not decided. Warren told reporters that none of the procedural questions had been settled finally.

Still to be resolved also was the question whether the White House will make public the FBI report before or after the commission studies and evaluates it.

Johnson promised that the findings would be made public in full, but did not say when, and White House press officers have been vague on the question.

MEETING PLACE

The commission's meeting place, until its own quarters are provided, is a main-floor conference room in the National Archives building, where the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution are open to public view.

Warren told newsmen after Thursday's meeting that the commission still was working somewhat in the dark in approaching what he called its "very sad and very solemn duty" because it had not received the FBI or any other government report.

"The information we have now," he said, "is little more than what we have learned through the news media."

4 SPONSORS

He said the four members of Congress on the commission would be sponsors of the legislation seeking subpoena powers. They are Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich.

The other members are John J. McCloy, former high commissioner of Germany, and Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency. These were joined in the closed-door session by Nicholas Katzenbach, deputy attorney general.

Panel Clears Wade Of Any Wrongdoing

A State Bar of Texas grievance committee issued a terse statement Thursday night after meeting with attorney Tom Howard, counsel for accused slayer Jack Ruby, and Dist. Atty Henry Wade.

While the committee completely cleared Wade of any wrongdoing, the committee said in a statement that it "discussed with Mr. Tom Howard and other attorneys" publicity given the Ruby case.

Ruby is under indictment for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Wade and Howard appeared before the committee after being accused of violating the code of ethics of the State Bar.

After the meeting, Wade and Howard declined to answer questions.

Emphasizing Wade's blameless position, Wayne O. Woodruff, head of the committee, remarked:

"The committee states that Dist. Atty. Henry Wade was before the committee only as an invited witness in connection with certain press, TV and radio releases and interviews concerning the pending trial of Jack Ruby.

"The committee has no charges against Mr. Wade and in no manner criticizes any conduct or action on his part."

Concerning Howard, Woodruff said:

"The committee has discussed with Tom Howard and other attorneys the matter of press . . . interviews concerning pending litigation in the light of Canon 1 of the Code of Ethics of the State Bar of Texas."

The law says a member of the bar should not publicize pending or anticipated litigation by newspaper interviews or by other media.

If a case warrants a public statement by a lawyer, that statement "should not go beyond quotation from the records and papers on file in the court," Woodruff quoted from the Canon.

The statement did not clear Howard of reported charges of violating the bar's code of ethics.

It was learned before the committee meeting was held that the committee was interested in Howard's alleged press conferences and whether the defense lawyer acted correctly when he said Wade injected racial prejudice into the case.

Woodruff would make no further comment on the committee session in Dallas Bar Association headquarters at Hotel Adolphus.

Warning Issued by FBI On Making Fake Reports

FBI agents here want Dallas residents to give them any information which might shed light on the assassination of President Kennedy or possible links between Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby.

But they do not want "cranks" and publicity seekers to come forward with information which they know is false.

They say these "fake reports" waste tax money and take the time of officers who should be checking legitimate leads.

The FBI says one false report sent agents on a "wild goose chase" which extended from New York to California.

Gordon Shanklin, agent-in-charge of the Dallas FBI office, said that report came from Stephen Harry Landesberg, a 23-year-old college student who was arrested in New York Thursday.

Shanklin said Landesberg walked into FBI headquarters in New York City the day after President Kennedy was assassinated here and identified himself as James W. Rizzuto.

"He told the agents that Lee Harvey Oswald, who had been charged with the assassination of President Kennedy, had a New York associate named Stephen Yves L'Andre.

"Had the information he gave been true, it would have been of extreme importance in the investigation," Shanklin said.

Shanklin did not give details, but the information apparently touched off speculation among investigators that the mysterious L'Andre was involved with Oswald in a plot to kill President Kennedy.

Shanklin said the FBI learned that Landesberg had used "James W. Rizzuto" as an alias. He said agents concluded after a fruitless search that L'Andre existed only in the imagination of the Columbia University philosophy student.

Although the FBI says Landesberg gave the false information to its New York office and was arrested there, the announcement of the arrest was made in Dallas.

It may well have been the FBI wanted to make certain that residents of the Dallas area know about a seldom-used federal law. It provides penalties of up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for anyone who makes a false report to the FBI.

Smiling Connally Returns to Capital

Governor Thanks Everyone for Aid

By DAWSON DUNCAN
Austin Bureau of The News

AUSTIN, Texas — Gov. John Connally came back to the Texas mansion Thursday, a cheery smile on his face, his right arm in a cast and gratefulness in his heart; he is alive.

It was ironical that 13 days ago he was hit in Dallas by a sniper's bullet fired from the same rifle that assassinated the late President Kennedy.

But Connally had only warmth of feeling for the "really out of the way" which "literally tens of thousands" went to be helpful during his stay at Dallas' Parkland Hospital during recovery from wounds that easily could have been mortal.

Connally stepped unaided from a private plane after a 45-minute flight from Dallas and conducted an impromptu interview at the airport.

He looked strong despite his ordeal, but appeared a bit pale. He conceded his doctors in Parkland—to whom he said he owed his life—had counseled him "not to overdo it."

His wife, Nellie, who had been with him constantly since his last ride with the late President, immediately rejoined, "and he has a good watchman."

Connally will stay at the mansion for the rest of this month. He does not expect to come to his nearby Capitol office very much at all. He noted he was still "not an entirely well person," although his 12-day recovery from the critical wound was termed by him "amazing."

"It feels wonderful just to be alive and back home," he said in his brief airport interview.

Word that he was returning to Austin Thursday came so shortly before his arrival in a private turbo-jet plane that the public did not have time to gather there just as had been planned.

Connally's scant hair before hand had announced in Dallas he had been released to come home.

He explained the doctors at Parkland — for whom he had warm and extensive praise — had agreed Wednesday night that if Thursday's chest X rays and a new cast of his right arm were favorable, he could come home.

Connally said the cast would remain on his right arm for another 30 days. And it will be six months, he said, before it can be determined if he will have full use of his arm and hand.

Doctors, he said, had started a course of treatment designed to yield the greatest utilization.

First off the plane was Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, who has maintained a constant security guard on Connally at the hospital and will continue to do so at the mansion here.

Then followed Connally and his wife, who kissed their children, John III, 17, Sharon, 14, and Mark, 11, who had been excused from school for the special occasion.

Soviet Insinuations Call for Query on Oswald

By VICTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON — It would have been impolite and impolitic in the last few days to ask Soviet authorities some pertinent questions about Lee Harvey Oswald.

The White House has been desperately and understandably eager to avoid an international incident by appearing to give even the slightest insinuation of an international plot to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

But now the Central Committee of the Communist party, USSR, has changed the rules. It has authorized its newspaper, Pravda, to insinuate that Oswald was a Central Intelligence agent under President Dwight Eisenhower and under Kennedy. Therefore, it is time to ask the Russians some questions which are being discussed in international circles.

The Russians have said officially they denied Oswald Soviet citizenship because he was a "Trotskyite."

This means he was declared an enemy of the state—a few days ago. But why was he permitted, back in 1959, to travel freely inside the Soviet Union? This is a coveted privilege. Official permission is needed by foreigners for bus and train travel. Yet he went some 420 miles from Moscow to Minsk.

WHY DID THE Soviet employment services direct him to a job? This must have happened. He spoke no Russian then. He read no Russian. He had insufficient funds for such travel. He must have been directed to Minsk. He must have been assigned a job. Employment is under rigid state control. In the Soviet Union, an applicant doesn't exactly get the Sunday papers and run through a list of want ads.

Who vouched for his identity card? Who got him his "rabochaya knizhka"—work permit? Such documents are absolutely necessary—especially for foreign workers. Without such papers, he could not have been hired. He could not have drawn his wages and social benefits. He could not have participated in cultural affairs.

And who approved Oswald's membership in a Russian union. Joining is mandatory, so that central discipline can be exerted. That's why the Central Council of Soviet Trade Unions can claim 26 million members.

If the Soviet authorities believed Oswald to be a "Trotskyite" and an American spy, why did they permit him to associate freely with his fellow factory workers? Such activity might have eluded the secret police for a few weeks but not for more than two years.

Why did the KGB (state security secret police) permit him to marry a Russian girl?

WHY WAS HE permitted to quit his job and then travel freely from Minsk to Moscow? Workers are not yet absolutely frozen to their jobs inside Russia. But few just pick themselves up and leave. Fewer, especially spies and enemies of the state, could blithely get travel accommodations for such a long haul. And this time, one must envision such a trip being taken by a former U.S. Marine and his Russian wife and child.

How did Mrs. Oswald get permission to abandon her job in a land starved for workers? Finally, how did the alleged assassin get his wife and child out of the Soviet Union? Mighty few have accomplished this. I checked this out with an official of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. He could not recall more than four or five such instances. In some of these cases, it took years to get an exit permit. Yet Oswald simply put in his request and got immediate approval.

WHAT COMPOUNDS the mystery even more is that Oswald had no skills. Once back in the United States, he lost every job he held. He was simply incompetent. What could he have done inside the Soviet Union for 2½ years that would be worth their paying for? Why don't they make his work record public?

True, President Johnson has been told that Oswald was a misfit, a loner, a desperate seeker of prominence and publicity.

True, the State Department has him down in its records as a "fuzzy Marxist."

True, the most authentic reports have it that there was no international plot.

But why were the Russians so blind, and why did they offer so many privileges to a "Trotskyite"?

Whitney Says Everyone Not Guilty in Slaying

TORONTO, Ont. (UPI) — John Hay Whitney, editor in chief and publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, Thursday disputed statements in the press, by politicians and from the pulpits "that all Americans are guilty" of the assassination of President Kennedy.

"Nonsense," said the former U.S. Ambassador to England.

"I don't believe that even the extremists of our left or right would condone murder," added Whitney in an address before the Empire Club of Canada.

Whitney said it was true that there is hate, violence and brutality in the United States.

"There always have been," he said. "We're still a young nation and young blood and hot heads go together."

But he said it was unfair to condemn the whole nation for the slaying of its leader.

"This, I would submit, is nonsense," he said. "It compounds a crime against the nation with a slander against its people . . . what's important to remember is that violence has not been and is not now a dominant strain in our character. Nor is the political myopia that's represented today by the John Birch Society or the Fair Play for Cuba Committee or any of the other ragged tassels on either lunatic fringe."

He said the soul-searching that has gone on since Kennedy's slaying ". . . brought home to us how bitter has been much of our political discourse, how trivial have been many . . . of the sources of bitterness."

Mrs. Kennedy Cited

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Pearl Harbor Survivors Association awarded Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of the late President John F. Kennedy, the "American Patriots" award Thursday.

The association president, Mark Ferris of Playa del Rey, Calif., said the award was given to Mrs. Kennedy "because we feel the way she took her recent personal tragedy exemplifies the American spirit and courage."

WARREN GROUP Panel Asks Subpoena Authority

By JOHN MASHEK

Washington Bureau of The News

WASHINGTON — A presidential commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday for subpoena power to assist in the probe. Early approval by Congress is anticipated.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, head of the commission appointed by President Johnson, announced the commission would ask for subpoena power after a closed 3-hour meeting of the panel. It was the first meeting of the group since its appointment last week.

Subpoena power will give the commission authority to summon witnesses for testimony under oath. The President already has given the commission broad authority and the subpoena power would extend that authority.

The commission, it was learned, is expected to control the public disclosure of the findings of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the commission itself. President Johnson could make the report public but it was understood he will let the commission handle the procedure.

The presidential board, under security guard, met with Deputy Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach and apparently went over the findings of the FBI to date.

After the meeting, the FBI handed Katzenbach its formal report on Kennedy's assassination in Dallas Nov. 22 and the subsequent slaying of his accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, it was learned.

Katzenbach, in behalf of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, was expected to forward the report to the President soon, and the Warren commission may receive it before the weekend. Sources say the FBI has concluded that Oswald was a loner in the assassination and Jack Ruby acted on his own in the slaying of Oswald.

Fund Proposal To Aid Oswald's Widow Opposed

UKIAH, Calif. (AP) — A proposal by the Ukiah Ministerial Association to collect donations for Marina Oswald, widow of the accused presidential assassin, stirred strong opposition Thursday in this city of 10,000.

The Rev. Frank McCray, First Baptist Church pastor, said his church would not participate.

Pastors said the intention was to express Christian mercy to the widow and her children. They were not certain Thursday they would go ahead with the plan.

Radio Station KUKI reported a majority of listeners telephoning the station opposed the clergy group's action.

LEAVES HOSPITALConnally's Hand May Be Impaired

Gov. John Connally, his arm in a sling, said Thursday it will be six months before it can be determined if he will have full use of his right hand and wrist.

Connally, wounded in the chest, arm, and leg 13 days ago when President Kennedy was assassinated, left Parkland Hospital Thursday morning for Austin.

With his wife Nellie at his side — where she has been throughout the ordeal — Connally held a brief 10-minute press conference before leaving Parkland and boarding a private plane for the governor's mansion.

The news conference was more an effort by the governor to thank hospital employees in front of reporters.

As doctors, nurses and aides crowded the cafeteria, Connally, his voice appearing weak, said, "I literally owe my life to you here. I want to express my profound gratitude for the care and kindness of the past 13 days."

Mrs. Connally also expressed her thanks not only to the hospital staff but to others who had sent messages to the governor.

Connally said his chest wound was on the mend although the bullet perforated the chest, taking out part of the fifth rib.

His arm apparently is more seriously injured than previous reports had indicated.

He said the arm would be in a cast 90 days and that it appears to be a "long, suffering thing." He then broke the news that it will be six months before he will know whether "I will have full use of my right hand and wrist."

In other areas, Connally said the state court of inquiry called by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr "could shed a great deal of light" on some details of President Kennedy's assassination.

Connally said he doesn't know if he will have to call a special session. Then a question turned his attention to "extreme groups."

He quickly pointed out that these groups "are not restricted to our state — most of them haven't originated here."

Connally called for men of moderation — "long silent" — to speak out. He suggested by inference that these men also should be afforded the "political atmosphere" to speak out.

Fair Trial Doubted If Oswald Had Lived

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee Harvey Oswald could not have received a fair trial and his conviction likely would have been overturned because of the prejudicial publicity, the American Civil Liberties Union asserted Thursday.

Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy who was then slain himself, "was tried and convicted many times over in the newspapers, on the radio, and over television by the public statements of the Dallas law enforcement officials," the statement said.

"Where in Dallas, or anywhere else in the state or nation for that matter," the union asked, "could there be found 12 citizens who had not formed a firm and fixed opinion that he was guilty?"

The organization also related Oswald's death directly to the police capitulation to the glare of publicity . . . (which) exposed Oswald to the very danger that took his life."

Executive director John de J. Pemberton Jr. issued a statement concerning the civil rights of Oswald. The statement explained its purpose:

"It would betray John F. Kennedy's own devotion to the traditions of freedom that are the root of American life, if his death were permitted to obscure the gross departures from constitutional standards which . . . marked the events subsequent to his assassination."

The test of a civilization is its treatment of accused persons, the Civil Liberties Union said.

"It is our opinion that Lee Harvey Oswald, had he lived, would have been deprived of all opportunity to receive a fair trial by the conduct of the police and prosecuting officials in Dallas, under pressure from the public and the news media," the statement continued.

Citing a recent Supreme Court decision as precedent, the group said:

"It is an ironic note that, if Oswald had lived to stand trial and were convicted, the courts would very likely have reversed the conviction because of the prejudicial pre-trial publicity. Thus, the spectacular publicity in which the officials took part would likely have defeated them in the end."

The organization said the case illustrated a "vexing problem" of conflicting rights: the rights of an accused person vs. freedom of the press and the public's right to know.

The union said the Oswald case should be an object lesson to police, prosecutors and news media all over the country.

"The disaster of Oswald's murder seems to have had its effect on the handling of the Jack Ruby case," the organization said. Ruby, accused of slaying Oswald, has been kept from news media and Dallas officials have issued a minimum number of statements concerning him.

Although noting it normally would not endorse such a posthumous procedure, the group announced its support of President Johnson's appointment of a commission to probe the events of the assassination.

REPUBLICANS, DEMOCRATS

Eulogies, Tears Flow for Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Long-time friend or former political foe, House members joined Thursday in expression of love and respect for the late President John F. Kennedy.

One lawmaker openly wept, apologizing that "Jack" would not have approved of his public display of emotion.

It appeared for a moment that Rep. Torbert MacDonald, D-Mass., might not get through with his part in the formal House eulogies.

His voice broke as he told of his long and intimate association with Kennedy, dating back to college days when they were roommates at Harvard.

Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Texas., who was with Kennedy in Dallas at the time of the shooting, put a comforting arm around MacDonald and patted his shoulder.

Republicans joined Democrats in praise of the late president.

Rep. Joe L. Evins, D-Tenn., said Kennedy died a victim of hate which may mark the era in history books. Rep. Paul Jones, D-Mo., said his prayer now is that the President's death will cleanse the nation of a growing viciousness and disrespect for authority. Rep. Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., said Kennedy "truly articulated the dream of America" and called for prompt passage of the late President's civil rights bill to help dispel national rancor.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., led the eulogies for the assassinated president, who began his political career in the House in 1947.

"In every crisis that John F. Kennedy spoke or acted, he was the president-extraordinary," McCormack intoned.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert said Kennedy's death had "moved us to an emotion we cannot express." He added: "In a few short years he was able to write one of the most remarkable records in history."

Members of both parties, freshmen and veterans, joined in the eulogies. The Senate will conduct its eulogies Dec. 13.

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck said of Kennedy: "I found him to be a young man of much personal charm, whose ascendancy to the highest office in our land did not, so far as I ever knew, affect his genius for being most thoughtful of others be they of high or low stature."

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Texas, who also was in the presidential party at the time of the Dallas assassination, told the House: "Everywhere he went, the throng crowded about. The people sensed that this was, in solemn truth, more profound than the mere utterance of words, their president."

Some Cheered, Paper Reports

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A newspaper survey of Jackson junior and senior high schools revealed Thursday that a few students cheered at the news of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The Jackson Clarion-Ledger reported, however, that its survey indicated the cheering incidents were "isolated and impetuous."

The newspaper interviewed teachers and other officials at all three white high schools and all six junior highs.

PUBLIC OPINION POLL

52% Believe 'Group' Tied to JFK Slaying

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J. — The need for such a commission as President Johnson has now set up to investigate the assassination of John F. Kennedy is revealed by widespread fears that Lee Harvey Oswald did not act on his own.

A Gallup Poll just completed shows a majority of the American public holding the view that some group or element—or other individual—was also involved in the assassination. Another 19 per cent express uncertainty.

President Johnson recently named a 7-man commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, to try to bring to light all the facts surrounding the death of Kennedy.

In interviews that began on the Tuesday following Kennedy's death—and the subsequent killing of the accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, the Gallup Poll asked this question of adults across the nation:

"Do you think that the man who shot Kennedy acted on his own, or was some group or element also responsible?"

The results:

- Assassin acted on his own.....29%
- Some group or element also responsible52
- Uncertain19

The survey results show that very few people at present single out any specific group.

Only about one person in a hundred thinks Russia, Cuba or "the Communists" may have been involved in the assassination. Almost no one mentions the "extreme right" or segregationists as responsible.

...those who think the plot may be deeper than has yet come to light, views vary all the way from the belief that the assassination was part of a major conspiracy to persons who think the assassin was hired by another person to carry out his ends.

Berlin Leader Pays Tribute to Kennedy

A black bear emblem, the symbol of West Berlin, joined American flags, thousands of flowers and scribbled bits of scripture Thursday on the trampled, brown grass overlooking the west end of Elm Street.

Otto Bach, president of the West Berlin Parliament, chose an area on the north side of Elm near the assassination scene to place a wreath of red carnations and white chrysanthemums in remembrance of John F. Kennedy.

On one ribbon was the bear. On the other was inscribed "Der President des Abgeordnetenhaus."

"It just means 'from the president of the Berlin Parliament,'" Bach said. Then he added, "And all the residents of the city."

There was no ceremony. Bach walked to a bare spot followed by photographers and onlookers. He placed the wreath on its stand, took directions from photographers and adjusted the ribbons. Gen. P. H. Bethune of Dallas assisted Bach.

He bowed his head and stood silently for a minute.

There were no formal words.

Bach stood on a corner near the Texas School Book Depository for about 30 minutes after placing the wreath about 2:30 p.m.

He watched as a light blue, luxury convertible recreated the fatal trip for more federal agents.

He moved out of the way as a measuring tape was pulled across the curb to the spot where the first bullet is believed to have struck.

He saw the agent in the window, aiming a camera where a gun was aimed before.

"I was with him in Berlin," Bach said.

As he walked away from the wreath he politely thanked reporters and photographers. Then, walking east along Elm, he again joined Dallas and the world in a single phrase:

"It's unbelievable," he said quietly.

Authorities Hunt For Target Range

By JAMES EWELL

Authorities were reported investigating a Trinity River bottom area near Irving Thursday where accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald could have practiced his marksmanship.

Investigators are known to have collected empty shell casings from the location, but sources noted that other similar spots obviously used for target practice also had been searched without positive results.

The search for Oswald's improvised target range has centered in the area of Irving, northwest of Dallas, since Oswald's Russian-born wife and two children made their home with an Irving woman.

The target range is a much-sought link investigators hope to add to the chain of evidence that puts Oswald behind the rifle used in the attack on President Kennedy.

Dallas police officials and the FBI refused comment Thursday on the report that they were investigating the river bottom target range.

But it was learned that numerous casings were found at the scene, along with targets about the size of a man's head. One investigator told of finding evidence the rifleman used a small hill to practice firing on a downward trajectory.

The discovery reportedly has been made since Monday.

A police source also said Thursday that Secret Service agents have contacted witnesses who could place Oswald at a rifle range in Grand Prairie between Nov. 10 and 16.

Oswald was reported to have impressed others at the range by putting every shot but one into bull's eye about 8 inches in diameter.

In still other developments Thursday:

—The police department's probe into the slipup that allowed strip-tease club owner Jack Ruby to penetrate security and shoot Oswald in the City Hall basement is expected to show that a "human error" and not collusion between Ruby and any member of the guard detail led to the fatal blunder.

The special team of fact-finders, headed by Police Inspector Herbert Sawyer, is expected to submit findings on how the breach in security occurred to Police Chief Jesse Curry next week.

—Sources hint the investigation is expected to agree in part with Ruby's version of how he entered the basement to fire the single fatal shot into Oswald.

Ruby, as relayed to reporters by attorney Tom Howard, said he entered the Main Street entrance to the basement by walking past two officers engaged in a conversation.

But the police version is expected to show that Ruby hurried down the ramp when a lone police guard stepped from the entrance to halt traffic while a police car pulled out of the basement.

False Data Misled FBI, Agent Claims

By CARL FREUND

FBI agents here said Thursday that a New York college student provided false information which resulted in "a tremendous waste of money and effort" during their investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Gordon Shanklin, agent in charge of the Dallas FBI office, announced the arrest in New York of Stephen Harris Landesberg. Police there identified him as a 23-year-old philosophy student at Columbia University.

Charged with deliberately making a false report to the FBI, Landesberg could receive up to 1 year in a federal prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted.

In other developments:

—Chief Justice Earl Warren, who heads a fact-finding commission appointed by President Johnson, announced it will ask Congress to give it the power to subpoena witnesses during its investigation of the assassination of Kennedy.

—Gov. John Connally, who was wounded by the gunfire which killed Kennedy, left Parkland Hospital here and returned to Austin.

—FBI AGENTS, described as members of "technical teams," swarmed over the Texas School Book Depository Building at Elm and Houston while surveyors made detailed measurements. This is the building from which officers say Lee Harvey Oswald opened fire on the Kennedy motorcade.

—State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert said that Jack Ruby, the striptease club owner who shot Oswald, owes the state about $1,700 in taxes. The Dallas News reported Wednesday that the federal government has filed tax claims which totaled more than $20,000 against him here.

—Dist. Atty. Henry Wade challenged a claim by an American Civil Liberties Union group in New York that Oswald's legal rights were violated. Wade said two ACLU representatives were given a chance to talk to Oswald shortly after his arrest and the president of the Dallas Bar Association offered to help the 24-year-old Marxist arrange for legal counsel.

After the fact-finding commission held its first meeting, Warren told reporters its seven members felt they should have the power to subpoena witnesses.

WARREN DID not say specifically, however, that the group had decided to hear witnesses.

State Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said during a Dallas press conference this week he "understood" the commission would evaluate evidence given it by the FBI but would not hear testimony.

Warren said also that the commission has not received a report which the FBI is preparing.

Agents were apparently getting detailed information for that report—or a supplementary report—in Dallas Thursday.

Investigators re-enacted the assassination again. A camera, mounted on a piece of wood which resembled a rifle barrel, looked down from a sixth-floor window of the school book depository building.

As a convertible moved slowly over Elm Street toward the Triple Underpass, the camera remained sighted on it.

Investigators also measured the City Hall basement where Ruby shot Oswald as officers were transferring him to the county jail.

THE KENNEDY assassination and the slaying of Oswald before network television cameras brought notoriety to Dallas. But Mayor Bayard Rustin of arch-rival Fort Worth, predicted Dallas would not suffer lasting effects.

Rustin, who was in Pittsburgh to study a convention center there, told Pennsylvania businessmen, "Presidents have been assassinated in Washington, New York and other places, and no stigma has become permanently attached to them.

"We're shocked and grieved about this, but we in the South don't feel we're more to blame than anybody in the North," Rustin continued. "We're all to blame."

pital here and returned to Austin.

—FBI AGENTS, described as members of "technical teams," swarmed over the Texas School Book Depository Building at Elm and Houston while surveyors made detailed measurements. This is the building from which officers say Lee Harvey Oswald opened fire on the Kennedy motorcade.

—State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert said that Jack Ruby, the striptease club owner who shot Oswald, owes the state about $1,700 in taxes. The Dallas News reported Wednesday that the federal government has filed tax claims which totaled more than $20,000 against him here.

—Dist. Atty. Henry Wade challenged a claim by an American Civil Liberties Union group in New York that Oswald's legal rights were violated. Wade said two ACLU representatives were given a chance to talk to Oswald shortly after his arrest and the president of the Dallas Bar Association offered to help the 24-year-old Marxist arrange for legal counsel.

After the fact-finding commission held its first meeting, Warren told reporters its seven members felt they should have the power to subpoena witnesses.

WARREN DID not say specifically, however, that the group had decided to hear witnesses.

State Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said during a Dallas press conference this week he "understood" the commission would evaluate evidence given it by the FBI but would not hear testimony.

Warren said also that the commission has not received a report which the FBI is preparing.

Agents were apparently getting detailed information for that report—or a supplementary report—in Dallas Thursday.

Investigators re-enacted the assassination again. A camera, mounted on a piece of wood which resembled a rifle barrel, looked down from a sixth-floor window of the school book depository building.

over Elm Street toward the Triple Underpass, the camera remained sighted on it.

Surveyors used a transit and tape to determine the distance and trajectory of bullets fired from the window.

Investigators also measured the City Hall basement where Ruby shot Oswald as officers were transferring him to the county jail.

THE KENNEDY assassination and the slaying of Oswald before network television cameras brought notoriety to Dallas. But Mayor Bayard Friedman of arch-rival Fort Worth, predicted Dallas would not suffer lasting effects.

Friedman, who was in Pittsburgh to study a convention center there, told Pennsylvania businessmen, "Presidents have been assassinated in Washington, New York and other places, and no stigma has become permanently attached to them.

"We're shocked and grieved about this, but we in the South don't feel we're more to blame than anybody in the North," Friedman continued. "We're all to blame."

Warning Issued by FBI On Making Fake Reports

FBI agents here want Dallas residents to give them any information which might shed light on the assassination of President Kennedy or possible links between Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby.

But they do not want "cranks" and publicity seekers to come forward with information which they know is false.

They say these "fake reports" waste tax money and take the time of officers who should be checking legitimate leads.

The FBI says one false report sent agents on a "wild goose chase" which extended from New York to California.

Gordon Shanklin, agent-in-charge of the Dallas FBI office, said that report came from Stephen Harris Landesberg, a 23-year-old college student who was arrested in New York Thursday.

Shanklin said Landesberg walked into FBI headquarters in New York City the day after President Kennedy was assassinated here and identified himself as James W. Rizzuto.

"He told the agents that Lee Harvey Oswald, who had been charged with the assassination of President Kennedy, had a New York associate named Stephen Yves L'Andres.

"Had the information he give been true, it would have been of extreme importance to the investigation," Shanklin said.

Shanklin did not give details, but the information apparently touched off speculation among investigators that the mysterious L'Andres was involved with Oswald in a plot to kill President Kennedy.

Shanklin said the FBI learned that Landesberg had used "James W. Rizzuto" as an alias. He said agents concluded after a fruitless search that L'Andres existed only in the imagination of the Columbia University philosophy student.

Although the FBI says Landesberg gave the false information to its New York office and was arrested there, the announcement of the arrest was made in Dallas.

It may well have been the FBI wanted to make certain that residents of the Dallas area know about a seldom-used federal law. It provides penalties of up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for anyone who makes a false report to the FBI.

'PANICKED'

Oswald Defended By Mother

By EDDIE S. HUGHES
West Texas Bureau of The News

FORT WORTH, Texas — Mrs. Marguerite Oswald Friday tearfully tried to defend her son, Lee, of charges stemming from the Nov. 22 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

She defended him to the point of theorizing her son was innocently involved in the assassination because of panic.

"He probably heard the shots because he was working in the Texas School Book Depository," she told a news conference here and panicked because he was a known defector."

"He might have run from the building because he was afraid he might be the first one suspected of having anything to do with it," the greying 56-year-old mother declared.

He returned to his Oak Cliff apartment and got his pistol, she figured, because "it was the logical thing to do to protect himself."

This is the way Mrs. Oswald said she has construed in her mind Lee Harvey Oswald's part in the assassination.

"I'm not saying this is a true story, boys. It's a logical story," she said.

She entered the news conference at the Fort Worth Press Club with a smile, and even joked about rumors that she was a "strip-tease actor" in Dallas.

But as the conference closed, she had long streaks of tears rolling down her white cheeks.

"I have to face the fact he is the accused assassin, even though I think he is innocent," she said, referring to her claim that the FBI was to blame for not having her son under surveillance.

"I mean by this that, had the FBI placed all characters — and I'm referring to my son as a character — under surveillance then President Kennedy would have been alive today, and so would my son."

Board Fires Teacher After Kennedy Death

MIDDLETON, Wis. (UPI) — Hughes added that she has a School officials have fired an eighth grade gym teacher on the grounds of "intemperate behavior" and "dispassion" in handling a class of girls when the assassination of the late President Kennedy was announced over the loud speaker, it was learned Friday.

Mrs. Charles Ranous, who instructed a physical education course for girls at a Parkside Heights school, denied the allegations for the dismissal.

Joint District 12's board of education notified Mrs. Ranous by letter that she had been dismissed. Edward Kromrey, district superintendent, was quoted as saying her action was "generally disrespectful and defamatory," but that he would not repeat the charges against her.

Kromrey said he learned Mrs. Ranous was "manhandling the girls rather viciously" and that one girl was crying and "was grabbed and shaken and sent from the room with instructions to wash her face."

Kromrey said protesting parents who had heard what happened visited him and that he called the incident to the attention of the school board.

Robert Hughes, school board superintendent, said the dismissal, which he called unprecedented in the 15 years he has been on the school board, was final as far as the board was concerned.

"The school board acted after the facts were presented, and her dismissal came about because of the tragic seriousness of the situation," Hughes said. He said the board did not meet with Mrs. Ranous and did not feel that it should.

Woman Says Mrs. Oswald Wants to Become Citizen

West Texas Bureau of The News who is daily picking up the contributions.

FORT WORTH, Texas — Mrs. Marina Oswald, Russian-born widow of accused assassin of President Kennedy, was quoted Friday as declaring she "wants to be an American and continue to live here."

The widow's statement was quoted by Mrs. Shirley B. Williamson, 25-year-old Fort Worth housewife and part-time private investigator, who launched a fund-raising drive for the widow and her two small children.

Mrs. Williamson, who has not ever seen the woman she is helping, said she received her information through the Secret Service.

So far, the contributions have come to $7,700, she said.

She quoted an agent as saying: "She (Marina Oswald) just broke down and cried when the money began to come in. She said, in broken English, that she didn't believe the people in America, the people anywhere, could be this nice."

Federal agents have described Marina as "very nice, highly-intelligent woman who is real enthusiastic to learn the ways of America. She wants to be an American and continue to live here."

Connally Gets Back To Executive Duties

By DAWSON DUNCAN
Austin Bureau of the News

AUSTIN, Texas — Gov. John Connally, one day out of a Dallas hospital Friday began easing back into executive office routine, but from his private quarters in the Mansion.

Connally flew back from Dallas Thursday after 13 days of recuperation from wounds of a bullet fired from the rifle of the assassin who slew President Kennedy.

An aid reported the Governor slept as comfortably as he could with his right arm still in a cast from the elbow to below the wrist.

The bullet which ripped through his back and chest tore into his right arm, causing multiple fractures. The cast, the second to be placed on his arm, will remain there another 60 days and it will be six months before it is determined the extent his wrist and hand will be usable in the future.

Connally slept in his regular bed and during the day walked around the upper floor of the Mansion reserved for private living quarters of the Governor and his family.

He met with his office staff, and conducted normal business.

It will be some time in the future, however, before he starts leaving the routine of appointments which usually clog a Governor's busy calendar.

Connally took interest in reading his mail and newspapers.

George Christian, his press secretary, said Connally was feeling fairly well after the tiring trip back from Dallas, climaxed by an impromptu airport press conference.

His first day at the Mansion was described as a quiet but full one.

Gates of the chain link fence surrounding the rear portion of the Mansion grounds were kept locked. Patrolmen of the Department of Public Safety were on duty to provide security.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the DPS, did not specify how many patrolmen and security agents were detailed to the Mansion.

He said, tersely, that security there would be "adequate and will continue to be."

No visitors were being admitted to the Mansion.

Customary guided tours through the downstairs, public section of the Mansion during a 2-hour morning period were suspended immediately after the shooting of Kennedy and Connally but resumed for a few days when the White House was reopened.

But they were temporarily suspended when Connally returned to the Mansion Thursday.

Name List Compiled By Oswald

Lee Harvey Oswald scribbled "about a hundred" names, addresses and phone numbers in a small notebook which officers found in his Oak Cliff room, The Dallas News learned Friday.

An investigator said Oswald jotted down data which involved people and places "on both sides of the Iron Curtain." He said numerous entries pertained to Cuban embassies and persons and places in Germany and Russia.

Officers found the notebook when they went to Oswald's room after the 24-year-old Marxist was arrested as the chief suspect in the assassination of President Kennedy and the murder of Officer J. D. Tippit.

Discussing the notebook, an investigator said:

"Most of the entries apparently referred to friends or people able to help him. But others would seem to refer to people he regarded as enemies. We found the name 'Walker' and a phone number. It is the number of Edwin A. Walker."

The entry bolstered the theory that Oswald was the sniper who fired a shot at the controversial former general as he prepared an income tax return in his home here April 10.

Walker told officers he had received threatening calls before the bullet whizzed past his head.

Federal agents are seeking men mentioned in the notebook.

MEMORIAL RITES

Dallas Schools Salute Kennedy

The school children of Dallas Friday officially paid tribute to the late President Kennedy.

Most schools paused from their schedules to read eulogies, sing patriotic songs and participate in flag-raising ceremonies.

At the Urban Park Elementary School, 6901 Military Parkway, about 750 children stood outside to watch a Marine color guard from the inspection and instructor staff at the Bachman Reserve Center, participate in impressive flag-raising ceremonies.

The flag was lowered to half mast. Some eyes grew misty again as a bugle sounded taps and students recited the Pledge of Allegiance.

Then the Marines paid a final salute with 21 blasts from two cannon.

The program was based on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's letter and prayer to his son: "Build me a son whose heart will be clear, whose goal will be high—a son who will master himself before he seeks to master other men."

At the John Ireland Elementary School, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades wrote themes "What Can I Do for My Country."

One sixth grader, Ray Bruyere, described the Berlin Wall as "a huge match ready to burst into flame, causing a terrible war. To me, President Kennedy poured water on the match to keep it from exploding into war."

At the Dallas Vocational School, and later at the Public Evening School, Principal Troy Bond led a program based on the question "Why?"

School Supt. W. T. White had instructed every school in the district to hold memorial services by Friday.

Teachers and principals reported that many children had already individually or collectively paid tribute to President Kennedy. Some wrote letters to Mrs. Kennedy and the children.

Store Reports Many Orders Received for Italian Rifle

CHICAGO (UPI)—Klein's sporting goods store, from which Lee Oswald purchased the Italian Carcano rifle reported to have killed President Kennedy, said Friday it has received "many" orders for identical rifles.

A spokesman, who refused to be identified, said the gun has become a "collector's item" but that Klein's no longer stocks the item and has refunded all orders.

"Every sporting goods store has had a demand for the rifle," the spokesman said.

"People call it ghoulish, and it is, but that doesn't prevent them from wanting it," he said. "If you look back in history, anything connected with a historical event becomes a collector's item. It's ghoulish now but it won't be in a few years, and of course by then it won't be available."

He said Klein's has not had any of the rifles available "for a long time," and "wouldn't buy any if we could get them."

Sale of the rifle was discontinued "long before the assassination," he said. "He (Oswald) bought it in March, you know."

Inquiry Delayed By Carr

Fears Interruption Of Federal Probe Into Slaying of JFK

By JOHN MASHEK

Washington Bureau of The News

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr of Texas announced Friday the indefinite postponement of a state court of inquiry into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the killing of his alleged assassin.

Carr made the announcement after a meeting with Chief Justice Earl Warren, who is directing a 5-man presidential commission investigating the assassination.

While Carr left the door open to the possible convening of a court at some later date, it is doubtful a state court will follow the probe of the commission.

Carr read from a letter signed by the chief justice which said that a court of inquiry at this time "might be more harmful than helpful." The letter suggested the postponing of the state probe.

Carr said Warren had asked him and special counsel Leon Saworski of Houston to assist the commission in its work. Carr said he accepted the invitation to "attend the commission's hearings and assist with the commission's important tasks."

Carr said he had not talked with President Johnson about calling off the Texas probe. When he announced the Texas court 10 days ago here, he had talked with the White House staff about it. He did not identify the individuals.

Carr said there never had been any intent of competing with the federal officials in the investigation of the assassination. He said there had been cooperation since the tragedy.

Carr said he was convinced the investigative authority of the federal government was being used "to the fullest extent" in the case. He said all the files of Dallas police and state authorities were in the hands of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for its report to Johnson and the commission.

"It is our considered judgment," Carr said, "that the Texas court of inquiry, if held at this time or in the immediate future, might bring about an interruption in the continuity of the nationwide investigation."

An FBI report, meanwhile, is expected to go to Johnson over the weekend.

It will be turned over to the commission, which will determine when to make it public. The commission has asked — and will receive — subpoena power from Congress to summon witnesses and take testimony under oath.

Marxist Linked To Walker Shot

The Federal Bureau of Investigation had been told where Lee Harvey Oswald, suspected assassin of President Kennedy, was working about a month prior to the slaying, an Irving woman who befriended the family said Friday night.

Mrs. Ruth Paine, a Russian-speaking friend of Oswald's wife, Marina, told The Dallas News she told agents sometime between Oct. 16 and Nov. 9, that Oswald was working at the Texas School Book Depository.

Earlier Friday, officers investigating the assassination said an entry in a small notebook and a statement by Oswald's widow convinced them the 24-year-old Communist worker fired the rifle shot which narrowly missed Edwin A. Walker.

The sniper, who hid in a dark alley, shot at the controversial general April 22, 1964.

on an income tax return in his home at 4011 Turtle Creek.

Mrs. Paine said the FBI asked if she or Mrs. Oswald knew where Oswald was living or working on the agents' two visits to the Pine home.

"Their primary purpose was to extend Marina a courtesy—as they do all persons who lived behind the Iron Curtain," Mrs. Paine said. She explained that the agents made two trips to tell her that if blackmail or pressure was exerted from the Soviet Union, she should tell the FBI.

Mrs. Paine said she knew the agents were informed between Oct. 16 and Nov. 9, because Oswald went to work for the depository on Oct. 16, and that she had re-arranged her furniture Nov. 9.

"The furniture was the way it was before I rearranged it," Mrs. Paine recalled.

~~The agents had made a first~~ trip between Oct. 4—when Oswald first arrived in Dallas, and Oct.
16, with the same purpose, to inform Marina of the courtesy, she said.

"When they asked where he was working on the second trip, I told them, but I never knew where he was living," Mrs. Paine said.

Mrs. Oswald, 23, was living with Mrs. Paine at the time of the assassination of President Kennedy.

The FBI earlier had denied interviewing Oswald or having him under surveillance during recent months.

At the Walker residence, the bullet struck a window sash and whizzed past the former Army officer's head. A metal fragment pierced the skin of his right arm.

Oswald scribbled the notebook entry which focused suspicion on him in the Walker shooting.

Officers found the notebook in Oswald's room after he was arrested as the No. 1 suspect in the assassination of President Kennedy. They found the name
"Walker" and the former general's phone number in the book.

Investigators recalled Walker had reported getting threatening calls before the bullet was fired at him.

Federal agents concentrated on Oswald's Russian-born wife, who was held in protective custody.

Now she has told them her husband came home the night of April 10 and boasted he had shot at the onetime general who quit the Army to devote himself to right-wing causes.

Officers speculated at the time that a .30-06 rifle fired the bullet which almost hit Walker.

The official report states, however, that crime lab technicians were unable to determine the caliber of the weapon because of the condition of the slug.

The shots which killed President
Kennedy came from a 6.5-mm
~~Italian-made Carcano rifle.~~

Local Teacher Suspended In Letter Probe

Opinions on JFK Slaying Printed In Time Magazine

By JOE SHERMAN
Staff Writer

A fourth grade teacher at the Robert L. Thornton School has been suspended for two days pending an investigation of a letter she wrote to a magazine about the assassination of President Kennedy, School Supt. W. T. White said Saturday.

Dr. White exhibited a photo copy of the letter written by Mrs. Eleanor Cowan, which appeared in the letters-to-the-editor column of Time magazine last week.

The letter said that Dallas "paved the way for the tragic event here" (the assassination of President Kennedy).

Mrs. Cowan declined comment on the action.

Dr. White said that Mrs. Cowan was called into his office for a conference Thursday afternoon. Also present for the conference was Dr. Ewell Walker, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel.

TOLD TO REPORT

At the conference, Mrs. Cowan was instructed not to report for class either Friday or Monday, but instead to report to Dr. White again Monday afternoon.

"I thought it best for her not to report to school until further consideration could be given to her case," he said.

After being briefed by Dr. White about the suspension, Dallas School Board President R. B. Gilmore said that the teacher had not acted "as just a plain citizen" in writing the letter.

"She identified herself as teacher in Dallas and that—some people who read her letter—would make her a spokesman for the teaching profession of our city," Mr. Gilmore commented.

"For several years I have seen the seed of hate being planted by our newspapers and many of the leaders of Dallas," Mrs. Cowan wrote in her letter to the magazine. "No matter what the President has been for, these people have been against."

"As a teacher in Dallas, I have tried to instill in my students a respect for the leaders of our country. How can they ever grow up to be good citizens when the newspapers, their parents and the leaders of their own city preach dissension. I cannot understand these people."

"Don't let anyone fool you. Dallas is as responsible as anyone, if not through action, through apathy," the letter stated.

Mrs. Cowan has taught in the Dallas school system for five years.

In commenting on the teacher's suspension, Mr. Gilmore said:

"If this letter had been written in ordinary times, probably nothing would have been done, but in the light of the recent hassle (an apparent reference to a controversial statement by the Rev. William A. Holmes) it just adds a little more grist for the mill."

New Oswald Case Development

A new development in the investigation of the slain suspected assassin of the late President, Lee Harvey Oswald, attempts to link him with the firing of a shot last April 10 at retired right-wing Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker. FBI agents recently picked up a Dallas Police Department report on the assault on Walker. The former general was cut by flying glass splinters when a rifle bullet was fired at him through a window of his home on Turtle Creek Boulevard. An FBI report on Oswald is being delivered to the Justice Department and to the White House.

The assassination of the President was the worst national jolt since the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, on a Sunday which the late Franklin D. Roosevelt called "a day of infamy."

Saturday was the 22d anniversary of the attack. The United States flag flies at halfmast over the submerged Battleship Arizona tomb for 1,102 American sailors killed on that awful Sunday. The Arizona remains a commissioned ship, because her crew is still aboard. Veterans, relatives and friends gathered at Pearl Harbor and made their annual pilgrimages, by Navy launch, to the memorial site. There were prayers for the dead sailors of the Arizona, and there were prayers for the PT boat hero of that same Pacific war, Lt. John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Gov. John Connally, his arm in a cast but obviously happy to be going home, left Parkland Hospital and flew to Austin. The governor, shot at the time the President was killed, said it might be six months before he knows whether he will gain full use of his injured arm.

Pope Paul VI announced plans for a Jan. 4-8 Holy Land pilgrimage. For the first time in history, a Pope will be traveling by airplane. The Pope will celebrate at least two Masses in the Holy Land, one on Jan. 6, the Roman Catholic feast of the Epiphany, commemorating the carrying of gifts by the wise men to the infant Jesus in Bethlehem.

There will be a historic meeting with Patriarch Maximos IV Saigh of Antioch of the Melchites of the Orthodox Church. There hasn't been a meeting between a Pope and an Orthodox patriarch since the Catholic Church split between east and west in 1054, with the papacy in Rome and the patriarchate of Constantinople denouncing each other. One of the problems that may be discussed will be in connection with the care of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem and the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem. Catholic and Orthodox priests share in caring for the churches. They sometimes have arguments, however, when Holy days fall on the same dates. This doesn't happen often because the churches recognize different calendars. The Orthodox church puts Christmas on Jan. 8, because it employs the Julian, not the Gregorian calendar.

Mrs. Oswald, Mrs. Tippit Remembered

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Council of Churches adopted resolutions of Christian concern Saturday for both Mrs. Lee H. Oswald, widow of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin, and Mrs. J. D. Tippit, widow of the slain Dallas policeman.

One resolution adopted by the council's general assembly expressed appreciation "to those who ministered to Mrs. Oswald's immediate personal and spiritual needs, thus not leaving the church without a measure of Christian witness."

The other resolution paid tribute to Tippit for heroism and assured his family that "Christians are keeping them in their thoughts and prayers and asking the comfort of God."

Oswald also was accused of killing Tippit when the policeman sought to question him about the assassination.

The general assembly closed its week-long triennial session Saturday.

Earlier this week, the assembly expressed its condolences to Kennedy's widow and her children and held a memorial service for the late president.

The council is the cooperative federation of 31 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations with a total of 40 million members in the United States.

Weissman Says Conservatives Paid for Ad Rapping JFK

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)— A man who played a major role in placing an ad critical of President Kennedy in a Dallas newspaper which appeared hours before Kennedy was assassinated there said Saturday night the cost was paid through donations from "people of conservative persuasion."

Bernard Weissman, whose name appeared on the $1,464 full-page ad, said the money was collected by a small group he headed known as the American Fact-Finding Committee.

The ad appeared in the Dallas Morning News and asked President Kennedy such questions as "Why have you ordered or permitted your brother Bobby, the attorney general, to go soft on Communists...?"

Weissman said in a telephone interview from the home of his father here that he was in Dallas at the time the president was assassinated, but was attending a sales meeting and failed to see the presidential motorcade.

PHONED FBI

He said he telephoned the FBI the same day and volunteered to appear for questioning "because of the attention that had been focused on my group due to its announced aims along conservative lines."

"They knew more about me than I knew about myself," he said of the FBI. "I left a few days later because I couldn't earn a living with the threats and pressures being brought to bear against me there by local liberal groups."

He said he never knew Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of the President, or Jack Ruby, the strip club operator who killed Oswald two days after the President's death.

"As far as Oswald is concerned, I think he was a despicable Communist nut," Weissman said. "One of exactly the type people the conservative movement is fighting."

RETORT TO LIBERALS

He said he felt it was regrettable that the ad had appeared in light of what befell the president, but justified its being placed as a retort to "the attacks made by local liberal groups there against conservatives."

Weissman said he adopted a conservative political philosophy while serving as a military policeman in the Army in Germany.

"A bunch of us got together and found out that we thought alike," he recalled. "We all thought the United States was acting like a weak sister and we decided to do something about it when we got out of the army."

Weissman, who said he was separated from his wife, expects to begin work Monday with a new firm which he declined to identify.

Asked if he had written a letter to the Kennedy family, or if his group had contemplated submitting an apologetic ad in the newspaper after the president's death, Weissman said, "No, I never did consider that."

"I was truly shocked at the president's death," he said. "It was a terrible thing."

"But I was even more shocked by the fact that many people kept blaming the conservatives even when it had been established that a Communist was the assassin," he added.

Oswald described himself as a Marxist.

WHERE OSWALD PRACTICED?

Floyd Davis, owner of the Sportsdrome Gun Range near Grand Prairie, points to the No. 8 target that is believed to have been used by Lee Harvey Oswald for firing practice as recently as five days before President Kennedy was assassinated. Mr. Davis said the FBI had taken pounds of empty shells from the range in efforts to confirm that the weapon used in the assassination had been fired at the range.— AP Photo.

Threatened LBJ, Cuban Arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — A Cuban national who police said had done target practice with a .22 caliber rifle was held today in $25,000 bail after being accused by the Secret Service of boasting he would assassinate President Johnson.

The Cuban, Omar Padilla, 19, of the Bronx was arrested 20 hours before Johnson arrived here yesterday to attend the funeral of former New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Police said Padilla admitted telling coworkers at a Manhattan engraving plant that assassinated President John F. Kennedy had been "asking for it" because of the lack of security.

"I'm going to shoot Johnson," police quoted him as telling fellow employees.

Saturday morning, police found a makeshift target range in an eighth floor stockroom at the building where Padilla works. There were 19 holes in the target. The building is not anywhere near the route that Johnson took yesterday in his motorcade from Idlewild Airport and back.

Police arrested Padilla later Saturday at his home. A .22 caliber rifle was found in the bedroom. Padilla said he bought it and 50 shells from a Manhattan firm last Wednesday.

He admitted slipping into the stockroom in his spare time and firing shots at the target, police said.

Criminal Dist. Court Judge Louis Cioffi set the high bail for Padilla on charges of violating the anti-weapons law and firing a firearm in a public place.

Padilla, who came here from Cuba in 1955, apparently has no connection with any subversive group, detectives said.

Within an hour of President Johnson's arrival at the airport, six men believed to be hunters were arrested while carrying shotguns in the airport vicinity. Two were given summonses for carrying weapons in a bird sanctuary and the others were held in $500 bail each on trespass charges.

RUSSIAN VISIT

Oswald's Letters To Mother Printed

NEW YORK (AP) — Letters there 2½ years, wrote 18 letters from Lee Harvey Oswald to his mother, sent from the Soviet Union after he defected four years ago, portray him as disaffected and eager to return to the United States.

The newspaper quoted his mother, Marguerite Oswald, as saying that her son wrote in one letter: "Don't worry, mother, I will never become a Soviet citizen."

That was one of the letters the Times said was kept by the FBI. In the other, she told the Times, he mentioned that he had written to John B. Connally, then secretary of the Navy, to protest that his Marine discharge had been changed from "honorable" to "undesirable" because of his defection.

She said, "There was no bitterness in the letter."

Connally, now governor of Texas, was wounded during the assassination of Kennedy. Oswald was killed by Jack Ruby, a night club owner, in the Dallas city jail.

Mother Still Says Oswald Not Guilty

By JOE SHERMAN
Staff Writer

FORT WORTH — Lee Harvey Oswald's mother still believes her son to be innocent of President Kennedy's assassination and she claims there were a number of "extenuating circumstances" about his defection to Russia.

Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, 56, a Fort Worth practical nurse, calmly talked to a score of newsmen for an hour and a half Friday afternoon at the Fort Worth Press Club, at times exhibiting cheerful smiles and at other times tears.

She theorized at length about what might have happened on the day President Kennedy was assassinated to explain her son's actions.

"He was a character . . . a defector," she admitted at one point in the press conference.

Then she proceeded to "reconstruct" what might have happened on Nov. 22. This is the way she did it:

"When he heard the shots that day he may have gotten panicky. . . because he was a known defector and realized he was in a spot. So he goes to his room to get his gun . . . It was a logical thing to do to protect himself."

"I'm not saying this is a true story, boys," she added. "It's a logical one, though."

EVADES QUESTIONS

She shrugged off newsmen's questions about the shooting of Dallas patrolman J. D. Tippit by saying that she hadn't time to read newspaper accounts of the policeman's murder or to listen to accounts of it on radio or television.

Her time, she said, had been occupied in helping her Russian-born daughter-in-law take care of two children (whom she said had been ill) and in answering questions from newsmen.

"I didn't fail him as a mother," she said in response to one newsman's question. "Human society failed him by not helping a mother with three children. I had to work to support them and I was only making $25 or $30 a week."

Mrs. Oswald listed the following as "extenuating circumstances" in her son's defection to Russia in 1958:

- He told her that if he stayed in this country, he probably would have to take a job that paid him only $35 or so a week.
- He applied for admission to the Albert Schweitzer College in Switzerland.

● He was confined to a home for boys in Brooklyn, N.Y., for "four or five weeks" as a 12-year-old for being truant three times from school.

BODY TO STAY

Her son's body, which was buried in a hastily dug grave at Fort Worth's Rose Hill Cemetery, will remain where it is, she said, "even if it takes all the policemen in the state of Texas."

In discussing her son's experiences as a youngster, Mrs. Oswald gave this account:

"I'm a practical nurse and I do a lot of living-in on my jobs. I'm not the type of mother children come home to. I never have been. I don't have a home with an extra room in it that they can come and stay in when they visit me.

"Women with children are foolish to work when they don't have to. It's important that a mother be home when her children get there."
