

Data Suggest Reds Felt Oswald Crank

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Lee Harvey Oswald was living in the Soviet Union, the Russians judged him to be more of a crackpot than a communist.

U. S. officials have drawn this conclusion from Soviet consular files on the accused assassin of President Kennedy. The files were handed to Secretary of State Dean Rusk last Saturday by Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in a gesture by the Russians apparently intended to show that they had nothing to do with Oswald.

Sources said the files added nothing of major significance to the Oswald case. They were said to consist primarily of official documents relating to Oswald's movements within the Soviet Union and his marriage to a Russian girl.

The documents indicated that the Russians did not consider Oswald a serious Communist or a supporter of the Soviet Union, despite his avowed Marxist beliefs.

Oswald lived in Russia for 33 months after going there in 1959. He returned in June, 1962, with his wife and baby.

The files are expected to be among the materials turned over to a special 7-man commission named by President Johnson to investigate the Kennedy assassination and report to the American people. The commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, will hold its first meeting Thursday to discuss its procedures.

The group includes Warren, Sens. Richard Russell, D-Ga., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; Hale Boggs, D-La.; and Gerald Ford, R-Mich.; Allen Dulles, former head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and John McCloy.

The group will also see a report on the slaying of the President and the subsequent killing of Oswald which is being prepared by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Sources have said the report concludes that Oswald acted alone and was not part of a conspiracy.

White House sources said Wednesday that no final decision has been made on whether to make the FBI report public. It will be submitted first to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, who will then forward it to Johnson, possibly later this week.

Consideration was being given to whether it should be made public or held secret and submitted to the Warren commission.

In another development Wednesday, Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., acted to secure a congressional grant of subpoena powers for the commission. Keating prepared a bill which would give these powers and legal "compulsory process" to the commission.

The Senator said his proposal is modeled on the law which gave similar powers to the special commission appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to investigate the Pearl Harbor attack. It is essential, Keating said, that the present commission "be authorized to compel the production of live testimony and documentary evidence."

The Senate Judiciary Committee meanwhile deferred action Wednesday on proposals to make assassination of a President a federal crime pending recommendations from the Warren commission.
